Defending state champion Bemidji will apparently be in a position to seriously challenge for a second straight state baseball tournament championship this spring.

The Lumberjacks graduated but five seniors of last year's power-laden squad, and although two of last years seniors were bonafide super stars in Earl Sarent and Charlie Myers, Bemidji returns two of the state's finest ball players in batterymates Andy Kannenberg and John Buckanaga this season.

Kannenberg struck out an unbelievable 21 batters in Friday's first game Bemidji win over Thief River Falls as the Lumberjack lefthander accounted for every put-out in the seven inning game.

"That's the first time in 34 years of coaching I've ever seen anything like that," commented veteran Prowler coach Ralph Skay on Kannenberg's unheard-of strike-out total. The 21 whiffs lifted Kannenberg's strike-out total to 56 in three games.

Despite Kannenberg's strike-out figure, Skay came away from the Bemidji double-header more impressed by Buckanaga, the Lumberjack catcher.

"I thought Buckanaga was good last year," noted Skay, "but he's even better this year. Without doubt he's one of the finest high school catchers I've seen in a real long time. I think he's definately a professional prospect, along with Kanneberg."

"Buckanaga is something else," continued Skay. "He dominates the whole show when he's out there catching. He controls the pitcher and tells everyone where and how to play for each hitter. He deserves just as much credit for Kannenberg's performance as Kannenberg does. They're both outstanding ball players."

Buckanaga has been watched closely by Minnesota Twins and Atlanta Braves baseball scouts while Kannenberg has reportedly received an athletic scholarship offer from Princeton of the Ivy League.

"We didn't really play that badly against them," stated Skay. "I don't know if we're good enough to beat them, but we can play ball with them if we can get it together."

A state baseball tournament game just might match Richfield against Bemidji this spring—the two teams who met in the class AA state basketball tournament championship game

Northland community college baseball coach Chet Engelman feels his squad has a real shot at winning the MJCAA Northern Division title for a state tournament berth this spring.

The Northmen, with a 5-3 season record, will face Brainerd in a key division counting double-header tomorrow (Tuesday) on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond beginning at 2 p.m.

Crookston Tech currently leads the division standings with a 6-2 record, followed by Brainerd at 4-2, Northland and Vermilion 5-3, Fergus Falls 2-4 and Hibbing 0-8.

Northland's remaining division games includes double-headers against Brainerd, Fergus Falls and Crookston, along with a non-conference twin-bill against Itasca.

Former Lincoln high school performers Pete Sullivan and Mike Drury are the Northland statistical leaders heading into Tuesday's games. Sullivan has fashioned a 3-0 pitching record, along with one save, in five appearances for a 0.86 earned run average. Drury is the team's leading batter with seven hits in 18 at bats for a hefty .556 average. Brian Espeseth (Winger) is closed behind Drury with a .550 average along with a team high eight RBI's.

Bemidji Sweeps Double-header From TRF 7-1 & 12-1

Powered by all-state performers Andy Kannenberg and John Buckanaga, defending state champion Bemidji pounded Thief River Falls 7-1 and 12-1 Friday to sweep a region eight baseball double-header on the Bemidji diamond.

The two losses lowered coach Ralph Skay's Prowler season record to 1-4 while the powerful Lumberjacks climbed to 5-0 for th year. Thief River Falls will be back in action Friday when the Prowlers host Breckenridge in a 4 p.m. double-header on the fairgrounds diamond.

The lefthanded throwing Kannenberg turned in an unbelievable 21 strike-out performance in Friday's first game to spark the Lumberjacks to a 7-1 triumph.

Although he gave up five base hits, including a third inning homerun by Prowler shortstop Cliff Shumway, Kannenberg was a tower of strength on the mound as his Bemidji teammates watched the hard-throwing southpaw record all 21 put-outs in the seven inning game.

While Kannenberg was striking out Prowlers, Bemidji's offense rattled off 11 base hits aginst Thief River Falls righthander Randy Dallmann. Bemidji owned a 2-0 first inning lead and moved in front 4-1 in the bottom of the third after Shumway's blast had narrowed the gap to 2-1. Bemidji plated three final runs in the sixth to fatten the Lumberjack victory margin.

"I thought we played a fairly good ball game," commented Skay after the first game. "I thought Dallmann pitched well, and with a few breaks it could have very easily been a 3-1 ball game instead of 7-1."

Four costly errors hampered the Prowler efforts while the smooth Lumberjacks played errorless ball behind Kannenberg.

Buckanaga was also a game standout as he completely dominated the game's activity from behind the plate, controlling Kannenberg and the rest of the Lumberjack defense.

Bemidji belted four straight first inning base hits off Thief River Falls righthander Jeff Tunberg in the chilly second game before a Lumberjack batter had been retired. Then after two outs, Bob Olson slammed a homerun to spark a five run first inning as the Lumberjacks coasted to an 11-1 triumph.

Thief River Falls actually owned a 1-0 lead when Shumway opened the game by drawing a walk off Don Degerman, who tossed a one-hitter to win the game. Shumway stole second and scored on a Bemidji error.

Tunberg retired the side in order the second time around, but Bemidji collected three more base hits and three runs in the third for an 8-1 lead, prompting Skay to lift Tunberg in favor of Joel Folger.

Bemidji scored four more times in the fourth to win the game on the five inning ten run rule.

"Again I didn't think we played that badly," noted Skay after the second game. "They just bombed us at the plate early and we couldn't recover. A couple of errors cost us again, too."

WATERFOWL WATCHERS will find this to be a good time of year for observing their favorite birds. Most of the birds are paired for nesting and in establishing territories are more reluctant to fly far than at other times of the year. The tranquil scene above was captured by the Times camera at Agassiz national wildlife refuge, a good choice in location for waterfowl watching. The brilliantly colored mallard drake keeps a wary eye on the photographer as he paddles easily away from the shore into open water. Ducks and geese are fully feathered in adult plumage in the spring—providing photographers their best opportunity for species identification and color photography. Agassiz refuge has establihed roads and trails which are heavily used by wildlife enthusiasts and public use is encouraged.

Northmen Win Own NCC Golf Invitational

Host Northland won its own community college invitational golf tournament Wednesday on the Thief River Falls golf course, marking the fourth Northland victory in four meet starts this spring.

Coach Al Adams' Northland squad fashioned a four man low score of 317 to finish a hefty 41 strokes ahead of runner-up Fergus Falls with a 358 total. Itasca of Grand Rapids was third at 374 and Crookston Tech finished fourth with a 407.

Northland sophomore Mark Metusalem carded an eye catching 71 with rounds of 35-36 despite gusty winds and a wet course to take home first place medalist honors. "Mark did an outstanding job considering that it was very windy and part of the couse was wet," pointed out Adams.

Lee Sorensen, another Northland sophomore, placed second behind Metusalem in the final individual meet standings with a 77, recording rounds of 37-40.

Itasca's Skip Hanson finished behind the top two Northland golfers with a 79 as he marked rounds of 41-38.

Northland freshman Dick Penning completed the tournament with an 83, notching rounds of 40-43.

Three other Northland golfers finished the day's activity tied at 86. Jay Moum and Jim Strandemo each shot a pair of 43's while Dave Kjos came in with a 41-45.

Kirk Whalley, a freshman, rounded out the Northland squad with an 88 on rounds of 42-46.

TRF And Roseau Golfers Tie In Thursday Dual

Thief River Falls and Roseau, two teams who are expected to challenge defending champion Bemidji for the 1974 region eight golf title, played to a 165-165 dual meet tie Thursday on the Thief River golf course.

Mike Onkka of the Prowlers turned in the day's low score with a nine hole total of 38. Other Prowler scores included Mike Jury with a 41, Dick Skay 42, Mike Kosel and Steve Onkka 44's and Bruce Restad 45.

Roseau was led by Mark Harris with a 39, followed by Murray Odegaard at 41, Steve Hedlund 42, Don Hedlund 43, Scott Harris 46 and Mike Burgraff 48.

LHS Golf Team 3rd At Fargo

Lincoln high school golf team turned in its best performance of the 1974 spring season Friday as the Prowlers finished third, just seven strokes behind first place and a single stroke out of second, in a 20 team invitational meet at Fargo's Edgewood golf course.

Fargo North won the event with a 399 team total, followed by Roseau with a 405 and Thief River Falls with a 406. Fargo South and Gand Forks Red River tied for fourth at 407, followed closely by Fergus Falls 408 and Bemidji 409.

A space developed between the seventh and eighth place finishers as Moorhead placed eighth with a 421, followed by Grafton 424, Detroit Lakes and Wahpeton 427, Jamestown 428, Grand Forks Central and Mahnomen 429, Fargo Shanley 432, Hawley 445, Crookson 447, Breckenridge 455, Valley City 459 and Lisbon 476.

Joel Theim sparked Fargo North to the team title by carding a 75 to take home the meet's first place medalist honors.

The Prowler golfers will return to action tomorrow (Tuesday) in an invitational meet at Fosston beginning at 9 a.m.

Prowlers Run In Moorhead Meet

Weathered out of its own Quentin Jones Jaycee invitational meet Saturday, coach Marv Walter's Lincoln high school track team competed in an invitational meet at Moorhead.

Host Moorhead won the meet with 65½ points, followed by Crookston with 52, Fargo South 38½, Glenwood 31, St. Cloud Apollo 26½, Fergus Falls 23, Thief River Falls 8 and Grand Forks Red River 6.

Senior weightman Tony Dorn was the only Prowler bright spot of the meet as he captured a first place ribbon in the discus competition with a new meet and new Lincoln high school record toss of 165-2. Dorn's toss was his second straight record shattering effort. A week ago he bettered a ten year old Lincoln discus record of 147-0 with a 153-2 toss at the Sioux outdoor meet in Grand Forks.

The only other Prowler point producing finishes at Moorhead included a pair of fifth places by Prowler hurdler Jerry Sandahl. Sandahl covered the 120 highs in 17.4 and the 180 lows in 22.5.

Northmen Win 3 Of 4 Iron Range Road Trip Contests

Northland community college baseball team pushed itself into the MJCAA Northern Division pennant race over the weekend by winning three of four games on an Iron Range road trip to Ely and Hibbing.

The Northmen split a Friday double-header against highly regarded Vermilion at Ely by winning the first game 4-1, but losing the second contest 12-0. Northland bounced back to take both ends of a double-header at Hibbing Saturday as the Northmen won the first game 14-12 and then claimed the nightcap 7-4.

Northland's weekend success, coupled with a Wednesday double-header split with defending division champion Fergus Falls, provides the Northmen with a 5-3 season record heading into a key division counting double-header against Brainerd tomorrow (Tuesday) on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond beginning at 2 p.m.

Northland. 4
Vermilion. 1

Freshman lefthander Pete Sullivan handcuffed the hard hitting Vermilion squad in Friday's first game to pave the way for a 4-1 Northland win.

Sullivan maintained complete control of the Vermilion batters as he threw only 68 pitches in the seven inning game; a remarkable average of just 9.7 pitches per inning.

Vermilion managed only two hits off Sullivan's off-speed pitches, with the only Ironman run scoring in the fifth inning on an error, a double and a wild pitch.

Meanwhile, Northland stalked Sullivan to an early lead by scoring three first inning runs. Rob Almquist singled to start the game, Jon Jensen was hit by a pitch and Charles Pribula walked to load the bases. Brian Espeseth doubled in two runs and back to back walks to Bruce Johnson and Burnie Stephens forced in another run.

Northland added a fifth inning run when Jensen and Espeseth singled, with Jensen scoring on a wild pitch.

Almquist, Jensen and Espeseth, all collected two hits in three trips to the plate for the Northmen.

Vermilion unloaded off Northland reighthander Mike Drury for eight runs in the first inning of Friday's second game and coasted to a 12-0 win.

Northland picked up just three hits in the game while being shut-out for the first time this spring. Vermilion collected but eight hits, but the Ironman first inning included four hits, two walks and two errors to quickly decide the final out-come of the five inning contest

Bruce Johnson came on in relief of Drury in the first inning and finished the game for Northland.

Hibbing 12

Saturday's high scoring first game in Hibbing found the two offensive-minded teams combining for 26 runs and 23 hits as Northland outlasted the Cardinals 14-12.

Sullivan came on in relife twice to pick up a save and also starred at the plate with a three for four performance. Johnson was credited with the win and he was one of five Northland batters to collect two base hits in the game. Other Northland batters picking up two hits included Rick Vatnsdal, Pribula, Espeseth and Drury. Espeseth and Johnson each had three RBI's and Drury drove in two runs.

Northland owned a 2-1 first inning lead, but fell behind 5-2 in the third inning before regaining the lead with a nine run fourth inning. The Northland lead mounted to 12-5 in the fifth inning, but Hibbing narrowed the gap to 12-9 in the sixth. Two seventh inning Northland runs finally wrapped up the win as Hibbing scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh

Sullivan was once again on the mound for the Northmen in Saturday's second game as Northland won the second game of a double-header for the first time this year with a 7-4 triumph.

Sullivan checked Hibbing on four hits while Northland banged out nine safeties. Pribula led Northland's second game offense with a three for four effort while Sullivan and Almquist both picked up two hits. Sullivan also drove in three runs.

Hibbing scored two first inning runs and moved in front 3-0 in the third inning before Northland cut the difference to 3-2 on a two run fourth inning single by Sullivan.

Northland plated three runs in the sixth with Pribula, Espeseth and Sullivan all banging out base hits and Jensen driving in a run with a sacrifice fly for a 5-2 Northland lead.

Hibbing cut the difference to 5-4 in the bottom of the sixth, but Northland scored twice in the seventh to win the game 7-4.

NCC, Fergus Falls Divide Twin-bill

Northland romped to a 15-3 first game triumph, but defending division champion Fergus Falls rallied to win the nightcap 5-3 in a wind-blown MJCAA Northern Division baseball double-header played on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond Wednesday.

Northland 15
Fergus Falls 3

Freshman righthander Burnie Stephens tossed a one-hitter at Fergus Falls in the first game to spark the Northmen to a 15-3 win.

Stephens worked on a no-hit, no-run game until the fifth inning of the five inning contest when Fergus Falls pushed across three runs on a walk, three errors and a single.

Northland provided Stephens with a 4-0 first inning cushion, increasing the margin to 7-0 in the second, 11-0 in the third and 15-0 in the fourth.

Four Northland players collected two base hits off Fergus Falls pitching, including Charles Pribula, Stephens, Bruce Johnson and Mike Drury. Pribula rove in three runs while Stephens and Brian Espeseth each recorded two RBI's.

Fergus Falls scored two runs in the top of the seventh to break a 3-3 tie to win the second game 5-3.

A lead-off double, and two errors, a walk and two wild pitches led to the winning Fergus Falls runs off losing pitcher Bruce Johnson.

Fergus Falls opened a 2-0 second inning lead, with Northland cutting the difference to 2-1 in the fourth on Drury's sacrifice fly. Northland scored twice in the sixth to tie the game on consecutive base hits by Espeseth, Rick Vatnsdal and Tim Degerness.

Vatnsdal and Degerness each collected two hits to account for four of the five Northland base hits. Fergus Falls totaled just four base hits.

All Boat Owners Are Reminded To License Craft

An estimated 25,000 Minnesota boat owners have not renewed their watercraft license, the department of natural resources noted today.

License officials pointed out that the boats must be licensed before they can be legally operated in state waters. The summer fishing season opens May 18.

Boat owners planning to use their watercraft on the opening of the fishing season should get their applications for renewal in at once.

Applications for renewal can be made either at the DNR license center at 625 north Robert street in St. Paul or at deputy registrars throughout the state.

Boat owners will be given a permit to operate their watercraft for a 30 day period while their renewal application is being processed by the Department.

Quentin Jones Meet Postponed; Rescheduled For Thursday

Thief River Falls' fifth annual Quentin Jones Jaycee invitational track meet, weathered out of its scheduled Saturday running, has been rescheduled for Thursday afternoon, it was announced by Prowler head coach Marv Walter.

Wet spring weather forced a change of meet dates for the second straight year, but all 18 previously announced participating teams will still be on hand for this week's rescheduled start.

Four large schools will compete in the class A portion of the meet, including defending champion Crookston, Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks and Roseau.

A total of 14 small schools are entered in the class B competition, including defending champion Ada, Stephen, Fosston, Mahnomen, Warren, Fertile, Hallock, Oklee, Karlstad, Red Lake Falls, Halstad, Warroad, Newfolden, Climax and Goodridge.

Thursday's meet will start at 4:30 p.m. on the Thief River Falls track.

LHS Baseball JV Squad Will Host Two Twin-bills

Already weathered out of three scheduled season openers, the Lincoln high school junior varisty baseball team will try to begin its delayed 1974 season today (Monday) by hosting Roseau in a double-header on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond beginning at 4 p.m.

Thief River Falls will also host Alvarado and Oslo in a split twin-bill Wednesday. Thief River Falls will face Alvarado at 4 and then play Oslo at 6. Although both games are listed as B squad games for Thief river Falls, the results will count in the district 31 standings, affecting the upcoming district tournament pairings.

With the season getting later and later it might be a good idea not to plant too much late maturing wheat. For the very early varieties we have both Inia and 1877 wheat. 1877 is from 5 to 10 days earlier than Era. Inia is the earliest maturing wheat, but it is not as rust resistant as 1877 or Era.

Protein could be a big factor next fall. According to the Grand Forks station the protein on 1877 wheat averaged about the same as Waldron.

	Protein Average
Waldron	13.3%
1877 Wheat	13.2%
ERA Wheat	10.5%
Lark Wheat	11.3%

RECOVERY of this Turkish pipe belonging to Holland P. McHam of rural Thief River Falls resulted from coordination between area law enforcement agencies. In response to a recent reward advertised in the Times, the Thief River Falls police department received information concerning the location of the pipe, according to Elton Cummings, local police investigator. The local department contacted the Red Lake county sheriff's office because McHam's pipe was reportedly in Red Lake Falls. Acting on this information, A Red Lake county deputy, Robert Wold of Thief River Falls, recovered the pipe in the residence of Benny Murphy of Red Lake Falls. The Thief River Falls police department is in the process of referring pertinent material to the Marshall county sheriff's office which has jurisdiction in this case because the alleged theft occurred at McHam's residence in Marshall county.

Employment Up For Agriculture College Grads

Employment trend for agriculture graduates will improve slightly this year as compared to 1973 and average starting salaries will increase more than four per cent over last year, a survey of 14 Midwest agriculture colleges shows.

More than 94 per cent of the 1973 agriculture graduates were able to find employment. The strongest demands for graduates are in agricultural business, high school vocational agriculture teaching, food science and agronomy. Minnesota, South Dakota State and Wisconsin universities were among those participating in the survey.

14 Midwest universities in 1973 graduated 4,636 students with bachelor of science degrees, 1,088 with master of science degrees and 546 with doctorate degrees. This was more than a seven per cent increase in the number of B.S and M.S. graduates, but more than a 17 per cent decrease in the number of doctorate graduates as compared to 1972.

Almost 29 per cent of the 1973 graduates, the highest percentage, found jobs in private industry. Maintenance, Meals In Hospital Service

This is the last in a series of articles concentrating on the activities of Northwestern hospital services in Thief River Falls as an introducton to observance of American Hospital Week May 12-18. Today's article deals with several other areas of hospital operation not seen by the average hospital patient but necessary for hospital service.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

So you think you have a problem cooking a meal for company when you know how many are coming and have two weeks to prepare the menu. How would you like to have your recipes computed in 50, 100, or 150 servings and not know how many people to prepare for until 5:30 the same morning?

That is the problem that faces the dietary department of Northwestern hospital services seven days a week, every week of the year. Compound that problem by the fact that almost three-fourths of the meals to be served are modified diets and that your "guests" will expect three meals per day and you have a little added insight into the planning and preparation required.

Headed by Wilma Arnold, kitchen supervisor, and Betty Knutson, dietitian, the dietary staff includes a total of 28 other persons. There are 11 full-time workers on eight-hour shifts and five part-time workers per shift—primarily school girls who work on a part-time basis. Shifts run from 5:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., 6 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. with the school girls working from 4 to 8 p.m.

Breakfast is ready and served from 7 to 8 a.m., noon lunch (dinner) from 11 a.m. to 12 noon and supper from 5 to 6 p.m. Mrs. Arnold emphasizes that meals must be prepared and served on time since the hospital schedule revovles around the meal program.

In March the department served 17,893 meals to patients and employees—about an average month. One cook, assisted by one relief cook, is in charge of all the meal preparation. With about 150 patients in the acute hospital and CNC unit daily —and a large number of employees eating in the cafeteria —the task of daily meal preparation is enormous.

The hospital works on a three-week cycle of selective menu with the patients selecting menu items daily for the following day. Diet girls tally the menu selections made and have that information ready for the cooks at 5:30 a.m. Seasonal changes are

Ditch Project Gains Support

Neil McEwen

Donald L. Olson

Edgar Naplin

Resolution supporting a group of Pennington county landowners in their efforts to obtain special funds for repair of ditches 18, 13 and 30 was adopted Tuesday morning by the county board of commissioners.

Vote on the resolution was unanimous by commissioners Donald L. Olson, Edgar Naplin, Otto Stenberg and Glenn Tasa with commissioner Odin Hanson abstaining from voting on advice from County Attorney Neil McEwen due to a possible conflict of interest. Hanson owns property along one of the ditches included in the proposed project.

For the purpose of review, county board chairman Stenberg called upon Wallace Sparby, executive director of the county ASCS office, to explain the potential for state cost-sharing in the project.

Sparby said that $1,200,000 had been allocated to the state ASCS office for 1974 for special conservation projects. A call to the state office Friday increased hopes that a major portion of the project cost—an estimated $50,000 to $75,000—could be obtained for cost-share from the state ASCS committee. The state committee will review requests on May 15 and 16.

Estimated cost of construction for the project—which involves grading slope to 4:1, seeding and fertilizing of permanent cover, leaving a berm and using spoil to form a dike on the field side of the ditch—is placed by the soil conservation service at approximately $146,000. This includes no funds for right-of-way acquisition, culverts or bridges, according to Richard Cullen, SCS engineer.

Speaking for the group seeking the ditch project, Dearle Henry said the improved drainage would add to value of land along the ditch and improve the ability of that land to produce crops. Cullen noted that the SCS involvement in the project was in the reduction of soil erosion and siltation in the ditch system rather than providing drainage.

Resolution introduced by commissioner Edgar Naplin and seconded by commissioner Donald L. Olson is as follows:

WHEREAS, A group of Landowners having land drained by Judicial Ditches No. 13, 18 and 30 have formed a Quad Group known as the Quad Special Project Group of Pennington County, Minnesota, and

WHEREAS, Said Quad Special Project Group has requested the Pennington County Board approve a Special Project to be developed by the Pennington County Soil & Water Conservation District for repair of the main channels of Judicial Ditches 13 and 18 and the outlet to these two ditches known as Judicial Ditch No. 30, by resloping and seeding the channel slope, providing for a berm and a dike and installation of grade stabilization structures at designated points along said dike, and providing for financing, in part, by Ditch Maintenance Funds.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Pennington County Board support the proposal of said Quad Group Special Project and requests the Pennington County Soil & Water Conservation District to submit said proposal to the Pennington County ASCS Committee for consideration for funding by the

Maintenance And Meals Part Of Hospital Service

made in the menus to take advantage of available foods and best prices.

A normal menu includes two choices of entree, vegetable and dessert with attention paid to modified diets required for each patient. A conveyor system is used for filling meal orders and meals on trays are transported to patient floors in one of eight heated and refrigerated food carts. Dietary personnel or hospital orderlies bring the carts to the floors where feeding of patients is done by the nursing service.

Two hours of clean-up is required after each meal with 800 gallons of hot water a day used for dishwashing. The dishwasher is a continuous cycle type with dishes being fed in one end, washed and dried and discharged from the other end.

Dietary service of the hospital also provides discharge diet information and diet consultation with patients to assist them in maintaining a proper diet after leaving the hospital.

Hospital maintenance, headed by Les Vigness, is responsible for repair and upkeep of the building and most of the equipment in it. The department has six full-time and two part-time employees with someone on duty 24 hours per day.

The hospital has three 100-pound pressure boilers with two operated in the winter and one in summer. They are gas and No. 2 fuel oil fired boilers. Cut off from natural gas which is purchased on an interruptable basis last winter, the hospital burned 70,350 gallons of fuel oil for heat, hot water and sterilizaton equipment.

Maintenance is responsible for seven machine rooms which include air handling, ventillation and air conditioning equipment, six elevators, two dumb-waiters, standby generator for emergency power, laboratory equipment, intensive care equipment, grounds, dietary and laundry equipment, waste disposal, housekeeping equipment, furniture repair, cabinet building, painting, house security and safety.

These duties can be summarized quite quickly and easily but the actual performance of the needed maintenance is not so quick or easy.

Purchasing department of the hospital is operated by Floyd Hagemen, who is also in charge of shipping and receiving. Northwestern hospital services is affiliated with Fairview Hospitals of Minneapolis in a joint purchasing effort for many hospital supplies. This has resulted in price savings which help to hold costs down in many areas.

FIRE DESTROYED this trailer Saturday night at Goodridge killing Oscar Bye, 75. Pennington County Sheriff Charles Richards and Patrick Barry, assistant state fire marshall, were on the scene Monday morning to continue their investigations into the cause of the blaze. They stated that the fire may have started when Bye attempted to pour fuel oil into the heating stove or spilled the heating fuel which he kept inside the trailer in cans (visible through the door).

INVESTIGATING the cause of Saturday's fire which killed Oscar Bye of Goodridge, Patrick Barry (pictured), assistant state fire marshall, and Pennington County Sheriff Charles Richards reported that this might be the point where the fire originated. Barry stated that Bye might have spilled fuel oil on the floor while attempting to fill his heating stove using this can kept in his trailer for that purpose.

HANGING from its hasp, this outside padlock secured one of two doors of the trailer house in which Oscar Bye of Goodrige died Satuday night when fire destroyed the structure. Pennington County Sheriff Charles Richards and Patrick Barry, assistant state fire marshall, investigating the cause of the fire did not find any indication that the locked door had prevented Bye from escaping. However, this door was located nearer Bye's sleeping area and would have been the natural choice for an emergency exit. Apparently Bye used only one of the trailer's two doors and left this lock on the other one. As noted by Richards and Barry, this is not a safe practice. Possible fire exits should not be blocked or secured unless they can be readily opened in an emergency.

Area Sheltered Workshops Help Handicapped

Persons with very severe disabilities almost always have some severe employment problems associated with their handicaps. Often they cannot get work because they lack the proper education or vocational training or because they do not have the physical mobility to get to and from a job.

Many employers have reservations about hiring someone who is severely handicapped and, of course, there are many kinds of jobs that persons with severe disabilities simply cannot do.

Workshops in this area include the occupational development center in Thief River Falls with Kenneth Ose director and Sunnyrest in Crookston under the direction of Rev. Robert Wittenstrom.

The division of vocational rehabilitation (DVR) assists handicapped people resolve their employment problems, and when those problems are extensive because of a severe disability, the Division often arranges for the person to work in a sheltered workshop or work activity center.

The pay is lower, and the work is more basic and limited than in the outside labor market, but the handicapped person has something productive to do. He is paying taxes on what he earns, and he is receiving rehabilitative services. And the work that he does is necessary production, which the workshop subcontracts from industry or business in the community.

Sheltered workers and persons in work activity are paid at a rate commensurate with what non-handicapped persons doing similar work in the outside labor market receive. A severely handicapped sheltered worker working on a production line, for example, receives the same pay for each item he produces as a non-handicapped worker would. His total hourly wage is usually less because his disability causes his production to be substantially lower.

Sheltered workers and work activity participants will earn more than $2 million during the 1974 fiscal year, according to DVR estimates.

Some 1,200 severely handicapped persons participated in sheltered employment and work activity during the 1973 fiscal year, according to figures furnished by William Niederloh, director of DVR's long-term sheltered workshop program. DVR expects that 1,700 persons will be participating by the end of the current fiscal year. This is an increase of more than 100 per cent since 1972.

"This means that since 1972 there are an additional several hundred severely handicapped individuals now employed who otherwise would be institutionalized or inappropriately served in programs with no work components or not served at all," Niederloh said.

"Equally important is that the programs not only serve more people, but they are also serving them better. Supervision is more intensive and effective, more counseling is available, and physical working conditions have improved," Niederloh said.

The 35 sheltered workshops and 40 work activity centers throughout Minnesota are private, non-profit operations, although they receive much of their funding from DVR.

DVR funding helps buy equipment for the workshops and it is also used to pay part of the wages to the sheltered workers. DVR specialists establish standards for sheltered workshops and work activity centers to follow in determining wage scales, working conditions and rehabilitation services for the sheltered workers they employ.

If the Shoe Fits..

Should the feet be pampered?

Millions of dollars are spent yearly in beauty salons to beautify the American woman. Yet, neglected feet and ill-fitting shoes will line the face, dampen the spirits and, can be related to more serious physical ailments. Because feet get more wear and abuse than any other part of the body, it is important to give them the loving care and pampering that is given to the most beautiful face.

Your feet will appreciate a refreshing daily bath; a foot powder will aid in drying. When your feet are tired, stimulate them by immersing alternately in hot and cold water. A vigorous massage with a rough towel is good. Apply lanolin, cream or lotion to areas of feet that are dry or cracked. Trim toe nails straight across.

Exercises such as toe wiggling, arch stretching and slow ankle rotation should be enjoyed at every opportunity. Putting your feet up on a table, a desk, or anything about two feet above the floor is highly recommended to stimulate circulation. It's relaxing for the whole body and good for the feet.

GOP Neighbor-To-Neighbor Off To Good Start

State Senator Mel Frederick of West Concord, state Republican neighbor-to-neighbor chairman, Friday said that first returns from counties show the GOP neighbor-to-neighbor (NTN) drive is off to a good start.

Goal of the drive, which is an annual event in the Minnesota GOP, is to contact 81,000 people across the state. In past years, the average contribution to NTN has been about $7.

Mrs. Richard Romer of New Brighton, chairwoman of the drive, noted that increased contributions result from a recent change in state law which permits a married couple filing a joint return to contribute $20 and receive a $10 federal tax credit and a $10 state tax credit. A single person who makes a $10 contribution receves a $5 state crdit and a $5 federal credit.

Frederick said that more than 3,000 contributions have already been processed at the state GOP hadquarters in St. Paul, and that the aveage contribution has been $16.57. "This is a direct indication that when the contributor understands the federal and state tax credits for his contribution, it is easy to increase the size of the contribution," Frederick said.

"The response so far also proves that people are willing to participate in politics at the grass roots level when they are asked. This has been one of the great strengths in Minnesota with the Republican Party—our large number of small contributors," Frederick added.

Mrs. Romer noted that several areas are reporting great success. Plymouth, a suburb of Minneapolis, raised 121 per cent of their quota and still has almost half of its contributors to contact.

One township in Dodge county has raised 40 per cent more than its past contributions, and Brooklyn Center, another suburb of Minneapolis, is at 108 per cent of quota, according to Mrs. Romer.

The NTN drive will conclude May 18.

Eugene Nelson To Chair Multiple Sclerosis Drive

Frank Quilici, manager of the Minnesota Twins, as state chairman for the 1974 multiple sclerosis hope chest campaign in Minneota, announced the appointment of Eugene H. Nelson, 114 South Spruce Avenue, Thief River Falls, as chairman of the MS drive. First Northwestern state bank will be the depository for funds.

Mother's Day to Father's Day has been selected nationally for the campaign. Multiple sclerosis, mysterious crippler of young adults, usuallly strikes between the ages of 20 and 40, the time when these people are in the prime of their life starting families and establishing careers.

Hundreds of thousands of Americans have multiple sclerosis, and an estimated two million family membes are affected by its heavy economic burden. Minnesota has one of the highest incidence rates of M.S. in the United States.

Research to find a cause and cure for M.S. is the key to victory. Scientists believe we are very close to this victory. Evidence is mounting to suggest that the basic causative factor may be a virus.

National Multiple Sclerosis society hopes to raise more than $14 million in 1974. Quilici recommends that we all "Pitch In" and help make this goal a reality.

MIRACLE WATER

Jim Anderson

The famous "Liberty Bell" that now is one of our country's most cherished memorials, was made in England. It was brought to Philadelphia in 1752, more than 20 years before there was a United States of America! The bell cracked at its first ringing and had to be melted down and recast. The bell is bronze, three feet tall and weighs more than a ton. Around the top a verse from the Bible reads: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." On July 4th, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was read to the Congress. Congress voted in favor of it and four days later the bell in the State House was rung to call the people to hear the Declaration. On July 8, 1835, when rung for John Marshall, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the second bell cracked and it is this bell that is enshrined in Independence Hall today.

You don't need a "Liberty Bell" to proclaim your own independence from the drudgery caused by hard tap water. Free yourself from scrubbing hard water spots and stains, and of the extra costs of special cleaning agents you are using to remove these stains. Just soap and Refined Water are all you need to keep most areas sparkling. You will be free to enjoy leisure time with your family. Proclaim your freedom now. April Was Disappointing But Better Than Winter

April's only redeeming value for the Thief River Falls area was that it was warmer than the winter months. However, it was still about five degrees colder than normal and continually threatened to provide a fresh covering of snow, giving spring a setback.

The month's big weather events (in addition to the river break-up; occurred on April 20 and 27. On the twentieth the recorded low was 35 degrees ending a succession of 177 days of freezing temperatures beginning on October 26.

One week later, on April 27 the month's high of 75 degrees was recorded. However, neither of these events marked a lasting improvement in the weather.

As area residents have noted, the mercury is again dipping below the freezing point at night and the daily high generally remains in the 40's or 50's. Nevertheless, the short lived warm spell did give people a psychological lift by proving that warmer weather is possible and northwestern Minnesota might still have a summer before winter sets in again.

April's low was three degrees on the seventh and again on the eighth. Although that is colder than the 10 year average of 9.6 degrees, it is well above the April 1970 low of -12 degrees. The 28 degree low for April 1965, indicates some of the variety April is capable of in this area.

Precipitation was received on at least 14 days. On four of those dates snow was reported with two inches measured on the first of the month. Although snow in April is discouraging for people who are anxiously awaiting the planting season, this year's April snowfall total of two inches is insignificant compared to the April 1964 total of 13 inches. Seven inches of snow was recorded as recently as 1970. In 1966 there were 6.4 inches of snow recorded during April with four or more inches in 1967 and 1968.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our son and borhter Robert (Butch) Manning, who was taken so suddenly from us 8 years ago on May 7, 1966:

I am home in Heaven, dear ones.
Oh so happy and so bright,
There is perfect joy and beauty.
In this everlasting light,
All the pain and grief is over,
Every restless tossing passed.
I am now at peace forever.
Safely home in Heaven at last and He came Himself to meet me.
In that way so hard to tread and with Jesus's arm to lean on,
Could I have one doubt or dread?
Then you must not grieve so sorely
For I love you dearly still.
Try to look beyond earth's shadows, pray to trust our Father's will.
When that work is all completed
He will gently call us home
Oh, the raptures of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come.

Track fans planning to attend Thursday's Quentin Jones Jaycee invitational track meet in Thief River Falls will have an opportunity to watch one of the state's finest teams and one of the state's top individual performers.

Crookston's powerful 1974 track squad is recognized as one of the favorites for this year's class A state title and the Pirate's Don Moore is regarded as the state's premiere sprinter this spring.

Moore, a 5-11, 160 pound senior, led his Nampa, Idaho, track team to second place in the Idaho state meet last year before moving to Crookston. "He (Moore) looks like the class of the sprinters in Minnesota this year," said Jim Gotta, head coach of defending state champion Moorhead, recently.

Moore's top times this spring include a 10.4 in the 100 and a 22.5 in the 220, both running into a strong wind during the prestigious Burnsville relays. The Pirate senior has his sights set on a 9.8 in the 100 and a 22.0 in the 220 this spring while saying, "I'm hoping to win at least two events in the state meet."

Moore's third event is the 180 yard low hurdles where he'll challenge Thief River Falls' Jerry Sandahl.

Other top performers for the potent Crookston squad include sprinter Jon Burkhardt, half-miler Nathan Hanson, 440 runner Robert Ranum and shot putter Len Devos.

Summer softball interest continues to grow in Thief River Falls, with leagues making final preparations for the upcoming 1974 season.

The men's slow pitch league will have 15 teams playing this summer. The league has been set up in north and south divisions, with each team playing two games against each of its own division opponents and one game against each of the other division foes.

The slow pitch divisional set-up includes the Arctic Raiders, Hydra-Mac, County Kitchen, Professional Building, Hartz, Lillevold Construction, Popplers and Northland Electronics in the north half and Hamms-Pizza Hut, Arctic team one, Warehouse Foods, Kat Haus, Jaycees, Grain Belt and Pro Oil in the south.

The slow pitch league plans to start the 1974 season the last week in May.

The expanded men's fast pitch league will feature a nine team pennat race this summer. The league's line-up will include Falls Diesel, Schmidts, VFW, Erskine, Nelson State Farm Insurance, TRF Pepsi, Melvies, Arctic Cat and Legion.

The fast pitch league's 1974 league play will begin Mon., May 20, on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds fast pitch softball diamond. Newly installed field lights will allow the league to schedule double-headers throughout the season.

Lincoln high school's Dave Borning received a certificate from the national interscholastic swimming coaches association of America recently, recognizing the Prowler junior for finishing among the top ten swimmers in the 1974 Minnesota state meet's 50 yard dash.

Borning placed sixth in the event at the state meet in a time of 22.89.

Lincoln high school graduate Rande Smith was cited by head coach Ev Kjelbertson for his strong play in the North Dakota State University intrasquad spring football game Friday at Bismarck.

Smith, who will be a junior at NDSU next fall, is again listed as a starting tight end for the Bison, a spot he held last fall as a sophomore before being sidelined at the end of the year because of illness.

NDSU will close out its spring drills Friday when the Bison play another intrasquad game in Fargo beginning at 7:30 p.m.

BRAINERD CATCHER Chuck Kern holds the ball and patiently waits for Northland base runner Rick Vatnsdal (4) who tried to score from third base on a suicide squeeze play at the plate. Surprisingly, Vatnsdal scored as he slid under Kern's tag in the fourth inning of Tuesday's MJCAA baseball game on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond. Northland batter Pete Sullivan (center) watched the action on the play. Northland won the game 10-2, but dropped the double-header nightcap 11-5.

Northland, Brainerd Split Twin-bill

Northland community college split an MJCAA baseball double-header for the fourth time in five starts this spring on Tuesday when the Northmen beat Brainerd 10-2 in the first game, but lost the nightcap 11-5 on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond.

Coach Chet Engelman's Northmen have played five MJCAA double-headers this spring and four times Northland has won the first game only to lose the second contest. Northland did gain a twin-bill sweep over Hibbing last week, though, to carry a 6-4 season record.

The Northmen will play four non-conference games this weekend when Northland plays double-headers both Friday and Saturday against Itasca in Grand Rapids.

The rest of the Northland double-header schedule will find the Northmen playing at Fergus Falls Mon., May 13; at Crookston Wed., May 15; and then a regular season ending two-game affair with Itasca in Thief River Falls Fri., May 17

Brainerd 2

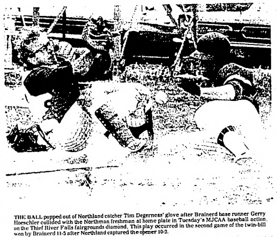
Held hitless by former prep all-stater Carl Hendrickson for three innings, Northland pushed across three fourth inning runs, sparked by a bases loaded suicide squeeze steal of home plate, to start the Northmen to their 10-2 first game triumph.

A long second inning homerun over the deep centerfield fence by Hendrickson and an RBI single by Chuck Kern in the third gave the Raiders an early 2-0 lead.

After going down in order for three innings, Northland erupted for three fourth inning runs to take a 3-2 lead. Rick Vatnsdal singled behind third to start the inning moved to second on a perfect sacrifice bunt by Charlie Pribula and was joined on base by Brian Espeseth who walked and by Mike Drury who reached on a base-loading error. Vatnsdal then surprised Brainerd by stealing home, avoiding the catcher's tag on the suicide squeeze play. Sullivan then followed with a broken bat pop single over second with the Brainerd infield pulled in for a possible play at the plate to score two runs.

Northland scored three more runs in the fifth for a 6-2 cushion when Rob Almquist doubled to deep center, went to third on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly by Vatnsdal. Pribula then walked and stole second and Espeseth singled and stole second with both runners scoring on another Brainerd error.

Northland completed the scoring in the sixth when Bruce Johnson reached base on an error and scored on a hard hit double by Jon Jensen. Mike Peterson singled to left, with Jensen scoring on a throwing error on the play. A hard hit double by Almquist drove in the final run of the game.



THE BALL popped out of Northland catcher Tim Degerness' glove after Brainerd base runner Gerry Hoeschler collided with the Northman freshman at home plate in Tuesday's MJCAA baseball action on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond. This play occurred in the second game of the twin-bill won by Brainerd 11-5 after Northland captured the opener 10-2.

Johnson, a freshman lefthander from Thief River Falls, turned in his best effort of the spring to pick up the pitching triumph as he checked the Raiders on four base hits. He faced just 26 batters during the seven inning game, throwing only 86 pitches while striking out six and walking two.

Northland picked up eight hits off Hendrickson and sixth inning reliever Rick Welliver, but Almquist was the only Northman with two hits.

Four Brainerd errors hampered the Raiders while Northland played errorless ball.

Northland. 5

Brainerd capitalized on some spotty Northland second game play to score seven second inning runs, enabling the Raiders to coast to an 11-5 win and a split of the chilly double-header.

The two teams traded first inning runs with a single by Hendrickson along with an error, giving Brainerd an early 2-0 lead.

Northland responded by putting the first three Northman batters on base for two runs. Almquist walked, Vatnsdal reached base on an error and Pribula sliced a double down the right field foul line for two runs. A Texas league bloop double behind second by Drury and a walk to Pete Sullivan loaded the bases with one out, forcing Brainerd into a quick pitching change. Kevin Skeesick got out of the jam, however, as the Raider reliever struck out the next two batters to leave three Northland runners on base.

The roof caved in on Northland in the top of the second when Brainerd put its first seven batters on base. A three run homerun over the deep centerfield fence by Hendrickson, his second long blast of the day, highlighted the seven run Brainerd second inning that included seven Brainerd base hits and two Northland errors.

An error and a walk, followed by a two run double by Skeesick, pushed Brainerd in front 11-2 in the third inning.

Northland scored a single run in the sixth when Drury singled, moved to second on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Burnie Stephens.

Two more Northland runs crossed the plate in the last half inning as Vatnsdal reached third on a three base error and scored on a single by Pribula. A sacrifice fly by Jensen produced the final run of the game.

Brainerd touched Northland pitching ace Pete Sullivan for 11 base hits in the game while Northland managed only six base hits. The two teams combined for 10 errors in the ragged game, with Northland guilty of six misplays.

Prowlers Will Host Breckenridge Friday

Nearly a full month after the 1974 season was originally scheduled to open, coach Ralph Skay's Lincoln high school baseball team will play a home game Friday when the Prowlers host Breckenridge in a double-header on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond beginning at 4 and 6 p.m.

Thief River Falls, currently 1-4 for the year, will be trying to snap a four game losing streak when the Prowlers take the field against the Cowboys. Thief River Falls opened the season by beating Newfolden 18-4, but since their initial success, the Prowlers have lost to Warroad 7-6, Roseau 11-9 and Bemidji twice, 7-1 and 12-1.

The Breckenridge twin-bill will start a busy homestand for the Prowlers who will also host Roseau Monday at 3:30 and then tangle with district 31 rival Crookston in a Tuesday double-header on the fairgrounds diamond beginning at 4 o'clock.

THIEF RIVER FALLS sophomore Gary Laidley stretched to return a shot by a Grand Forks Central opponent during the number one doubles match of Monday's dual tennis meet in Thief River Falls. Laidley was successful on this try, but Central's John Gambucci and Mark Jackson beat Laidley and teammate Terry Sullivan 6-0, 6-4. Thief River Falls won the team decision, however, 4-1.

Prowlers Topple GF Central 4-1 In Tennis Dual

Coach Whitey Olson's Lincoln high school tennis team snapped a four meet losing streak by beating Grand Forks Central 4-1 on the Thief River Falls courts Monday afternoon.

The win over the Redskins, a team that beat Thief River Falls 3-2 a week ago, evened the Prowler dual meet season record at 4-4. Thief River Falls will be back in action tomorrow (Thursday) when the Prowlers host Mahnomen on the local courts beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Thief River Falls won all three singles encouters against Central as Tim Engelstad defeated Central's Jim Skinner 6-2, 6-2 in the first singles and Keith Breiland dumped Central's Rob Jutenen 6-1, 6-0 in the second singles. Thief River Falls' Brian Waale downed Central's Tom Cariveau 6-1, 6-4 in the third singles.

The visiting Grand Forks school gained its only win of the day in the number one doubles event when Central's John Gambucci and Mark Jackson, recognized as North Dakota's top doubles unit even though they're only a sophomore and freshman respectively, deafeated Thief River Falls sophomores Terry Sullivan and Gary Laidley 6-0, 6-4.

Thief River Falls came back with a second doubles triumph when Prowler teammates Scott Engelstad and Bill La Valley beat Central's Perry Cariveau and Kerry Wynne 7-6, 6-3.

LHS Golf Team Wins At Fargo

Coach Jack Boyer's Lincoln high school golf team continued its season long improvement Tuesday as the Prowlers captured first place in a 13 team invitational meet played on the Fosston golf course.

The triumph marked the first meet title in four tries for the ever improving Prowlers who will return to action tomorrow (Thursday) by participating in the 1974 Northwest Conference meet at East Grand Forks beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Thief River Falls finished Tuesday's action with a 322 team total, two strokes better than Mahnomen and Red Lake Falls who tied for second at 324. Bemidji and Ada tied for fourth at 338, followed by Crookston 342, Fosston 345, Walker 351, Grand Forks Red River 354, Warren 357, East Grand Forks 362, Blackduck 400 and Fertile 401.

Mahnomen's Guy Strandemo was the Fosston meet medalist with a 73. Ira Cota of Red Lake Falls was the runner-up individual finisher with a 75.

Northland Golf Squad Beaten By Bemidji State

For the first time in five starts this spring, the Northland community college golf team failed to win a meet title Tuesday as the Northmen finished two strokes behind the Bemidji State College junior varisty in a triangular meet held at Bemidji.

The Bemidji JV's finished the day's activity with a four man 307 team stroke total, followed by Northland with a 309 and Itasca with a 340.

Bemidji's Pat Wilhelmson turned in Tuesday's low score with a 74. Northland sophomore Lee Sorensen and Bemidji's Paul Hanson finished one stroke back with 75's. Sorensen shot rounds of 38-37.

Other Northland meet counting scores included Mark Metusalem with rounds of 36-41 for a 77, Jim Strandemo 38-40 for a 78 and Jay Moum 40-39 for a 79.

Also golfing for Northland, but not counting in the final team score were Dave Kjos with a 40-41 for an 81, Dick Penning 41-41 for an 82 and Kirk Whalley 47-44 for a 91.

LHS Girls Win Four Team Stephen Meet

Lincoln high school girls swept ten first place finishes to easily win a four team invitational track meet held at Stephen Monday.

Monday's win marked the second straight meet victory for the Cheryl Hinchberger coached Thief River Falls squad. The Lincoln girls won last week's Northwest Conference indoor meet at Crookston.

Kris Gibson picked up two individual first place finishes for the Lincoln squad, winning the 110 hurdles in 18.5 and the 220 yard dash in 31.0.

Other Thief River Falls individual first places included DeeAnn Hoganson, 60 yard hurdles, 10.1; Teresa Nygaard, mile, 6.31; Lori Finstad, 880, 2:53.5; Twila Mercil, 100, 12.8; Marilyn Olson, 440, 1.11.6; Brenda Laidley, high jump, 4-4; and Linda Larson, discus, 88-1½.

Thief River Falls also added two first places in relay events. The Lincoln 880 medley squad of Jani Swanson, Karla Kruschke, Polly Bulger and Gibson won the event in 2:14 while the Lincoln 880 unit of Jodi Ranum, Beth Hamilton, Reta Rantanen and Joan Jury won the event in 2:06.

Thief River Falls second place finishes included Kristin Solheim, 880; Jury, 440; Rantenen, 220; Mercil, long jump; and the 440 relay team of Swanson, Hoganson, Nygaard and Laidley.

Lincoln third place finishes included Laidley, 110; and Larson, shot put.

With the season getting later and later it might be a good idea not to plant too much late maturing wheat. For the very early varieties we have both Inia and 1877 wheat. 1877 is from 5 to 10 days earlier than Era. Inia is the earliest maturing wheat, but it is not as rust resistant as 1877 or Era.

Protein could be a big factor next fall. According to the Grand Forks station the protein on 1877 wheat averaged about the same as Waldron.

	Protein Average
Waldron	13.3%
1877 Wheat	13.2%
ERA Wheat	10.5%
Lark Wheat	11.3%
Bounty	12.0%
Olaf Wheat	12.6%

With the season getting later and later it might be a good idea not to plant too much late maturing wheat. For the very early varieties we have both Inia and 1877 wheat. 1877 is from 5 to 10 days earlier than Era. Inia is the earliest maturing wheat, but it is not as rust resistant as 1877 or Era.

Protein could be a big factor next fall. According to the Grand Forks station the protein on 1877 wheat averaged about the same as Waldron.

	Protein Average
Waldron	13.3%
1877 Wheat	13.2%
ERA Wheat	10.5%
Lark Wheat	11.3%
Bounty	12.0%
Olaf Wheat	12.6%

Engebritson, Route 3, $20, 41 in 30; Michael J. Solsten, Countryside court, $20, 40 in 30; and Myles J. Efteland, Route 2, $20, 38 in 30.

Police Correct Vandalism Story

Vandalism reported April 24 by Mrs. Dorothy Poolman of 418 South Markley avenue was done to a car belonging to Beatrice Erickson of 516 South Kendall avenue, not her own as reported in the police report in Wednesday's Times.

According to information from Ken Froschheiser, acting police chief, a substance appearing to be glue was poured on the side of the Erickson vehicle. About $250 in damage resulted where the substance ran down from the windows to the panel below the door.

Citizens Urged To Participate In Poppy Sale

Mayor Robert Carlson of Thief River Falls has proclaimed Thursday through Saturday of this week as a time for distribution of VFW Buddy poppies in Thief River Falls.

"I urge all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked or lost their lives in fulfilling their obligations as American citizens," Mayor Carlson said.

The mayor also noted that lives, health and livelihood have been lost as a result of military service and are the concern of all citizens. Sale of Buddy poppies by the VFW and auxiliary provide an opportunity for residents of the community to express their solicitude for those who have paid more than their share of the cost of freedom.

"VFW Buddy poppies are assembled by disabled veterans," Mayor Carlson noted, "and the proceeds of this worthy fund-raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans."

He urged citizens of the community to recognize the merits of the cause by contributing generously to its support through purchase of poppies.

Reelected Head Of Mission Group

Rev. Paul R. Biegner, pastor of St. John Lutheran church of Thief River Falls, has again been elected chairman of the mission administration division for the Minnesota North district of the Lutheran church-Missouri synod. This is a position he has held since the founding of the Minnesota North district in 1963.

Mission administration division supervises and sets policy, sensitizes and facilitates in the areas of self-study of life and mission planning for all 215 congregations; three full-time and two half-time campus ministries on university and college campuses; special ministries in Finnish language and to Indian people, Twin Ports seamen's ministry, Twin City young adult ministry, and leisure ministries; and Lutheran social services of Minnesota liaison.

The mission program above represents over $400,000 of mission gifts from the 215 congregations comprising the Minnesota North district. Rev. Biegner's election is for a term of two years.

BUDDY POPPY poster contest was won by these youngsters from the fifth grade in Thief River Falls public schools. Left to right are Darcy Harbott, Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Harbott; Albert Kuzel, Washington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kuzel; Jim Hellie, Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hellie; and Theresa Ness, St. Bernard's, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ness. In the back of the photo are Mrs. Donna Olson and Joe Rinowski, chairmen of the Buddy Poppy sale for the VFW auxiliary and Post 2793. The winning posters are on display at the Bostwick's store window with the VFW poppy display.

Sorenson Given 2 Scholarships

Greg Sorenson, senior at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, has been awarded two scholarships for attendance at St. Olaf college in Northfield, according to information received here.

Sorenson has received a St. Olaf scholarship of $1,350 and a Minnesota state scholarship of $1,000. Both are annual scholarships and renewable for the four-year college program.

A first place winner in the VFW teen age citizen contest in Thief River Falls, Sorenson was also named second place winner in the Ninth District contest. Announcement of the district placing was made by Mrs. Rudolph Johnson, youth activities chairman. First place went to Sonia Maassel of Moorhead.

Northland Has Spring Music Concert Sunday

Northland college chamber choir, jazz ensemble and community band presented a concert of varied music Sunday at 4 p.m., under the direction of Les Torgerson, music instructor.

Miss Marie Hvidsten, Thief River Falls presented a flute solo, "Density 21.5" by Edgar Varese. Miss Cathy Barron, also Thief River Falls, performed two movements from the Beethoven piano sonata, "Pathetique". A trombone trio featuring James Long, Steve Taflin and Les Torgerson also performed a selection of three numbers.

The chamber choir sang such choral works as J.S. Bach's "Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light", W.A. Mozart's "Lacrymosa" from the "Requiem Mass", and "Life's Joy" by Franz Schubert. Lighter numbers were the spiritual "Little Wheel a Turnin" and "The Morning After" from the "Poseidon Adventure."

The community band played several pieces selected from its recent tour appearance at the Minnesota community college fine arts festival at Concordia college in Moorhead April 18. Highlights were the "Flourish for Wind Band" by R. Vaughan Williams, "Concertino" by Fritz Velke, and "Barnum and Bailey's Favorite Circus March" along with other selections. Community band numbers nearly 60 members and is composed of members from several different northwestern Minnesota communities.

The concert was held in the Northland gymnasium in order to accommodate all who attended. Last year two performances were required in the college theatre. Conducting the choir and band was Les Torgerson, Northland music director.

STRANDQUIST . .

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Larson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Larson and family were Sunday dinner guests at the Irvin Larson home.

Alex Hager, Sophie Borowicz, and Clara Nelson visited at the William Wikstrom home last week.

Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter visited with Mrs. Julius Kleinwachter on Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Kranz visited at the Irvin Larson home on Friday.

Does GOD see the gap?

Whenever you hear about a generation gap, you can be sure you're getting a human, biased point of view. Each generation is sure!

Yet there is a divine view. It concentrates on the oneness of all generations . . . on all the blessings and opportunities that God continues to bestow. "His truth endureth to all generations," said the Psalmist.

When Great-Grandma holds little Linda in her arms next Sunday, she'll be thinking gratefully of all the gifts they have in common — from the Lord. And she'll be praying that Linda will be brought up to cherish those gifts.

The generation gap—like all differences — disappears when human intelligence grasps God's point of view.

Psychologists Hear About Women's Role

by Elisabeth Petrangelo
U of M News Service

More and more—women are stepping into roles usually considered male—either by asserting themselves more in the jobs they already hold or taking jobs usually considered men's occupations.

But what does the other half of the population think about the change?

Reactions are mixed, according to three professional women who spoke to a group of about 200 psychologists in Brainerd recently at a conference on sexism.

Pearl Rosenberg, assistant dean of the University of Minnesota's medical school, told the group that when she was appointed to the deanship "many of my male colleagues came to me and said 'What does your husband think?' They seemed to feel that he would be upset, that he would fell threatened," she said.

"When I first started, I was treated like the village idiot," she said. "It was as if everything had to be explained again especially for me. Like when we were tourning a construction site, a man turned to me and said 'Watch out Pearl, there's a hole' as if I couldn't see it myself."

Rosenberg's career began in the conventional way—she got all the degrees, had all the prerequisites. "My husband and I got our degrees together," she said. "We talked before we got married and decided there would be one career and that mine would revolve around his. In every sense I conformed."

Several years ago, she won a grant to do research in Boston. At the same time, her husband had an opportunity to work in New York.

"I asked him what I should do and he told me thank them for the money, turn it down and go with him," she said. "And so I did and it didn't even occur to me to be irate."

But then, something happened. "Suddenly people began to realize that women were needed because otherwise there just weren't enough talented people to go around," she said. "Now my husband and I think in terms of a team and when we move again it will be as a team," she said.

Rosenberg said that in the past year, enrollment of women in the medical school has taken a leap but is still only about one-fourth the total enrollment. When decisions were being made on which applications to accept, Rosenberg said one male decision-maker expressed his concern that too many women were being admitted and wanted to know what that would do to the future of medical care.

"A little later on, I asked them if they didn't think we were admitting a lot of men to the medical school and what effect would that have on the future of medical care," she said. "Only one man understood what I was doing and he laughed. The rest of them started to argue with me."

Mary Briggs, one of the coordinatorsof the university medical school's program in human sexuality, has a different set of problems.

Although the men she works with are generally supportive of her in her position, she said she receives less support from other men when she makes speaking appearances.

"It's happened at least a dozen times that when I get there, my name is not on the program, there's no name tag for me, even though it's been made explicit from the start that I am an active participant in the program," she said. "The first few times I just thought 'Oh well'-but now I'm getting mad."

She is young and attractive and when she travels professionally, men assume she is someone's traveling companion, not a speaker, and that she is there "to dress up someone's arm."

She described her attempt to assert herself during a recent visit to her gynecologist. When he entered the room, she was not wrapped in the sheet provided her. When he attempted to cover her she told him "Now wait a minute. I want to sit up for once and watch what you're doing. You're always hiding under that tent, doing whatever you do and ignoring me. I have a right to know."

The doctor told her that was impossible, "pushed me back on the table, went about his business and wouldn't say another word to me," she said. "Now that's a significant male reaction to a new female role."

Sue North told the group that although she climbed the academic ladder and spent time teaching, she now drives a taxicab. And as a female cab driver, she has encountered another set of difficulties.

"The people at the garage were telling me that the reason why women weren't allowed to drive at night was because we ere being protected," she said. "Then I found out how much better the money was at night, how much bigger the tips were, and I started to wonder who was ptotecting what."

North said male customers are often upset by her insistence on carrying their luggage and oening doors for them and that they often patronize her.

Rosenberg said that male reactions to women in new roles are often the same reactions people have to death. "First there's a period of shock, then denial. If they ignore it, it will go away. Then thre is anger and backlash, the view that a woman better be twice as good because if she's not she's out. After all, she wanted equality.

"Only after these steps is there acceptance and cooperation," she said.

The women, speaking at the annual convention of the Minnesota Psychological association, said they felt positive changes were being made in men's attitudes toward working women. "There will be changes," Rosenberg said. "People will still get made but the music is coming through."

Administrator Of ASC Favors Food Grain Reserves

Kenneth E. Frick, administrator of the agricultural stabilization and conservation service of the U.S. department of agriculture, told a group of young farmers visiting in Washington that he favors establishment of worldwide food and grain reserves under the jurisdiction of individual countries, and with U.S. reserves under private ownership.

Frick believes an international reserve policy can be achieved through sharing of information on production, supply and stocks to allow assessment by individual nations of world surpluses deficiencies and capacities to produce. "Each nation should be involved in developing reserves and reviewing a plan to fulfill world needs", he said.

The ASCS administrator added that while reserves can only help to relieve shortfalls, "The fundamental lasting world food problem must be met through increased food production. In our incentive economy, expanded production is a response to market forces". The acts of 1970 and 1973 are moves to allow farmers the freedom and flexibility to respond to increased world needs, while protecting producers' incomes against dramatic price increases.

Frick said that the U.S. government should never again be in the position of owning grain reserves, and that all U.S. reserves should be under private ownership. He said government-held reserves would act as a price depressant and interfere with market forces that determine allocation of agricultural resources, resulting in serious production shortfalls.

Army Reserve Offers Option To Women Grads

Everybody needs a break once in a while. . .and that's exactly what the Army Reserve's medical and engineer units here are offering to women who enlist in their organizations.

Col. Marwin A. K. Lommen, senior commanding officer, said the Army Reserve calls the special offer for women high school graduates, 18 through 35, a "Take A Break" option. He said it's designed to shorten the consecutive time women have to spend away from home on active duty.

"Before the option was offered, women went directly from basic training at the WAC Training Center in Fort McClellan, Alabama, to advanced individual training (AIT) at some other Army installation," Col Lommen said.

"We recognized that some women could not, in many cases, afford to spend such a long period of time away from home to complete basic training and advanced individual training, so we decided to let those who wanted it 'Take A Break' between the two phases of instruction," he said.

According to Col Lommen, here's how the "Take A Break" option would work for a high school senior coed who is graduating this year, or for a college girl:

She would sign up with a reserve unit in this community and after she received her high school diploma or completed her college year in June, she would go to Fort McClellan, Ala., for her seven weeks of basic training this summer.

Then, if she so elected, she would return to this community and to civilian life (except for 16 hours each month, usually on one weekend, when she would attend her unit meetings here). She would be able to return to school, or to start a civilian job, in the fall, because she would begin her advanced individual training at a time convenient to her, provided she started it within one year of her completion of her basic training.

Joining the army reserve can mean a different kind of break for women high school graduates or college girls, Col. Lommen said. The skills they learn in the army reserve. . .for which they are paid while they receive the instruction. . .often can lead to good civilian jobs. Most of the more than 400 military skills for which women are trained in the army reserve parallel those in civilian life, he said.

Col Lommen indicated that women also are paid at the rate of more than $325 a month while they take their basic training and their advanced individual training. And the pay for their 16 hours a month of training with their units isn't bad either. . .it can add up to about $1,000 a year in their very first year of service with the army reserve, he said.

"We hope women in this area will take advantage of 'the break' we're offering," Col Lommen said. "It's a chance for women to earn good pay, learn a new skill and enhance their civilian career prospects."

He said those women who want to learn more about the "Take a Break" option can do so by visiting or telephoning the army reserve center here. In Grand Forks, call 775-2519 or visit the Army Reserve Training Center 201 N. 5th St. downtown.

Thought For The Day

Three monkeys once dining in a coconut tree
Were discussing some things they heard true to be.
"What do you think, now listen you two,
Here, monkeys is something that cannot be true:
That humans descended from our pure race.
Why, it's simply shocking, a terrible disgrace.

"Who ever heard of a monkey deserting his wife?
Leave a baby to starve and ruin his life?
And have you ever heard of a mother monk
To leave her young one with a stranger to bunk?
Their babies are handed from one to another,
And scarce ever know which one is their mother!

"And I've never known a monkey so selfish to be
As to build a big fence 'round his coconut tree
So other monkeys can't get a wee taste,
But would let all the coconuts there go to waste.
Why, if I'd put a fence 'round this coconut tree
Starvation would force you to steal from me!

"And here is another thing a monkey won't do:
Seek a bootlegger's shanty and get on a stew,
Carouse 'round all night, disgracing his life.
Then reel madly home and beat up his wife.
They call this all pleasure and make a big fuss;
They've descended from something—but not from us!"

Elections Coming

Good election races have developed for the Thief River Falls board of education on May 21 and the Thief River Falls city council on May 28. There are ample candidates for every position and campaigning is being done on an active level as local elections can be expected to generate.

To assist the candidates in presenting their background and views to the public—and to assist the public in making comparisons and decisions about candidates—the Times will again be publishing personal profiles of each of the office seekers who provide us with that information. All of the candidates have been invited to participate in the procedure by letters which were mailed last week. Space is being provided by the Times as a public service.

Candidates for the school board will be featured in next Monday's edition, May 13, one week in advance of the school district election. City council candidates will be featured in the edition of Monday, May 20, one week in advance of the city election.

We encourage our readers to watch for these features, to read the views and backgrounds of all the candidates, and to discuss the issues and personalities with their friends and neighbors. Further, we would encourage people to help their favorite candidates with their campaigns and become involved in the local political process.

Rarely do we see Thief River Falls community residents at meetings of our various school, city and county bodies unless they have a specific personal interest in being there. It would be good for every voter and potential voter to attend at least one of these meetings—all of which are public—to witness local government in action.

But we urge you to become informed about the candidates and to vote your convictions at the two elections coming up. The persons seeking office are deserving of your attention, consideration and support.

Ready For A Blow

Tornado time is any time during the spring, summer and fall months in Minnesota. Sophisticated weather detection equipment has now made the "weather watch" a common occurrence on radio and television stations—almost to the extent that it is frequently dismissed as just another announcement.

But tornadoes are nothing to ignore and precautions should be taken in advance to be ready for a blow. The following 13-point tornado survival plan is prepared by WCCO radio in Minneapolis and is applicable to this area as well as metropolitan Minnesota:

(1) Listen to your radio for official tornado watches and warnings, and take them seriously. You usually will first hear that a tornado "Watch" is in effect. This means tornadoes may occur. A tornado "Warning" is broadcast when a tornado actually strikes.

(2) Stay indoors. Wind-driven objects are your greatest danger outdoors.

(3) In your home, go to a storm cellar or basement if you can. The Southwest corner is usually the safest. If there is time, open the windows about an inch on the side of the home or mobile home away from the approaching storm to reduce air pressure inside.

(4) In office buildings, plan to go to an interior hallway or the lowest floor, or to the designated shelter area.

(5) In shopping centers, go to the designated shelter area...NOT to your parked car.

(6) In schools, follow advanced plans to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Avoid auditorium's, gymnasiums and large open rooms with poorly supported roofs.

(7) In your car, drive away from the path of the tornado at a right angle. Go to low, dry ground for shelter from wind-driven objects. Avoid overhead wires.

(8) If caught outdoors, lie down flat on the ground. A dry roadside ditch or plow furrow gives you some protection.

(9) MOTHER...STAY CALM! Know where the kids are during a tornado watch. Be sure they know your plans for emergency action. Keep the path to the basement handy.

(10) Know where and how to shut off your electrical power and gas. Do not touch broken wires.

(11) Know the names of counties, towns and the number of main highways around you, expecially if you're traveling. This will help you interpret weather information.

(12) If you own a mobile home, take steps to properly block and tie it down NOW.

(13) When you hear Civil Defense sirens, turn on your radio for official tornado "Watch" and "Warning" information.

Electric Auto Use

Following up-date on experimental electric vehicles comes to us by way of "Electric World" magazine and the "Minnkota Messenger":

An electric delivery van that reportedly can be operated for as little as one-sixth the cost of conventional gasoline-powered vehicles is now being produced by Otis Elevator Company.

The first van designed for commercial use should be ready by this summer from the firm's Special Vehicle Division, in Stockton, Calif.

Energy costs for the vehicles are expected to be between one cent and 1½ cents-mile, compared to six cents to 10 cents-mile for gasoline-powered vehicles, Otis says.

The electric van, an adaption of the electric delivery vehicle Otis developed for the United States Postal Service, has a 30-hp electric motor powered by 16 6-v lead-acid batteries. It weighs 3,700 pounds, has a cargo space of 70 cubic feet and carries a payload of 750 pounds.

Total range of the vehicle is about 50 miles, at speeds of up to 45 mph. without recharge or battery change. The vehicle can climb a 5 per cent grade at 30 mph and a 20 per cent grade at 16 mph. it is recharged, usually overnight or during other off-peak hours, by plugging into a 220-v outlet.

The van, constructed of double-wall, weather-resistant fiberglass, comes with right or lefthand drive and six-ply radial tires. Wheel base is 96 inches, overall length 138 inches and width 62 inches.

The van has a turning radius of 37.5 feet. The vehicle also is available in different configurations: pickup, side-loading van, rear-loading van or flatbed truck.

In development over 2½ years, the Otis electric van was first tested by Dynamic Science, an independent testing laboratory in Phoenix, Ariz. Later the postal version was used on mail routes in Santa Ana, Calif., and is being used in Stockton by the Postal Service.

The initial Otis production run is 50 vehicles, all of which have already been sold. The firm plans to produce 400 by the end of the year. Ten of the initial 50 vehicles have been purchased by Otis itself: with one of the largest service fleets in the world, it will use the electric vehicles to carry service supplies and personnel around major metropolitan areas.

The van costs about $8,000, according to Jim Munn, general manager of the Stockton plant. Munn says maintenance costs will run only about 25 per cent of those for a comparable internal-combustion vehicle.

He describes the vehicle as especially suited for short-haul deliveries in urban areas, for delivery on pre-determined routes.

Borrowed Nonsense

Leaving the railroad station, the visitor herded his children onto the sidewalk and called to the cab driver, "How much to take the whole family to the zoo!"

The cab driver, recognizing a bargain hunter, replied: "It'll be three dollars each for you and your wife. The four kids can all ride free."

"That's mighty nice of you," the visitor said. Turning to the children he ordered: "Pile in, kids. Your ma and I will go by subway."

ENERGY
Agricultural Extension Service

You're wasting money and valuable energy if your refrigerator isn't operating efficiently, says Wanda Olson, extension household equipment specialist at the University of Minnesota.

She suggests vacuuming or brushing condenser fins and coils located either at the back or bottom front of the refrigerator. Dust accumulations force your unit to work harder for each degree of cooling.

Leaky door gaskets also waste energy. Olson suggests two tests for gasket tightness. If your unit fails the tests, you can purchase new gaskets at an appliance dealer and replace them yourself.

Close the refrigerator door on a piece of paper the thickness of a crisp dollar bill. When you try to remove the paper, there should be some resistance. A snug gasket won't permit you to pull the paper easily.

Place either a lighted flashlight or a 100 watt blub on a flat extension cord in the cabinet area facing the door. Close the door and turn off room lights. There should be no light escaping from the refrigerator.

If your refrigerator has an economy switch, turn it off during the winter when humidity is low and sweating is no problem. Unplug refrigerators when not in use because the low wattage heaters that prevent sweating on no-frost models operate even when the refrigerator is turned off.

Other energy-saving tips for home equipment operation are found in Home Economics—Family Living Face Sheet 31, "Energy Consumption of Refrigerators, Freezers, and Ranges" available from the Bulletin Room, 3 Coffey Hall, University of Minnesota, St. Paul.

A kilowatt hour of electricity—most consumers know it only as the mysterious unit whose total determines the monthly electric bill.

But with energy in short supply, it's important to realize what a kilowatt hour of electricity means to your appliances and how much its squandering costs, says Wanda Olson, extension household equipment specialist at the University of Minnesota.

"Used carefully, a kilowatt hour of electricity can cook a lot of food," she says. "In an electric range, it takes about ½ kilowatt hour to heat your oven to 350-400 degrees and another ½ kilowatt hour to keep it at that temperature for 30 to 45 minutes. This can bake a cake or casserole or several foods that cook in the oven at the same time and temperature."

Although surface units on your range vary in size and energy consumption, four average small units (1,200 watts) will use a kilowatt hour of electricity at high heat for 10 to 12 minutes or at a high setting for three to four minutes and turned back to simmer to complete cooking for about ½ hour. Bringing foods to a boil at high heat and then simmering until done will save energy, the specialist adds.

Saving a single kilowatt hour of electricity daily will save you about $11 a year on electricity charges based on present Northern States Power company rates of about three cents per kilowatt hour. NSP estimates that if each of its customers used one kilowatt hour of electricity less each day, it would save 350 tons of coal each year that otherwise would go to generate electricity.

An average Twin Cities area residence uses about 7,000 kilowatt hours of electricity each year, NSP says. Frostless refrigerator, freezers, color television sets, ranges and clothes driers are among the most energy-hungry appliances. A home with all of them will use about 6,100 kilowatt hours of electricity each year just to power those four appliances.

NSP says during the winter you probably use about 10 kilowatt hours a month to light each room in your house. A five-room house will need 50 kilowatt hours each month for lights. The longer daylight hours in the summer reduce lighting needs, according to NSP statistics.

Land O'Lakes To Seek Increase In Milk Support

Land O'Lakes, Inc., has requested U. S. secretary of agriculture Earl Butz to raise immediately the support price of milk to 90 per cent of parity from the present 80 per cent.

The Minneapolis-based farmer cooperative claims that the dairy industry is in serious financial trouble and that it has been put into this position by the government's refusal to raise the support level as previously requested and by permitting foreign countries to dump overquota quantities of highly subsidized butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk on the domestic market.

In a telegram sent April 30 to secretary Butz, Melvin Sprecher, chairman of the board of Land O'Lakes and a dairy farmer from Sauk City, Wis., said,

"We are deeply concerned about the impact of recent market price declines for butter (10-½ cents) and cheese (6 cents) on milk prices to producers. They call for immediate action to prevent milk prices from dropping further below costs of production. Dairymen today are faced with 40 per cent higher feed costs and sharply higher costs for fuel, fertilizer, labor, machinery and equipment than a year ago.

"Those cost increases have resulted in milk production declining for 17 consecutive months and a milk-feed ratio of 1.48 in March, below the unusually low level of last year when milk production declined four per cent. Declining milk prices today will cause the ratio to fall even further in coming months, resulting in reduced production, tighter milk supplies this fall, and then price increases to consumers. We cannot afford to let this occur at a time when there is an urgent need to increase milk production, restore the confidence of dairymen, and responsibly supply established markets with domestic produced products rather than price-depressing, subsidized imports. Therefore, we urge you to immediately increase price supports for milk to 90 per cent of parity and check this deteriorating condition.

"Increasing milk price supports at this time would level prices, improve production incentives, and result in a more orderly marketing of milk and milk products. Furthermore, this action would be in the best long term interests of providing an adequate and continuing supply of dairy products to consumers at reasonable prices while providing fair prices to producers."

Unusually excessive dairy imports now on the market, coupled with seasonally increased domestic milk production, has caused a decline in market prices and prices paid to dairy farmers, according to Arthur Jepsen, Land O'Lakes senior vice president.

Jepsen said, "The nonfat dry milk market is softening, and in the last two weeks cheese has dropped six cents a pound on the commodity market. Butter has dropped 10-½ cents, and we're now approaching the point where milk prices could decline to the present price support level of $6.57. At that level the government would be purchasing dairy products.

"Time and again we advised the secretary of agriculture and various government agencies that this would happen if the price support level were not raised and if dairy imports were allowed to continue to flood our markets. They failed to respond and now dairy farmers are being hurt unnecessarily."

The effect of reduced prices paid for milk at a time of high production costs will be further demoralizing for dairy farmers, according to Jepsen. "We've already seen many farmers leave dairying or cut back on production and we're likely to see more. The farmers' faith in dairying must be restored and the government can begin doing that immediately by raising the support price for milk to 90 per cent of parity."

IN REHEARSAL for the fine arts festival to be held Tuesday beginning at 8 p.m. in the Goodridge high school gymnasium is the high school choir under the direction of Jim Long. The choir will open the festival at 8 p.m. with a style show by the home economics department and a concert by the school band to follow. Highway Dep't. Names Regional Coordinators

Named as coordinators to provide liaison with outstate Minnesota's 12 regional development commissions—to provide them with whatever transporation planning expertise they might desire—were seven regional highway district office engineers, state highway commissioner Ray Lappegaard announced recently.

Region one consists of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk and Norman counties. Region two consists of Lake of the Woods, Beltrami, Mahnomen, Clearwater and Hubbard. Coordinator for the commissions is J. R. J. Isaacson, Bemidji.

In the Twin Cities the Metropolitan Council acts as the regional development commission for the seven-county area. It will be served by engineering specialists from the Highway Department's St. Paul Central Office, Lappegaard said.

In designating engineers in seven highway District Offices to maintain liaison with the 12 outstate Regional Development Commissions, Minnesota Highway Commissioner Ray Lappegaard pledged that his department will do its best to provide the commissions with whatever transporation planning expertise they may require.

"We recognize that transportation planning—our field—is subordinate to comprehensive planning," he said, "and comprehensive planning is going to be the role of individual communities through their regional development commissions."

Quoting a Minnesota land-use report prepared for the state in 1971 by Dr. John C. Borchert and Donald D. Carroll of the University of Minnesota, he said the road network is, and will continue to be, the most important factor in shaping economic development and population distribution.

Ultimately, each regional commission will determine its own growth plan, endorse the plans of the other commissions, and these separate plans—including transporation plans and priorities—will become the state plan, the commissioner explained.

"We have stated our willingness to be as helpful to the regional commissions as we can," he said. "We can do a good job for them in this business of transporation. We would like them to tell us what they need, what they want, what they desire. We will do our best to provide it," he concluded.

Shower The Bride

Bridal showers! What a wonderful tradition — both for the bride and guests! If you're the hostess, consider serving this super elegant bridal loaf. It looks and tastes heavenly but is devilishly easy to do. Two of the fillings are made with already prepared canned meat spreads; you simply add some delicious touches. The third filling is basically cheese. Frost and decorate with a pastry tube.

What a delicious way to say "Best Wishes" to the bride!

BRIDAL SHOWER LOAF

Cut crusts from 2 loaves unsliced bread and slice horizontally into 4 slices. Spread bottoms with mixture of: one 4½ ounce can deviled ham, 2 tablespoons sweet onion relish, 1 tablespoon each mustard and mayonnaise. Top with second slices and mixture of: 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese, 1½ ounces cream cheese, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, ¼ cup finely chopped walnuts and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Top with third slices and mixture of: one 4¾ ounce can chicken spread, ¼ cup chopped mandarin oranges, 2 tablespoons sour cream, ¼ cup chopped celery. Close with remaining slices of bread.

Frost with a mixture of: two 8 ounce packages cream cheese and ½ cup light cream. For the decorations, combine two 8 ounce packages cream cheese and ½ cup light cream. Tint with food coloring and pipe through a pastry tube. Makes two bridal loaves.

STRANDQUIST . .

It was a rainy day on Thursday, May 2, when the Senior Citizens met at the Legion Hall, which we also call the Center. Twenty-two registered, so the rain didn't stop them. We also had visitors, Clara Nelson, Evelyn Lefrooth, Mrs. Donald Lefrooth, Melaine and Greg, Mrs. Wally Onger, Wayne and Richjeanna, Mrs. Vernon Storeby, and Elmer Holmstrom. The men played cards. The women? Their work went on as usual, finishing touches were put on sofa pillows, and Bertha and Anna Holmstrom made some more rats. Some of our friends sought and bought. The Center has a lot of things that can be sold at any time. Irene Larson addressed two cards which we all signed. One was to Mrs. E. R. Anderson, who is a patient at the Karlstad hospital, and to Violet Lundstrom of Grygla. Mrs. Elmer Holmstrom won the door prize donated by Ruth Anderson. Mrs. Anna Brekke was the hostess.

Mrs. Donald Nelson, Mrs. Irene Larson, and Mildred Nelson were visitors with Violet Lundstrom at Grygla to help her celebrate her birthday on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Donald Nelson and children were overnight guests at the Irene Larson home on Saturday and along with the Donald Larson family were dinner guests on Sunday.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

Why are we being fooled about federal aid to education? This is a good question in a day when school districts all over the country are turning to Washington for extra money. It is a particularly good question when the House has just passed an $18 billion appropriation over the next four years to add to the $13 billion it already has spent on elementary and secondary education.

The pressure on the school boards is that they need this money to operate all the programs that education planners say are necessary. There are some serious questions about all this. The reports seem to indicate that the quality of education has not been improved by federal grants. It is interesting to note how those who pushed for these programs now see total failure in much of Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) in the last eight years.

I remember quite well how these programs were introduced to financially hardpressed school boards. The Head Start program came earlier and is a good example. The idea was that it would teach those on "the other side of the tracks" how to be prepared for school as well as those from across "the tracks" from them.

In my old school district, however, the big problem was to be sure just where those tracks ran. Some taxpayers thought their children should be included because they were the poorest. The carrot and the stick method was used by offering $17,000 if we would put up $30,000. The offer was refused as long as I was chairman of the school board, but later it was accepted and the expense was more than was expected.

I never found out if these "underprivileged" children learned to read better than their older brothers or sisters. Since then some research has been done on the subject and I would like to quote from an excellent report by Solveig Eggerz, Human Events Apr. 27, 1974:

In this article Miss Eggerz quotes Harvard sociologist, Christopher Jencks, who said, "While some short-term evaluations of Title I programs have shown gains in achievement, these gains have proven to be temporary in nature. Most importantly, the average inner-city child continues to drop farther behind the national norm, whether he has been in a Title I program or not."

Rep. Roman Pucinski (D.-IL) called the program "A monumental flop." He was one of the sponsors of this bill.

The American Institute for Research, March, 1972, found that "ESEA Title I has never been implemented as intended by Congress and that there is little evidence that the national level that the programhas had any positive impact on eligible and participating children."

Rep. Edith Green (D.-OR), a noted educational expert and a strong supporter of government aid to schools, said: "I . . .realize with much pain that billions of federal tax dollars have not brought the significant improvement we anticipated. There are even signs that we may be losing ground. What has gone wrong?"

In my opinion the problem is not that something has gone wrong with the program, but rather that federal aid to education was wrong in the first place. It is quite possible that by taxing the people less at the federal level, there might be more for the local school districts to tax for themselves. Washington should get out of it before all those programs make our education problem a mockery. There is no substitute for a good teacher being left alone to teach as he or she sees fit. In the process our children might get a better education.

As middle income people all over the U.S. tighten their belts to survive in a period of the worst inflation in our history, one can rightly wonder when the reaction will happen. It is not as popular today as it was 15 years ago to be enthusiastic for big government programs.

The enchanting nature of a give away program has lost its shine for those who have to pay up every April 15. Gradually the worker has come to realize that these schemes are not for him, but against him. He resents the welfare cheat and mutters under his breath all sorts of nasty thoughts.

A recent survey reported in Human Events, March 9, indicates that as of now conservatives make up 34 per cent of the U.S. population, moderates 41 per cent and liberals a small minority of just 18 per cent. Saying it another way, the Republicans claim 55 per cent as conservative and 30 per cent as moderates, while the Democrats claim only 22 per cent as conservatives and 29 per cent as liberal with 47 per cent making up the remainder as moderates.

What it means is a decided shift away from the New Deal, and the New Frontier type of liberal who came with a solution for every problem and a few extra where no problem existed. The main reason given by former liberals was the economic pressure. They said it was a need to save money.

I believe there are more than economic reasons for this shift. One is the threat to religious and private social action charities. It is obvious that if the tax bite goes up, there won't be enough dollars left after paying living expenses for people to give to their favorite charity. It is also apparent that in spite of the most extravagant, wasteful and senseless spending by government, there are real and definite human needs that government will never touch.

Working people are not misers, as the record will show. In 1972, with individual contributors being the biggest source of charitable giving, the total was $22.5 billion. In 1973 despite inflation and economic problems, americans gave a record $24.5 billion to charity. This was an increase of 9 per cent in 1973 by individuals. (U.S. News and World Report, Apr. 8, 1974)

Politically, the trend—at least the part we hear and read—is away from extreme liberal projects. For example, the Kennedy health program which is a total socialized type of a plan is all but dead in the Senate committee for this year. This doesn't mean Senator Kennedy doesn't want total government medicine, but as a practical politician, he knows it doesn't have a chance now of getting on the floor for a vote. This was not true a few years ago when the sponsors of Medicare and Medicaid predicted a total plan for all ages.

In the religious world, there are articles and surveys indicating that conservative or fundamentalist churches are more successful than the large denominations who have recently been dominated by social action leaders. Instead of great strides forward the socialistic attitude in many churches has produced less support than expected. As a result, many of these churches are having a real struggle with their finances.

In my opinion, there is a great majority of working people who are conservative in the way they live and think. As yet this trend is not reflected in our voting habits.

THE VOICE OF BUSINESS

by Arch N. Booth

Executive Vice President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Has the Presidency become too powerful? Is Congress acting to "regain" its "lost" power?

Many commentators have been speculating lately that the answer to both those questions is yes. I'd like to agree, but I don't.

Modern Presidents and modern Congresses have worked tirelessly to expand the power of the Presidency, although for quite different reasons. The outcome of these efforts, however, is not a more powerful Presidency, but a more powerful bureaucracy; a monster which Presidents find themselves unable, and Congresses unwilling, to control.

This has happened because Congress has developed and refined several ingenious mechanisms which allow the congressmen to take credit for "doing something" about a problem, while escaping blame if the "something" that's done proves unpopular with the voters.

The tactic is recommended by Nicolo Machiavelli in his famous book on statecraft, "The Prince". The wise ruler, he says, should always do himself those things that will be popular with his subjects and delegate to others the execution of those acts which are necessary, but unpopular.

Congress uses three principal devices to achieve this end. The first, and most classic, is over-appropriation. More money is voted for a program than is prudent. Thus, Congress gets credit with voters who support the program, while it is left to the President to point out that there is not enough money to do everything Congress has mandated. This leaves a President looking like a pinchpenny, even though he may be exercising greater responsibility in the public interest than Congress.

The second device is simply to give the President more power than he wants. Congress is then free to blame him if he does not use the delegated authority, and also free to blame him if he uses the authority and such use turns out to be unpopular. Wage-price controls were set up this way.

The third device is the regulatory agency. These agencies—such as the federal communications commission, the environmental protection agency, and so on—occupy a unique position in the federal government. Technically they are "creatures of Congress" empowered to do certain things that Congress would do itself, if it had the time. As such, they are delegated broad "rule-making" authority that actually amounts to law-making authority.

Nevertheless, although they are supposed to be an arm of the legislature, they look more like an arm of the executive branch. And while the President does not exercise direct control over them, he does appoint their policy-making officers, albeit with the advice and consent of the Senate and within certain guidelines.

In recent years, Congress has learned to use the creation of new regulatory agencies with maximum political skill.

Thus, when the voters demand that something be done about pollution, Congress establishes the environmental protection agency—and takes the credit. When the EPA, following its mandate from Congress, proposes extreme measures to force people to stop driving into cities with an air quality problem, Congress looks on in mock horror and blames it all on "those crazy bureaucrats."

Same thing with the gasoline allocation formula that has caused so much trouble around the country. The federal energy office knows it's a terrible system, wants to abandon it, is taking the heat for it...but the fact is, the decision was made in Congress, not the FEO. How many voters know that?

There are a few faint signs Congress is having second thoughts about the wholesale delegation of its powers, though not enough yet to be sure it's a trend. If the congressmen are really serious, they can first regain control of the federal budget by passing the budget reform bill, S. 1541. Keep an eye on that.

Until then, I'll not shed any years for Congress. Any power the members have lost, they have lost willingly. They can get it back, whenever they are willing to take back the responsibility that must accompany the exercise of power.

Are prices going through the roof when our ill-starred economic controls end? I don't think so. The danger is very small, especially if both business and labor show some statesmanlike restraint.

I can't honestly say that our current high rate of inflation is going to subside soon. But I don't think it'll get much worse. Not unless election year politics boost federal spending enough to stimulate it.

Some prices and some wages will go up. Had it not been for the controls, these adjustments would have occured in small steps over the years and been scarcely noticeable. Now, however, where pressure has built up under the control lid there are some large gaps between what is and what should be.

These gaps will have to be closed. But I hope business and labor will share with the consuming public whatever hardship that closing entails by spacing out the adjustments over a reasonable period of time, rather than trying to catch up overnight. Many businesses have promised to cooperate.

Why don't I foresee big price changes?

First, most of the economy is already out from under controls. Major sectors of the economy, such as small business and raw agricultural products, were exempted from controls at the outset. And, the controls have been progressively relaxed since their imposition in August of 1971. As of April 1, 1974, only about 24 per cent of the items in the consumer price index were still covered.

Second, there is at present neither vast pent-up demand nor high liquidity in the business and consumer sectors—two conditions that caused the explosive price outbreak at the end of World War II controls.

Third, I think we have already seen the worst of the fuel price increases. Further fuel price increases will be limited by buyer resistance as well as by increased supplies.

Fourth, the outlook for agricultural products is more promising than last year. Adverse weather conditions that limited crops in 1972 and 1973 are not expected to recur this year. A good harvest will hold down food prices.

There are some other factors, but those are the major ones.

On the other hand, if Congress follows the advice of House Speaker Carl Albert and the Democrats on the congressional joint economic committee, then all bets are off.

These men are calling for a tax cut and stepped up federal spending.

It's easy to follow their reasoning. People would begin to feel the benefits of a tax cut—and the federal give-away programs—close enough to the election to be in a grateful frame of mind when they enter the voting booth. The inflation caused by these measures would not show up until later, safely after the election.

Our inflation results from the following process: (1) Federal expenditures exceed federal revenues (taxes). (2) Instead of raising taxes or cutting spending, the government borrows money to make up the difference. The enormous government borrowing dries up the supply of money available to other borrowers. The resulting shortage of money raises its price (interest rate) to everyone. (3) The high interest rates depress business activity—especially housing construction—and prevent home buyers from getting mortgages. (4) To avoid a recession and take the pressure off housing, the federal reserve creates more money, so there will be more available to borrowers. At this point, the supply of money is increasing faster than the supply of things to spend it on. So, the price of everything goes up—there's more money to spread around over the same number of products.

If you follow this chain of causation back through its steps, you can see that the cure for inflation must involve some combination of unpleasant medicine: Less federal spending higher taxes, a business recession or high interest rates.

I'm sorry I can't paint a rosier picture of the cure for inflation, but at least I am telling you the truth. Not everyone will be. Beware the politician on the corner who offers candy if you'll go with him—his motives are not pure.

Seven Candidates Seek Posts On Dist. 564 Board

Election of three members to the Thief River Falls board of education will take place on Tuesday, May 21, with polling places to be open from 4 to 8 p.m. at Lincoln high school, Franklin middle school and St. Hilaire elementary school.

All three incumbents on the school board have filed for reelection. They are Curtis L. Charlson, currently serving as board chairman; Rev. Paul Biegner, treasurer; and Maynard Wedul, a previous board chairman.

Also seeking school board posts are Larry McDowell, attorney; Irvin Schmitke, station agent for North Central Airlines; Merle Kruschke, instructor at Northland community college; and Robert Sorvig, St. Hilaire area farmer and businessman.

At the invitation of the Times, each of the candidates has prepared a brief background or position statement on his candidacy. Those statements are published in this issue of the Times—a week ahead of the election—to permit readers to make comparisons of candidates, discuss them with their friends, neighbors or business associates, and reach a decision as to how they will vote next Tuesday.

To further assist voters in becoming familiar with candidates, the School District 564 Parent and Teacher association will hold a candidate night Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Northland community college. All candidates have been invited to participate and state their views prior to a public question and answer session. Only written questions will be used, and they may be prepared in advance or written at the meeting.

Donald Schoonhoven, PTA president, will preside at the session and moderate the question and answer period. Coffee will be served at the conclusion of the program. Persons who have questions about how a candidate feels on certain areas of school policy and program are encouraged to attend and have their questions answered.

Due to front page space restrictions, summaries by the candidates in today's issue are continued on another page. It is hoped that readers will read all of the articles in their entirety. The editor thanks the candidates for their cooperation in responding to the invitation to participate. The space is made available by this newspaper on a public service basis in the expectation that a better informed public will be most likely to select the best candidates for office.

Rev. Paul Biegner

I am a Minnesotan by choice, having lived in Thief River Falls for the past 11 years. Reared and educated in New York, I pastored a three-congregation parish in north-central Minnesota for six years before coming to St. John Lutheran church of Thief River Falls at Easter of 1963.

Elected to the school board in 1971, I have served as treasurer of the school district since January of 1973. I am running as an experienced candidate. Experience is needed for a school district with 210 teachers, nine administrators, 101 other employees, a payroll of $3.2 million and a total budget of over $4.9 million.

In the 1971 election I raised the question: "What are we getting for what we've put in?" Happily in 1974 we are getting better quality education than in 1971, at much lower cost.

The compelling factor in my candidacy for the school board, three years ago, was the deterioration of the morals in the administration in the junior high school—with resulting loss of morale in general. That matter was corrected; but the necessity of maintaining a standard of justice, morality and fairness remains. We cannot expect students to comply with rules and regulations unless the administration and teachers first set an example themselves of abiding by the high standard of justice and fairness.

The open meeting for the school board has developed in the last 3 years to a point where there are no longer secret meetings of any kind. In addition, this year, any member of the public has been given the opportunity to bring any matter he so desires, before the board, at any meeting. It is an excellent way to call the board's attention to problems in the

My candidacy is based on a belief that the DFL and liberal voters of the district should have a voice on the school board. I would like to be that voice. My platform is primarily philosophical in nature and is set forth in short-range and long-range goals as follows:

Short-Range Goals

Improvement of Teacher-Parent-Administrative-Student Relationships—It strikes me as ironic that when a child is not performing satisfactorily in the classroom a report is sent to the parents. However, when the child

I am a candidate for the board of education of School District 564 because I am concerned about the education that my son, Baird, and the other children of this school district will receive. My concern is that the quality of education in this district is maintained, but at the same time that we do not unnecessarily spend money which the people of this district are taxed to provide.

My qualifications begin with the fact that since coming to Thief River Falls in 1968 I have been active in the community. I have been a member of the local Jaycees executive board, Evangelical Covenant church board, Falls Day Activity center board and Thief River Falls camp of Gideons, Inter-national.

In recent months I have also had the opportunity to serve as chairman of School District 564 health curriculum study committee. In addition, my wife, the former Ruth Brodin, is a life long

I have served three years in the U.S. Army-Airborne division, European theater. I have been employed by Erie Mining company of Hoyt Lakes, attended McConnell Airline school of Minneapolis, and was employed by Eastern Airlines in Chicago, Ill., before moving to Thief River Falls with North Central airlines.

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for this opportunity to write to the people of our district.

I have lived in Pennington county all of my life. My wife Shirley and I have been married 25 years come September of 1974. We have six children: Ronald, a graduate of Concordia college in 1973, presently employed at St. Hilaire Supply company; Debra, who has just completed her junior year at Concordia; Scott, who is completing his second year at Crookston Tech; Steven, who is a senior and Mark a ninth grader at Lincoln; and Carol, who is a 5th grader at St. Hilaire.

We are members of the Black River Lutheran church where I now serve on the church board and am completing my 19th year of teaching in the Sunday church school. I am a certified assessor for the state of Minnesota, having passed the exam a year ago. I am a property owner and also work at the St. Hilaire Supply company

I was graduated from Lincoln high school in 1948. After going to Moorhead state college for four years I served seven years as a pilot in the U.S. Air Force. In 1959 we moved back to Thief River Falls and I have been in business for myself since that time.

I am married and we have three children: Dean, 15 years; Karen, 10 years; and infant daughter Kristine. My wife is a registered nurse and worked at Northwestern hospital until July of 1973.

At the present time I am serving as a director on the Thief River Falls board of education. I have completed over five years of service on the board. I have been treasurer for two years and served as chairman for one year.

Mediation Asked By Union For School Workers

Mediation service was requested by the Teamsters union representing custodians, bus drivers, cooks, mechanics and other non-certified school personnel during the last negotiations with the Thief River Falls board of education.

The union had requested a 20 per cent increase in salaries and the board had countered with a 4.5 per cent increase. A mediator will be assigned by the state mediation board. Mediation is not binding on either party.

Public Service Commission To Hold Hearings

Three hearings pertaining to Thief River Falls have been scheduled by the public service commission. One will be held tomorrow (Tuesday) at the Pennington county courthouse. Others will be held June 18 at the Polk county courthouse and June 20 at the city auditorium in Roseau.

The largest contract was awarded to Elgin Loeffler of Thief River Falls for bituminous surfacing of County Road 23. Loeffler's bid was $174,504.40 and was the lowest of three bids. The highest bid was $187,847.88 with the second bid only about $2,000 lower than the highest bid.

Thygeson construction company of Middle River was awarded the contract for widening County Road 23. Six bids were received for this project with Thygeson's bid of $56,811.12 as the lowest. The next bid was nearly $12,000 higher at $68,039.

Kitchen Karnival

by Ellen M. Spray

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

of rural Thief River Falls

Television ruined my Mother's day. The morning was beautiful. I awoke a little earlier than usual for a Sunday morning, but I didn't mind as after days of rain, the sunshine streaming through the curtains was most welcome. As I walked into the kitchen to make breakfast, I flipped on the television. The two men on the screen were strangers, and I was about to change channels when one said, "The next picture you are about to see is of a baby 18 weeks after conception. The child was alive, but as is the practice in abortion, no attempt was made to save its life." The following 30 minutes were filled with pictures of babies in various stages of growth, babies whose mothers...no, not mothers but rather women who didn't want to become mothers...had willfully ended their lives. Pictures were shown of babies that were dismembered or burned with saline solution during the process of abortion. The last picture was of four babies in a garbage bag, the results of a morning's work in an abortion ward.

The commentator stated that some hospitals are beginning a course in training nurses for abortion duty as many nurses, who have been trained to save lives, are leaving the nursing field rather than to assist in abortions.

Throughout the day as I heard pastors, soloists and children extoling mothers, the pictures seen on television would flash through my mind. Somehow everything was out of focus. How can motherhood be extolled one day and the practice of abortion condoned the next?

Abortion is murder in the first degree since the death of the child is premeditated. Anyone having or assisting with an abortion, unless it is to save the life of the mother, should be faced with a murder charge.

How can we, as a nation, expect to receive God's blessings when we have laws permitting murder?

The pictures shown on television should be shown in every high school and college, and especially to every woman or girl planning to have an abortion. Maybe it would stop the senseless murder of innocent victims.

(Again, there has been some confusion as to who actually writes these articles. Check the top of the column. Only the recipe is contributed by the woman indicated.)

Mrs. Tim Breiland of rural Thief River Falls contributed today's recipe. As I went to work this morning, I noticed our rhubarb is ready to use. Plans are to try the recipe tonight. Thanks Mrs. Breiland for adding another recipe to my rhubarb collection.

Rhubarb cake

1½ cups sugar
½ cup shortening
1 egg
1 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups chopped rhubarb
About 2 cups flour

Mix well and pour into a 9 x 12 inch pan. Top with a mixture of ½ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 35 to 45 minutes. May be served as a dessert with whipped cream. This is a moist cake.

The Tim Breilands live on a dairy farm. They have two sons: Bill and Ronald, at home, and three married daughters: Carol Poppenhagem of Minneapolis, Kathy Carlson of rural Thief River Falls, and Barbara Sorenson of Viking. They also have six grandchildren.

Mrs. Breiland stated that she has many interests and enjoyed several hobbies, but washing milkers wasn't one of them. (Don't we all have some special chore that we don't like?)

The Breilands are members of Redeemer Lutheran church.

THESE SENIORS at Lincoln high school were among the recipients of class personality awards presented at the senior banquet Tuesday night. WCTU District Seven Convention Held In Bemidji "Priorities for Victory" was the theme of the District Seven North, 41st annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held May 4 at the Evangelical Covenant church in Bemidji.

The theme was stressed at both the morning and afternoon devotional meditations, given by Mrs. Wesley Simonson, a former missionary to Japan, and by Elder Wesley Brown. At the morning session, Mrs. Simonson emphasized the theme by reading Psalm 91:1-2; Col. 2:6-7; Psalm 31:20; and Matt. 23:37. Elder Brown, who spoke at the afternoon devotional, stated that although the cause of temperance is of universal interest, the first duty of everyone is for self development. No one can afford to cripple any part of his or her body or mind. He based his devotions on Rom. 5:1; Joshua 24:14-15; and I Cor. 10:31.

The guest speaker at the convention was the WCTU State Treasurer Mrs. Wilma Bodine. She stated that drunkenness is not a sickness since it is self-inflicted, does not spread by germs, and the product causing alcoholism requires a license to be sold. To illustrate the records, showing that women are rapidly becoming slaves to liquor, drugs and nicotine, she read the poem, "It was a sheep, not a lamb that went astray," and the leaflet, "What is the Difference," giving the information that there is the same amount of alcohol in wine and beer. Mrs. Bodine also reported on the work being done by Miss Helen Asker in the state legislative department and commended her for keeping the WCTU informed on current issues. She also urged everyone to write to the television stations protesting the cancellation of good programs and the showing of horror movies. To help in fighting the smoking habit, Mrs. Bodine said that non-smoker materials may be obtained by writing 614 Portland avenue, St. Paul.

Mrs. Paul Billberg of Wannaska was in charge of the Memorial service. Listed among the members who have died during the year was Mrs. Hannah Nelson of Thief River Falls. Tribute was also paid to State President Mrs. Violet Geary, who died in February of this year. A memorial from the district was given in her memory and it was noted that the poem that was published in her honor in the April issue of the White Ribbon, had been written by Mrs. Bodine.

The WCTU resolution was read by Secreatary Mrs. R. J. Thompson of Clearbrook. The resolution urged that each member should take the responsiblity of becoming aware of the various bills passed by the local, state and national law-making bodies and that each should make it their personal responsibility to write to the legislative bodies, protesting against: (1) alcoholic contents in foods, such as candy and soups, that are offered to the public; (2) against bills permitting dramatic and false advertising of alcoholic beverages, narcotics, drugs and tobacco; (3) against legislation permitting the alcoholic content of a driver to be more than 0.05 per cent; (4) against giving the students a right to smoke at the age of 18 with parental permission and by having attended a smoking education course; and (5) against men in office serving alcoholic beverages at public functions.

The resolution also urged the members to write to the Federal Communications commission at Washington, D. C., protesting the increased showing of obscenity and drinking on television programs; and to the Federal Aviation authority, asking a ban on all sales, services, and consumption of alcoholic beverages on commercial airlines.

Reports were given by unit presidents of the work in the district. It was noted that Wannaska led in youth work. Mrs. Robert McWaters of Crookston reported on the Youth Temperance council; Linda Billberg of Wannaska reported on the YTC camp and Diane Billberg gave the speech she will president at the Gold Medal contest.

In observance of the Centennial anniversary of the WCTU, Ada Haland traced the history of the organization from its founding in 1874, to the present time. Organizations are found in all English speaking countries with Australia and Canada having made the most effective advances.

At the election of district officers, conducted by Mrs. Bodine, all the officers were re-elected. They are Mrs. Gilbert Loe of Wannaska, president; Mrs. Robert McWaters of Crookston, vice president; Mrs. Arthur Grand of Roseau, treasurer; Mrs. R. J. Thompson of Clearbrook, secretary; and Mrs. Olga Austin of Roseau, promotion secretary. Mrs. Olga Peterson of Warren gave the election prayer. Mrs. William Scherling of Bemidji welcomed the guests. Mrs. Loe presided at the convention, and Roxanne Eggen and Gretchen Holzinger were the soloists.

The convention concluded with everyone joining hands and singing of they hymn, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

Thought For The Day

What is life all about? I came across an article by Erick Fromm, the social scientist, which helps eliminate some of the things it is not about.

Fromm, says there is a desperate crisis for man throughout western civilization. He maintains that man is not happy, that man has harnessed himself to the mad pursuit of things, that our whole civilization is based on the concept of man as a consumer, and that this will eventually destroy man.

To create more jobs, we must buy more consumer goods. To do this, we must drive ourselves to faster business successes, or we must go further into debt. Fromm says that man is whipping himself to the grave. He is a slave to the system. He is driving himself frantic. Human values are being lost. The system has become god.

What is left is the organizational man, the consumer man, the success man, the hollow man, the man who desperately wonders what has happened to the simple concept of peace in the world, in the nation, in the city, and in his own personal life.

—Rev. Keith Prekker

Mother

Yesterday was the Sunday set aside as the day to honor mothers, although they are deserving of recognition any day of the year. We liked this tribute which appeared in the Kittson County Enterprise:

The young mother set her foot on the path of life. "Is the way long?" she asked. And her guide said: "Yes. And the way is hard. And you will be old before you reach the end of it. But the end will be better than the beginning." But the young Mother was happy, and she would not believe that anything could be better than these years. So she played with her children, and gathered flowers for them along the way, and bathed with them in the clear streams; and the sun shone on them, and life was good, and the young Mother cried, "Nothing will ever be lovelier than this."

Then night came, and storm, and the path was dark, and the children shook with fear and cold, and the Mother drew them close and covered them with her mantle, and the children said, "Oh, Mother, we are not afraid, for you are near, and we know no harm can come," and the Mother said, "This better than the brightness of the day, for I have taught my children courage."

And the morning came, and there was a hill ahead, and the children climbed and grew weary, and the mother was weary, but all times she said to the children, "A little patience, and we are there." So the children climbed, and when they reached the top, they said, "We could not have done it without you Mother." and the Mother, when she lay down that night looked up at the stars, and said, "This is a better day than the last, for my children have learned fortitude in the face of hardness. Yesterday I gave them courage. Today I have given them strength."

And the next day came strange clouds which darkened the whole earth—clouds of war and hate and evil, and the children groped and stumbled, and the Mother said: "Look up. Lift your eyes to the light." And the children looked and saw above the clouds an Everlasting Glory, and it guided them and brought them beyond the darkness. And that night the Mother said, "This is the best day of all, for I have shown my children God."

And the days went on, and the weeks went on, and the years went on, and the Mother grew old, and she was little and bent. But her children were tall and strong, and walked with courage. And when the way was rough, they lifted her for she was as light as a feather, and at last they came to a hill, and beyond the hill they could see a shining road and golden gates flung wide.

And the Mother said: "I have reached the end of my journey. And now I know that the end is better than the beginning, for my children can walk alone, and their children after them.

And the children said: "You will always walk with us, Mother, even when you have gone through the Gates." And they stood and watched her as she went on alone, and the gates closed after her. And they said: "we cannot see her, but she is with us still. A mother like ours is more than memory. She is a Living Presence."

A Good Laugh

Want a good laugh? Take a good look at this: The Metro Tourist council describes the eight-county metropolitan area of Anoka, Carver, Dakota, Hennepin, Ramsey, Scott, Washington and Wright counties as "America's most perfect vacation place".

The council lays claim to that title by virtue of that area's 936 lakes, 500 parks, St. Croix and Mississippi rivers and many smaller streams, more than 100 golf courses, 200 tennis courts, 90 theaters, 39 playhouses, dozens of art galleries and museums, 27 ski slopes, 60 marinas and 155 boat launching sites, hundreds of hotels and motels and over 50 camping areas.

If you are one who likes to fish and swim in polluted water, wait in line at tennis courts, pay hundreds of dollars for golf club membership, watch a steady diet of X-rated movies, ogle modern art, invest a fortune in skiing equipment, put up the family in a $50 hotel room, tie your tent ropes to the next guy's tent pegs and fight traffic every time you want to go from one place to another—then that Metro area paradise may be your vacation mecca.

But if you're accustomed to the uncluttered travel and leisure activity which northern Minnesota has to offer, laugh with us over the modest Metro claim of perfection. Let's hope that no too many people learn the difference.

VD Awareness

Under sponsorship of the U.S., state and local Jaycees, May is being observed as "VD Awareness and Prevention Month". The local chapter is concerning itself primarily with distribution of informational literature through medical clinics, drug stores and the like. It doesn't hurt anyone of responsible age to have factual information about venereal disease.

But pardon us if we decline the invitation to beat the drums very loudly about the venereal disease "epidemic" which is reportedly sweeping the country. It isn't the same as smallpox or typhoid fever or mumps or measles. You don't contract VD on an accidental basis; you can't be an uninvolved, unsuspecting victim.

Venereal disease is spread in only one way—through intimate sexual contact. And don't tell us that the 650,000 persons who had reported cases of gonorrhea in 1971—or even the estimated two million not reported—didn't know how they got it. The same goes for carriers of syphilis, the other major venereal disease.

Majority of the persons afflicted by VD are in the 15 to 25 year age group—supposedly the best informed, most intelligent and socially aware group the world has ever known. So how come they're so stupid about VD?

Statistics show that VD has increased 78 per cent in the nation over the past six years. . . .and this among primarily the country's young people. The tragedy is that a disease which can be so easily avoided—and, for that matter, cured—has become an increasing problem.

We don't fault the Jaycees for taking on what they consider to be an important project. Perhaps they can work some good by concentrating attention on the increasing incidence of gonorrhea and syphilis. Maybe they can show the increasing difficulty of "beating the odds". And maybe than can better show that the dangers of VD are very real and physically damaging.

But we take issue with several statements in a "suggested editorial" which has been given to us for expected publication. Two of them are: "Everyone may not agree with the current morality and attitudes toward sex of our youth, but we cannot change them and we must meet young people on their terms if we are to reach them" and "Parents and teachers must change their attitudes toward both sex and youth".

It seems to us that the increasing problem with venereal disease is a result of a change in attitude rather than a reason for it. Acceptance of pre-marital sex and promiscuity, popularizing and publicizing "sleeping around" as part of the new freedom to "do your own thing", are at the base of the problem. If change is dictated it is to return to a much higher concept of morality and a restoration of personal worth and respect.

Education? Yes. Young people should be told that engaging in illicit, indiscriminate sexual ventures is an open invitation to contracting disease which can cause them severe physical and mental harm. They should learn what the diseases are called and what their dangers are. And, preferably, they should receive the information from a medical authority—not a social worker or teacher or clergyman or informed layman.

We feel that the public has no responsiblility for instructing young people or anyone else in methods of avoiding venereal disease while engaging in promiscuous behavior. We believe more concern should be given to developing attitudes which discourage such behavior.

Contrary to what that "suggested editorial" says, we can change the current morality and attitudes toward sex of our youth. To do it we need only to take responsible positions in our homes and public lives—all of us.

Borrowed Nonsense

Little Jimmy handed his father a note from his teacher. The parent read its contents, then glared.

"Jimmy," he snapped, "how does it happen you're at the bottom of your class?"

"Well," was the reply, "Tommy's usually at the bottom, but he's out sick."

7 Candidates Seek Positions On School Board

board, District 564 was deep in debt with $386,000 in current bills and payroll could not be met without going to the bank to borrow. On an accrued basis we were $600,000 in the red, and the school district was looking for a $1 million line of credit. Today Thief River Falls school district is solvent, and has all current bills paid.

Careful managment by superintendent and board, starting cost accounting, and increased state aids achieved this. As a result, the absolute ask for tax dollars has gone down from $1.9 to $1.6 million. While the school board could not reduce fixed costs such as bonded debt, we did reduce operational costs through effective management.

By example, for a Thief River Falls resident owning a $17,000 home the school portion of the tax bill has gone down over 50 per cent, from $326 in 1971 to $232 in 1973 and $158 in 1974. That record of reduced school taxes and careful management is one I am proud to be a part of.

(2) We Are Getting More For What We've Put In—Significant accomplishments in the past three years, to my mind, are these:

(a) Organized our schools on a K-5, 6-8 and 9-12 basis, thereby providing grade school library and art and music space, and providing added classrooms at Lincoln. All done without going to new building projects.

(b) Stressed reading in grade schools by hiring four reading specialists who divide time between slower learners and gifted students on a 85-15 per cent ratio. Underscored reading and strengthened study skills by authorizing one added grade school librarian for 1974-1975.

(c) Trhough Center school, Lincoln high students have a wider choice of vocational courses. In 1974 about 190 Lincoln students take auto body, auto mechanics, health services and personal services, sales and marketing courses. In 1971 no students were enrolled, for these courses weren't offered at Lincoln.

(d) With a look to the future, 18 teacher taskforces have made fine curriculum reports and recommendations to the board in the past year, at board invitation and request. The reports range from curriculum improvements to summer marching band to art and gifted and talented, from elementary reading and math to senior high English, from model office and social studies to horsemanship.

(e) At the area vocational-technical institute new programs have been added: Beef cattle specialist for area farmers, sales and marketing I and II and accounting II. The search is on for still more programs.

(f) Girls' athletic programs greatly expanded.

(g) Home ec and shop for both sixth grade girls and boys.

(h) Added two young women as counselors serving at middle school and senior high and AVTI to help with the problems of young women.

(i) Upgraded bus fleet for better rural service.

(j) Since spring of 1973 I have led the discussion of a teacher self-evaluation program designed to assist teachers toward continued growth in professional performanace. Blended with on-going review and evaluation by principals, this could be of great benefit to children and teachers.

I seek re-election as a concerned parent with children in Lincoln, Franklin and Knox schools. As a taxpayer who finds Thief River good to me and to my family, I will strive to be a fair, impartial member for all the people of the district, not a vestpocket member for special interests. Count on me to be tenacious about goalsetting and objectives, to stick to the issues, to disagree with ideas but not get disagreeable with people. As an experienced and fair-minded candidate concerned about pople, I would appreciate your support and vote.

school district of which the administration and the board are not aware, or have not been informed. I feel this policy should continue.

One of the complaints I heard before I went into office, was that favoritism in buying of school materials was shown. We now have a complete competitive bidding system in the district which gives everyone equal opportunity to obtain the contract at a competitive price. The saving has been considerable, and has eliminated any chance of kickback, graft or corruption. I feel it should be continued.

The academic courses have not been promoted as they should have been. We have introduced nine new vocational courses, which is exceptional. However, the library allowance has been cut 50 per cent over the last three years. Top priority should be given to a number of proposals now before the board, all dealing with academic education.

Of primary concern is the proposed reading program in elementary schools to update books that are 15 years old. The recommended English and communications courses for 11th and 12th grade are overdue; a program should be initiated in the 9th and 10th grade to develop more interest among these students in this department. An algebra program for the elementary school with considerable potential has been proposed as a pilot course at St. Hilaire. It should be adopted.

The family life program was endorsed by the Thief River Falls Ministerial association, as well as by every doctor in Thief River Falls. I agree. Teaching of anatomy is a part of the basic knowledge of life, necessary for an intelligent survival in society.

I appreciate that the evangelical congregations have disagreed, and I respect their beliefs. There are many very fine, intelligent and dedicated members among them, and in deference to them, if it is possible to include any course as an elective, I would certainly feel it should be handled in this manner. However, the material that will be used will not be offensive, or immoral, in any respect; every piece of material used will be reviewed by the board of education.

While it is helpful to use an advisory committee (as we do in many fields at the present time), the functions of each committee are advisory only. The responsibility to determine the material to be used rests solely with the members of the Board of Education. No board member has the right to delegate his obligation and responsibility to some other person.

Two members of the present board have indicated that we should have a new vocational building in a year or two. I am absolutely opposed to any building program within the forseeable future. The purchase of the building from Arctic Enterprises for $800,000 was for the purpose of solving our space needs, and it has done so. The removal of the 9th grade from Franklin junior high to Lincoln high school, and moving the 6th grade to Franklin middle school, alleviated the student crush; we need no new buildings. The expenditure to erect a new building, in my opinion, is unrealistic, and will result in deterioration of our whole school program.

The method of financing the school programs has changed considerably in the last three years. We are now limited by the legislature to a six per cent levy increase. The state now assumes most of the tax bill. For two years, including this year, the school programs have resulted in a substantial drop in the local tax levy. However, the problem now is to maintain a good educational system with only a six per cent increase as allowed by law. Fuel oil, gasoline and supplies have all increased in price over the six per cent limit. The administrators, teachers, custodians, bus drivers, food service personnel, mechanics and secretaries are all entitled to a raise—as others are—in this inflationary period.

The solution is not to allocate so much in salary increases that we are unable to continue a meaningful education for the students—which is the fundamental purpose of school. The ability to make the money stretch to cover all of the expenses, without curtailing our educational programs, is the greatest problem facing the board and community.

is performing satisfactorily, no such communication is sent. The general assumption seems to be that the school takes credit for success and the parents get blamed for failure. Might I suggest that the interaction process among parents-teachers-administrators and students is much more complex than seems to be recognized.

Humanizaton of the Educational Process—State department of education recertification requirements are quite specific in regard to human relations training for teachers and administrators as a means of eliminating degrading, dehumanizing and prejudicial behavior in our schools. I believe the district should have an ongoing human relations program as an integral part of the education process. Physical, verbal and discriminatory abuse of students must not be tolerated any longer.

Cost of Living Increase and Decrease Clauses in Contracts for School Personnel—Recognition that pay rates must keep pace with economic indicators could do much to improve contract negotiations.

Elimination of Pupil Suspensions and Expulsions as Disciplinary Tools—The primary challenge facing our schools is to educate students to the maximum of each individual's potential. I question how kicking students out of school serves this purpose.

Long-Range Goals

Merger of Northland state community college and TRF area vocational-technical institute—The present dupliation of post-secondary educational services and facilities is costly and counterproductive. The taxpayers of the district could save themselves some money and improve the opportunity for higher education by seeking legislative action on this proposal.

Physical Plant and Facilities Planning—The present collection of facilities is costly to maintain and cumbersome to work with. The district should recognize that buildings become obsolete and eventually must be replaced. Most buildings and facilities to date have come about as a result of crisis reaction and panic response. It doesn't seem to be a very intelligent way to meet the educational needs of the community.

McDowell . . .

resident of Thief River Falls which gives me insight into the total educational history of this area.

I have practiced law in Thief River Falls since 1968 when I received my J.D. degree from the University of North Dakota law school. I also hold a B.A. degree in business administration from Bemidji state college.

In addition to these qualifications, I have been a teacher at Northland Community college in the night program for the past four years. This has given me an understanding of some of the problems of the teaching profession. As a property owner and tax payer, I am also concerned with the cost of education.

If we, as residents of School District 564, are going go provide the education we want our children to have, there must be unity and co-operation between us and those persons providing the educational programming for our children. I will do my best as a school board member to see that such unity continues to exist and also to help our schools provide a quality education at the most reasonable cost.

It is my desire and belief that we can and must maintain the highest level of education in this school district. I believe we can work together with the teachers to achieve this goal. We can work together with the parents and teachers through such organizations such as P.T.A. where the teachers can relate to the parents in areas where parents can be helpful to make District 564 the best in the state.

I feel as we work together with this in mind, we'll give our children the highest quality education at a reasonable cost. We will have a school to be proud of as well as a greater community in which to live.

As a parent I am interested in the best education possible for my family. As a property owner I am interested in my tax dollar and what I can do with it.

Our school system is a big business and we have a lot of money invested in it. I would like to have a part in protecting and guiding this investment. We have a large number of very good people employed by our district. I think these people are deserving of adequate salaries, with consideration given to increases in the cost of living, etc. They should be treated honestly and fairly. In return I would want them to do the same in their response to the district.

Having a family with various ages, we are involved with education at many levels. If elected I will give my full support to see that we get the best education we can, and that the people of our district are treated honestly and fairly.

administration offices and bus garage. There has been nearly a complete change in our administration which I felt was a necessity. I have voted in favor of many new courses for our vocational school. The most recent is our beef development program.

Perhaps the most controversial issue to come up recently is the Family Life program. I take a more conservative stand on this subject but do feel the course in family life is very necessary. There is no reason why a course of this type should be embarrassing to students or objectionable to parents. Any material that borders on pornography will not get my vote of approval.

I have helped in the organization of a Citizens Committee to screen and review all material before it is presented to the Board for approval or before any material is ordered for use in our school system.

If anyone has any questions on how I stand on some of the issues that concern you, please call me, I would appreciate your vote and if reelected I will do my best to serve with an open mind and to continue to offer the high quality of education we now have in School District 564.

Prichard Brothers construction company of Thief River Falls was selected Monday by the Red Lake Falls city council as general contractors for construction of that city's new fire hall. Wilcox Plumbing and Heating and Ken's Electric will be sub-contractors.

Prichard Brothers bid an all-steel building with double wall construction at a cost of $12.01 per square foot. Their entry was also given the second highest value rating with 79 points. The only higher rating was 82 points for Structures, Inc. of Grand Forks which also quoted the highest price at $16.36 per square foot.

It's kind of hard to believe that Thief River Falls will begin district 31 baseball tournament play next week with the Prowlers currently carrying only a 1-4 season record.

The wet spring weather has played havoc with the Prowler baseball schedule, allowing coach Ralph Skay's Lincoln high school ball club to play only half of its scheduled games to date.

Thief River Falls will try to play five games this week and three more at the start of next week before entering the north half sub district games that are scheduled to be held May 23, 24, and 25.

However, games scheduled today (Monday) and Tuesday on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond are already in jeopardy because of the wet playing field. The Prowlers were scheduled to play Roseau today at 3:30 and then host Crookston in a key district 31 double-header Tuesday starting at 4 o'clock.

Crookston is the defending district 31 champion and the Pirates are rated as favorites to win their fifth straight district crown this spring.

Despite its abbreviated schedule, a Thief River Falls sweep over Crookston Tuesday, followed by wins over Warren and Red Lake Falls next week could put Thief River Falls into the district's number one seeded spot when tournament time rolls around.

The 1974 district 31 baseball tournament will be played the week of May 27 to June 1 at Red Lake Falls. The region eight tournament will also be held at Red Lake Falls on June 3 and 4.

Larry Peterson, a 1967 Lincoln high school graduate has been named head basketball coach at Roseau, replacing Bill Wagner who resigned from the post earlier this year.

Peterson, who has been assistant basketball coach at Roseau for the past three years, is currently serving as head track coach for the Rams who participated in last week's Quentin Jones Jaycee invitational meet in Thief River Falls.

Peterson earned seven letters in four different sports while playing for the Prowlers, and was named to the all-region basketball team by the area media in 1967.

Thief River Falls will play Roseau in basketball next season, a game that's been scheduled for December 10 at Roseau.

Another Thief River Falls basketball opponent, Ada, is currently looking for a new cage coach.

Jerry Bartholomay, head basketball and head baseball coach for the past two years at Ada, has resigned to accept a position at Enderlin, N.D.

A weekend summer hockey league will be held in Detroit Lakes from June 16 to July 27, it has been announced by the sponsoring Canadian professional hockey schools.

The league complies with high school organizations in Minnesota and North Dakota and will offer competition for squirt, pee-wee, bantam, midget and high school and senior players.

Interested players between the ages of 9-47 should write, Canadian professional hockey schools, ltd., box 487, Winnipeg, Man.

Thief River Falls will host the 1974 district 31 class B track meet Fri., May 24.

The 1974 region eight track meet, originally scheduled to be held at Bagley, will be staged at Park Rapids on Fri., May 31.

Rain Postpones Baseball Series

Northland community college baseball team will wrap up its 1974 regular seaon schedule this week with six games scheduled to be played in five days.

The Northmen, currently 6-4 for the rain abbreviated season, were washed out of two weekend double-headers against Itasca at Grand Rapids Friday and Saturday.

Northland was scheduled to face Fergus Falls today (Monday) at Fergus Falls. The Northmen will travel to Crookston Wednesday and then host Itasca Friday. All Northland games are double-header contests.

Crookston, Mahnomen Win Quentin Jones Titles

Crookston, Mahnomen and Bill Hvidsten were winners Thursday during the fifth annual Quentin Jones Jaycee invitational track meet in Thief River Falls.

The strong Crookston and Mahnomen squads captured their respective class A and B team titles by comfortable margins and the versatile Hvidsten was presented with the meet's outstanding athlete award during the wind-chilled 12 team event.

Crookston won 10 of the 16 class A events to rack up 105 points in the four team large school competition. Thief River Falls finished a distant second with 70 points, followed by East Grand Forks with 31 and Roseau 29.

Mahnomen won seven class B events to finish with 76 points in the eight team small school competition. Stephen edged Oklee 46½ to 45 for second place and Fertile placed third with 25 points. Fosston was fifth with 21½, followed by Goodridge 16, Newfolden 14½ and Hallock 11½.

Hvidsten, a senior from Stephen, edged Crookston's heralded Don Moore for the meet's outstanding athlete award, presented to the day's individual high point man.

Hvidsten and Moore each won three events in their respective classes, but Hvidsten tacked on an additional third place finish to win the individual honor. Hvidsten won the class B 220 in 24.8, 440 in 55.2 and long jump with a jump of 19-4, along with a third in the 100. Moore captured the class A 100 in 10:35, 220 in 23.7 and the 180 yard low hurdles in a meet record 21.3.

Arden Hyland of Goodridge was the meet's only other double event winner. Hyland won the class B mile run in a meet record 5:05.4 and added a first place finish in the 180 yard low hurdles in 22.4.

A total of ten new meet records were established despite the unseasonably cold weather that had already postponed the meet from its original Saturday start.

Six class A records were set, highlighted by an amazing 57-1 shot put toss by Crookston's Len Devos, a mark unequaled in the state this spring.

Other new class A record setters included Eugene Hanson, Crookston, 11-7 pole vault; Jerry Sandahl, Thief River Falls, 15.6 in the 120 yard high hurdles; Steve Wald, East Grand Forks, 6-0¾ high jump; Tony Dorn, Thief River Falls, 145-8¼ discus; and Moore in the low hurdles.

The four new class B record setters included Tony Tuseth, Fertile, 5-11 high jump; Kim Scheff, Mahnomen, 2:15 in the 880; and Mahnomen's 880 yard relay team of Scheff, Ron Swiers, Duane Swiers and Doug Spaeth in 1:41; and Hyland in the mile.

Host Thief River Falls turned in a strong effort behind Crookston in the class A competition, picking up four first places and 70 points. The Prowler first included Dorn in the discus, Sandahl in the high hurdles, Brian Phelps with a 10:40.5 in the two mile run and the mile medley relay team of Sandahl, Joe Sorvig, Jeff Houfek and Jeff Johnson in 4:01.4.

LHS Golfers Take Part In Two Meets On Friday

Coach Jack Boyer's Lincoln high school golf team competed in two meets simultaneously Friday as the Prowlers participated in the Grand Forks invitational and Northwest Conference golf meets on the Grand Forks country club golf course.

The 24 team Grand Forks invitational field included all six Northwest Conference schools, prompting the NWAC coaches to allow the Grand Forks scores to be used as the conference meet results as well.

Fergus Falls ended up a double winner during the rain soaked day long competition as the Otter linksmen fired a four man 319 stroke total to win the Grand Forks portion of the meet and totaled a five man 403 to win the 1974 Northwest Conference title.

Thief River Falls finished second behind Fergus Falls in the Northwest Conference standings and fourth in the Grand Forks results.

The Prowlers finished 14 strokes behind the Otters in the NWAC competition with a 417, followed by Bemidji 418, Crookston 431, Breckenridge 445 and East Grand Forks 481.

Multi-sport stand-outs Dick Howe of Bemidji and Matt Gervais of Fergus Falls were the Northwest Conference co-medalists with 78's.

The five Prowler Northwest Conference counting scores included Mike Jury and Jim Olson with 80's, Mike Onkka 85 and Bruce Rested and Dick Skay 86's. Mike Froehle's 89 did not count in the Prowler stroke total.

Fargo South finished five strokes behind Fergus Falls in the Grand Forks invitational competition with a 324, followed by Bemidji 327 and Thief River Falls 331. Wahpeton, Grand Forks Red River and Fargo Shanley all tied for fifth at 333, followed by Fargo North and Grand Forks Central at 334, Moorhead 336, Jamestown 339, Roseau and Crookston 340, Breckenridge and Mahnomen 349, Cavalier 358, Mayville-Portland 367, West Fargo 375, Grafton 379, East Grand Forks 380, Valley City 383, Lisbon 384, Devils Lake 428 and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 431.

Jamestown's Russ Neuman was the Grand Forks invitational meet medalist with a 75.

Prowler Grand Forks meet counting scores included Jury and Olson with their 80's, Onkka 85 and one of the 86's shot by Skay and Rested.

Thief River Falls will be back in action tomorrow (Tuesday) when the Prowler golfers take part in an invitational meet at Detroit Lakes beginning at 9:30 a.m. The rest of the Thief River Falls regular season schedule will find the Prowlers traveling to Bemidji Friday before hosting their own Thief River Falls invitational on Tues., May 21.

TRF Girls Win Own Quadrangular Meet

Thief River Falls girls won 12 of 13 events Wednesday to claim an easy win in a four team girls track meet held on the Thief River Falls track.

The Lincoln girls totaled 92½ points to finish ahead of Greenbush with 45, Baudette 23 and Badger 9½.

Teresa Nygaard, Twila Mercil and Kris Gibson were all double event winners for Thief River Falls. Nygaard set two new Lincoln girl's track records while winning the mile run in 6:35.0 and the high jump with a jump of 4-8. Mercil established a new Lincoln long jump record with a winning 14-6½ jump and also added a victory in the 100 yard dash with a 12.5 clocking. Gibson won the 110 yard hurdles event in 18.8 and the 220 yard dash in 29.5.

Two other Lincoln girl's track records were set when Joan Jury turned in a winning 1:09.6 effort in the 440 yard dash, and in the 440 yard relay event where Thief River Falls' Jani Swanson, DeeAnn Hoganson, Nygaard and Brenda Laidley won the race in 59.0.

Other Thief River Falls individual first place finishes included Hoganson, 10.0 in the 60 yard hurdles; Linda Larson, 29-2½ in the shot put; and Michelle Gerardy, 2:47.8 in the 880 yard run.

Another Thief River Falls first place finish came in the 880 yard medley relay race where Lincoln's Swanson, Karla Kruschke, Polly Bulger and Gibson won the event in 2:12.2.

The only event not won by a Thief River Falls girl was the discus, an event won by Kim Thompson of Greenbush with a toss of 74-0½.

Thief River Falls also picked up five second place finishes, including Reta Rantanen, 440; Beth Hamilton, 100; Tammy Frasser, long jump; Lori Finstad, 880; and Jodi Ranum, 220.

Lincoln third places included Laidley, 100 and high jump; Bulger, 880; Larson, discus; and Marilyn Olson, 220.

The final Thief River Falls point producing finishes included fourths by Gwen Landis in the shot put and by Olson in the 100.

Prowlers Defeat Indian Netmen 3-2 On Thursday

Coach Whitey Olson's Lincoln high school tennis team edged Mahnomen 3-2 Thursday to improve the Prowler season dual meet record to 5-4.

Thief River Falls' Scott Engelstad posted the host Prowlers' lone singles triumph over the visiting Indians with a 6-3, 6-1 decision over Bob Brandon in number one singles.

Mahnomen picked up decisions in the other two singles encounters as Paul Muckenhirn defeated Thief River Falls' Gary Laidley 3-6, 7-5, 6-4 in second singles and John Otto beat Prowler senior Dale Miller 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 in the third singles played inside the Thief River Falls sports arena for the first time.

Thief River Falls won both doubles match-ups as Tim Engelstad and Keith Breiland defeated Elroy Hanson and Frank Thompson 6-4, 6-2 in number one doubles played on the Northland community college courts while Terry Sullivan and Brian Waale downed Mahnomen's Brad Francis and Kevin Flatan 6-1, 6-2 in the second doubles.

Thief River Falls' scheduled double dual meet against Breckenridge and East Grand Forks at East Side was postponed Friday because of rain and has been rescheduled for Fri., May 17.

The Prowlers were scheduled to be back in action today (Monday) against region eight power Bemidji on the Thief River Falls courts beginning at 3:30 p.m. The Prowlers will play against Detroit Lakes and Brainerd at Detroit Lakes Wednesday and travel to Crookston Thursday.

CROOKSTON SENIOR Len Devos set a new Quentin Jones Jaycee invitational track meet record Thursday by throwing the shot put a remarkable 57-1, reportedly the best toss in the state this spring.

NCC Tennis Squad Ends 1974 Dual Meet Schedule

Northland community college tennis team completed its 1974 dual meet schedule Wednesday with an 8-1 triumph over Crookston Tech on the Crookston courts.

Coach Orren Bendickson's Northland squad posted a 4-2 dual meet season record in preparation for this week's MJCAA state meet to be held Thursday and Friday in Austin. The team will leave Thief River Falls Wednesday.

Northland's win over Crookston included five singles triumphs, including Vern Lindquist 6-1, 6-1 over Tom Feiro in number one; Ken Lindblom 6-1, 6-3 over his cousin Kim Lindblom in number two; Tom Kays 6-1, 6-3 over Scott Pearson in number three; Rick Skallet 6-2, 6-3 over Don Larson in number four; and Mike Engen 6-1, 6-2 over Kevin Kopischky in number five.

The only Northland loss of the day came in the sixth singles where Crookston's Dean Vellickson defeated Randy Schmitz 6-0, 7-5.

Northland also picked up three doubles victories, including Lindquist and Kays 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 over Feiro and Lindblom in number one; Lindblom and Engen 6-4, 2-6, 6-4 in number two; and Skallet and Schmitz 6-2, 6-2 over Kopischky and Steve Flock in number three.

Bendickson also reported an earlier Northland 7-2 loss to Itasca, a match played Monday at Grand Rapids.

Northland's only wins over Itasca came in the third singles where Kays beat Len Wolhsdor 6-2, 7-5 and in the fifth singles where Engen defeated Dan Mandich 6-4, 7-5.

Itasca won all seven other matches, including Bob Bishoff 6-2, 6-4 over Lindquist in number one singles; Greg Schreader 4-6, 6-0, 6-2 over Lindblom in number two singles; Greg Pearce 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 over Schmitz in number six singles; Bishoff and Schreader 4-6, 6-2, 6-1 over Kays and Lindquist in number one doubles; Heffron and Mandich 6-1, 3-6, 6-2 over Lindblom and Engen in number two doubles; and Wolhsdor and Pearce 6-3, 6-7 and 6-1 over Skallet and Schmitz in number three doubles.

CORRECTION

In additon to transposition of picture captions in Wednesday's edition of the Times—which caused incorrect identification for the bowling association tournament champions and Tuesday Tootsie Rollers team champions— the incorrect team was also listed for the Tuesday league. Champ of the Tootsie Rollers league was the Noreen Masonry team.

TRF Beats Oslo And Alvarado In Baseball Play

Thief River Falls defeated Alvarado 6-5 and Oslo 14-4 in a pair of high school baseball games played on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond Wednesday.

The games were listed on the Lincoln high school B squad schedule, but some Prowler seniors did play against the varsity Alvarado and Oslo squads since the games count toward the district 31 tournament pairings.

Duane Dicken and Randy Dallmann provided senior leadership in the first game win over Alvarado with a pair of homeruns. Dicken unloaded a third ining grand slam homer to snap a 1-1 tie and spark the Prowlers to a 6-5 win. Dallmann hit a solo home run in the second.

Junior righthander Jeff Tunberg was credited with the pitching triumph while Hanson took the loss.

Thief River Falls scored its six first game runs on five hits while committing three errors. Alvarado, rallying from a 6-1 third inning deficit with two runs in the fourth and two more in the seventh, collected five base hits and committed two errors.

Jeff Langlie was the lone senior used by Thief River Falls in the 14-4 second game win over Oslo as the righthanded pitcher tested an injured knee that was hurt in a recent game against Roseau.

Langlie was the game's star as he pitched a three hitter and sent three for three at the plate, driving in three runs and scoring twice.

Thief River Falls expanded a 3-0 lead into an 11-2 bulge in the third inning and plated four runs in the fifth to win by a five inning ten run rule.

The Prowlers picked up 11 hits off losing pitcher Dickson. Oslo was guilty of two of the game's three errors.

Home Runs Lift Newfolden Past Greenbush 8-5

Gary Kujanson, Jeff Sorenson and Daryl Byklum all hit second inning home runs Thursday to power Newfolden to an 8-5 baseball victory over Greenbush on the Marshall County Central diamond.

Kujanson snapped a scoreless game with a solo homer to start the second inning outburst. Sorenson and Byklum both followed with two run homers to spark a seven run Nordic inning.

Sorenson belted another home run in the fifth, a solo shot, to give the Nordics an 8-0 cushion. Greenbush cut the final difference to 8-5 by scoring three runs in the sixth inning and two more in the seventh.

Kujanson was credited with the pitching victory, although Greenbush collected eight base hits off the senior righthander. Newfolden managed nine hits off losing pitcher Brian Hanson. Both teams committed three errors.

Newfolden, currently 3-5 for the year, was scheduled to pay the Thief River Falls junior varsity in Newfolden today (Monday).

Mobile Service Van For Veterans Here Thursday

A mobile van staffed by veterans benefits counselors will be arriving in Thief River Falls Thursday as part of a tour of the state to provide one-stop, on-the-spot aid for former servicemen and women.

The aim of the program, called "National Assistance for Veterans" is to reach veterans who have not made full use of VA benefits and governmental services.

The on-board specialists explain VA benefits such as G.I. bill educational allowances, home loans, medical care and job training.

The vans, which have been in 48 states and Puerto Rico, are part of President Nixon's national assistance for veterans program with veterans administrator Donald E. Johnson as national coordinator.

While in Thief River Falls, the van will be located at the Knight avenue parking lot, and will be open for business from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Accoring to John T. Soave, DAV natonal commander, this is the first time that any major veterans organization has taken its services on such a large scale "to veterans in the suburban and rural areas of every state in the nation."

The DAV employs 260 full-time national service officers with offices at Veterans Administration regional headquarters throughout the country.

However, DAV officials point out that the location of these VA regional offices often makes it extremely difficult for many disabled veterans, as well as their widows and dependents, to make personal contact with a DAV national service officer.

"We know that many of these people need assistance in matters relating to disability compensation, insurance, education, hospitalization, employment and other benefits provided by the U.S. Government," explains the DAV national commander, "and our new field service units will take the program right to their doorsteps."

DAV officials stress that disabled veterans of all wars, as well as their dependents, are urged to visit the DAV field service units to discuss any problems they may have. But But particular emphasis is being placed on disabled veterans of the Vietnam conflict, because such a large number are not taking advantage of all of the benefits which they have coming to them, especially in the areas of education and vocational rehabilitation.

Cooperating with the national organization of the disabled American veterans in bringing the field service units to Minnesota are the department of Minnesota DAV and DAV chapters throughout the state.

The field service units will be open for business from 11:00 a.m. until 8:00 p.m.

Plan Mapping Of 7,000 Acres In East Marshall

"Recently we completed our soils mapping list for this mapping season. We are hoping to get 7,000 to 8,000 acres completed states Ralph Rundell, conservationist for the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD this year."

"These acres are spread over our area, and because of previous mapping, we will try to get at least a half section in each area to save the soils men from having to spend so much time driving.

"If you see one of our men on your farm (or a neighbor's farm) and get a chance to talk to him, you will every likely get some ideas about your soils that you never realized before. He can tell you something about the natural drainage, texture, natural fertility level, whether it developed under a forested or prairie condition, etc.

"These are some of the things we can tell you from the map they prepare for us," Rundell said. "Then, when we get the maps and add the soils information sheets, there is a great deal you can tell without even seeing the land in question.

"We have many people from outside the area who stop in and look over the soils maps for a piece, of property before they even go to look at the land. Then they have an idea of what to look for on the land. Many real estate agents also look over the soils maps so they have better information to present to prospective buyers.

"Soils maps, with the completed conservation plan, can be a valuable aid in planning farm management and particularly so with current costs and slipping farm prices," he said.

Boardings Gain

Boardings on North Central Airlines at Thief River Falls nearly caught up to 1973 totals after a slow start. April boardings of 764 were up 72 over a year ago and bring the four-month total to 3,060—only six fewer than the 3,066 boarded in the first four months of 1973.

Council Approves New Liquor Law

On-sale Liquor licenses will soon be available for issuance by the city of Thief River Falls. This was made possible last night (Tuesday) when the council approved special legislation recently passed by the Minnesota legislature at the council's request. This measure will become law when the Secretary of State received the certificate of approval authorized at last night's meeting. No vote by local citizens is required under this special law.

A request to rezone the area between the Family bowl and Stordahl's trucking company was tabled. The action is needed before Bob Kinsman can proceed with constrution of the proposed Arctic Inn motel complex. However, the councilmen voiced their wishes to obtain additional information from Kinsman before rezoning the area.

A bid of $7,932 was accepted from Motorola to provide a two-way communication system for the fire department. The only other bid was $8,556 entered by a representative of General Electric. A 70 day delivery date was specified in the Motorola bid with 120 days offered by General Electric.

Both of these companies submitted bids opened February 26 for the same equipment. However, the General Electric bid was determined to be non-conforming and the company protested on the grounds that the specifications used at that time were too restrictive and did not allow competitive bidding.

Bidding on new specifications, Motorola cut more than $5,000 from its earlier bid of $13,146. However, the newer bid was for different equipment with less features than the unit specified in the first bid.

An ordinance was adopted following its third reading, allowing beer sales until 1 a.m. on weekdays. This measure was passed to bring the city's ordinance into conformity with state law which is less restrictive than the earlier city ordinance.

The second reading of an ordinance was approved requiring all underground service connections to be installed at the property owner's expense.

Ellsworth Jorgenson, local civil defense director, presented a proposal to improve the city's present warning siren system to give better coverage in the outlying sections of the city. This is considered to be particularly important in areas where the city has expanded and mobile home courts have been built. This matter was turned over to the city engineer for additional study. Funds for as much as 75 per cent of the estimated $10,000 construtlon cost may be available from state and federal sources.

Authorization was given to allow calling for bids on two new police cars. Ken Froschheiser, acting police chief, reported that the present vehicles have 65,000 to 70,000 miles and will reach more than 100,000 miles before new cars could be delivered.

At Mayor Bob Carlson's request, Ken Onken was reappointed to the local housing and redevelopment authority

Thieves Steal Church Organ

Thieves entered Nazareth Lutheran church in the Trail community last week and stole the organ, candles, two gold crosses and a number of other items, according to the Times Trail correspondent.

It was also noted that a television set, radio and other items had been stolen from the Floyd Haugen home in that area.

3,911 Signatures On Petitions To Move Co. Seat

Petitions containing 3,911 signatures—as counted by Marshall county auditor Charles Cheney—were presented Monday afternoon by the Marshall county improvement association to the county auditor at Warren. The petitions request the moving of the Marshall county seat from Warren to Newfolden.

Although the petitions were received by the auditor, an article in today's issue of the Warren Sheaf notes that the auditor has not officially filed them on advice of county attorney Harold Myhre. The advice is reportedly based on alleged violations of state law regarding proper posting of notice to petition in advance of petitioning.

Official filing would set in motion a sequence of events on a time schedule leading to a county-wide election on the question. Among these would be a public meeting to consider the petitions which would be held not less than 15 days nor more than 20 days after filing.

County board determination would be required on such items as whether signatures were genuine, if all signatures were of legal voters, that none were obtained more than 60 days in advance of filing which may have been requested withdrawn.

NCC Theatre To Stage Production

Northland community college of Thief River Falls will present "Come Back Little Sheba", under direction of Roger Vaughan, Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the college theater.

The plot centers around a dowdy housewife's refusal to cope with reality. Lola, the housewife, prefers living in the distant past when she was a lovely girl and in a more recent past when she still had her now missing puppy, Sheba.

Through her actions she drives her husband, Doc, to alcoholism. Doc joines Alcoholics Anonymous and rids himself of this crutch. However, Doc's binges have brought them to financial disaster, causing Lola to take in a beautiful, lively, young college student, Marie. While living with Lola, Marie is engaged to a trusting fiance, Bruce. During her engagement, Marie also has a fling with Turk, a college athlete.

Doc considers Marie the daughter he never had and his concern for Marie's relationships give Doc a setback—he takes to alcohol again. After a siege in the hospital alcoholic ward, Doc comes repentantly back home to resume his hapless life with the only thing he has left to turn to—the ineffectual wife who had taken all the ambition out of him.

The cast includes: Lola, Heidi Bornholdt; Doc, Dana LeBlanc; Marie, Candy Hiebert; Turk, Bruce Ueland; Mrs. Coffman, Sue Johnsoon; Bruce, Charles Erickson; Ed Anderson, David Swanson, and Postman, Dan DeMolee. Set design is by Bruce Ueland.

Student tickets are 50 cents and adult tickets are $1.50.

If the Shoe Fits..

What further shoe care is recommended?

With the vast variety of leathers, fabrics and man-made shoe materials, it is important to know some of the methods used to preserve and protect them.

For leather, apply paste wax with a cotton cloth for a high gloss. When dry, rub with a fresh cloth, then finish with a lamb's wool brush.

Suede needs a light hand brush. First a gentle brushing to remove the dust. If the suede has been bruised, use an emery board very lightly to raise the surface. Clean with a very small amount of cleaning fluid. It is worth investigating some of the new cleaning products in spray cans that can be used on dark or pale colored suede.

Fabric shoes can be cleaned with cleaning fluid.

Campus and country boots get rough wear and should be cleaned after each wearing. If they are made of smooth leather, wash them with saddle soap, a small sponge and very little water. Then rub with a rough towel until dry and follow with a cream polish.

Farm Sign-up Program Still Farmer Benefit

"Although there are no farm set-aside payments, farmers can still benefit from sign-up this year," said Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall county agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS).

Farmer sign-ups and certification can be completed in one step and will start when planting is finished and continue through the cutoff date of July 15.

Acreage certification in the wheat and feed grain programs makes farmers eligible for benefits that include allotment preservation and eligibility for commodity loans. The program also offers a new disaster payment provision.

The department of agriculture, under certain conditions, will make payments for prevented planting and for yield losses due to bad weather or other natural disasters. Disaster payments cover wheat and feed grain.

Retired Teacher Ass'n. Honors Local Retirees

To honor retiring teachers of the Thief River Falls community, the Northland Retired Teachers' association met Saturday for a noon luncheon in the Rex cafe. The meeting replaced the regular session held on the third Wednesday of each month. Forty members and guests attended.

Mayor Bob Carlson spoke on the meeting theme of "Older American Month", stressing service given to the city by its older residents and urging suggestions of what the city can do to help its older citizens.

Mrs. Gladys Narverud, administrator of Sky Lite apartments, explained the program under which residents are charged for rent according to their ability to pay. She reviewed the services available to any citizen, including the Friday meetings which include films, speakers or games. Mrs. Oscar Mossestad, whose husband is caretaker of the apartment complex, is in charge of the Friday sessions.

Religious services are held at the apartments each Thursday with ministers from the local ministerial association participating. Income from food and fancywork sales finances bus trips to area points of interest.

Mrs. Myrtle Myrin, president of the Thief River Falls association, reviewed what members can expect to derive from the local, districts, state and national associations. O. A. Roberts of Humboldt, district president, urged attendance at the district meeting to be held in Bemidji this month. Theme will be on "Wills and Estates".

Special guest of honor at the meeting was Lyda Batten, 90, who had a long term of service as teacher and administrator in the Thief River Falls schools prior to her retirement.

Head table guests in addition to the speakers and association president were Alice Vraa, secretary; Viola Koglin, treasurer; Ellen Peterson, program chairman; and Clara Voldness, publicity chairman.

Other honored guests were retiring teachers Mrs. Art Bredeson, Mrs. Russel Nelson, Mrs. Art (Alma Lindquist) Peterson, Mrs. Rudolph Hanson, Mrs. George Johnson (St. Hilaire school), Lawrence Brown and Estelle Grinde; and Alice Lendobeja and Margaret Race who plan to retire next year. Edna Larson, former Washington school principal, was unable to attend.

Table favors were provided by First Northwestern bank, Northern State bank and Bostwick's and table decorations were made by Mrs. Ellen Peterson.

Gov. Proclaims May 12-19 For Nursing Homes

Governor Wendell R. Anderson has proclaimed the week of May 12-19, as Minnesota "Nursing Home Week and is urging all citizens of the state to "make someone happy" by visiting nursing home residents during the observance.

David E. Meillier, of Faribault, president of the Minnesota association of health care facilities says, "the purpose of this annual program which begins on Mother's Day is to recognize and honor the many residents and patients in long term care facilities."

Long term care facilities across the nation will be cooperating in the celebration sponsored by the American Nursing Home Association in Washington, D. C. and its affiliated state associations. Cesar Romero is honorary chairman of national Nursing Home Week.

"The theme for this year is 'We Care'", Meillier said. "We care 365 days a year! But our concern will be brought into focus as we celebrate Nursing Home Week.

"'We Care' is a consise and beautiful way of saying, 'seniors we love you.' In the language of today, you are beautiful people...beautiful because you were pioneers during the most dramatic period in the history of our great country. Your hard work and dedication to a democratic society has made Minnesota and the United States what they are today.' That is waht Nursing Home Week is all about. It is recognition for seniors stated.

"We belive the observance is

"We believe the observance is symbolic of the dedication and concern of the modern nursing home professionals who are members of the Minnesota association of health care facilities. The association has demonstrated significant leadership in providing quality total care through its Peer Review Program, recognition of professionalism, and its continuing education program. MAHCF represents both proprietary and non-proprietary facilities and is recognized as the most progressive association of its kind in Minnesota.

"Member facilities of the association will be conducting various activities, including open houses. The public is encouraged to participate in this salute to our senior citizens", Meillier said.

"These activities are designed to arouse community awareness of the needs of the residents of long term care facilities and to provide members of the community with an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the range of services provided by quality nursing homes in Minnesota", he explained.

In his proclamation, Governor Anderson said, "I urge the citizens of Minnesota to visit a nursing home or related facility during this week to demonstrate to the patients and residents that the community does care about them."

National Nursing Home Week Set For May 12-18

State health commissioner Dr. Warren Lawson reminds the public that May 12-18 has been designated as National Nursing Home week. In conjunction with the theme "Get to Know Us," the Minnesota department of health urges the public to visit and learn about nursing homes in their community.

A nursing home is a facility that seeks to provide a good nursing care in an environment as physically and psychologically homelike as possible. Nursing homes are specialized to provide a specific level of care. One, two or three of the following services may be offered:

(1) Residential care—Room, board, laundry facilities, and organized social and recreational programs are provided by the home.

(2) Personal care—The resident is given assistance with walking, getting in and out of bed, eating, dressing and bathing.

(3) Nursing care—The home provides procedures requiring professional skills including administration of medications and other activities ordered by the attending physician.

Minnesota department of health requires that any home providing nursing, personal or residential care to five or more aged or infirm persons be licensed and operated according to applicable regulations. A nursing home license is needed if any of the residents need or receive nursing care. A boarding care home license is required if the occupants need or receive personal or residential care.

Many nursing homes are certified for participation in the federal Medicare and Medicaid programs. A nursing home may be classified as either a skilled nursing facility, intermediate care facility, or both. A skilled nursing facility provides 24-hour service by licensed nurses and is geared to the person who needs substantial nursing care. A skilled nursing facility has an active rehabilitation program aimed at helping a resident regain as much independence as possible.

An intermediate care facility is geared to the person who needs some nursing care and assistance, but primary emphasis is placed on psycho-social aspects of care. An intermediate care facility also has an active rehabilitation program aimed at encouraging independence.

When choosing a home for a relative, friend or oneself, one should match the individual's needs, personality and desires with the type of facility that is chosen, according to Dr. Lawson.

Minnesota department of health encourages the public to become aware of the services offered in their community by participating in the many activities sponsored by neighboring nursing homes during National Nursing Home week.

Evelyn Peterson And Bill Ulrich Receive Awards

Evelyn Peterson and Bill Ulrich of the Northland Time agency, Thief River Falls, were among the 71 independent insurance agents honored by Time Insurance company at the firm's 1974 Summit conference, held April 28 through May 2 in the city of Freeport on Grand Bahama Island.

Each year the company recognizes the superior effort of agents who have surpassed certain production and persistency goals by inviting them and their spouses to attend the conference, which is held in a resort atmosphere.

Only 10 representatives qualified to send two or moe agents to the 1974 conference.

This is the sixth year the Northland Time agency has sent representatives to the meeting.

BEAUTIFICATION of Thief River Falls was promoted officially last week. However, someone apparently didn't make it to the city dump with their tree limbs. This debris was dumped along County Road 65 between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. Monday.

Lincoln high school athletic director Russ Smith announced the 1974-75 Prowler hockey schedule Tuesday; a schedule that will include three teams that have never before appeared on the Thief River Falls hockey schedule.

Four new 1974-75 opponents who did not appear on the 1973-74 schedule include St. Paul Academy, Cloquet, Bloomington Lincoln and Duluth Central.

Thief River Falls beat Bloomington Lincoln 4-1 in a game played at Roseau during the 1967-68 season, but the Prowlers have never faced Cloquet, St. Paul Academy and Duluth Central.

A ten game regular season Prowler home schedule will include games against St. Paul Academy, Bloomington Lincoln, Duluth Central, Roseau, Baudette, Bemidji, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Detroit Lakes and Warroad.

The Prowlers will play road games at East Grand Forks, Bemidji, Grand Forks Red River, Moorhead, Cloquet, Grand Forks Central, Warroad, Hallock, Roseau and Virginia.

East Grand Forks will host the 1974 region eight pre-season hockey jamboree.

Three members of the current Lincoln high school track team have been invited to take part in an all-star track meet to be held in Grand Forks May 27.

The Prowlers invited to take part in the meet include seniors Brian Phelps and Tony Dorn, along with junior Jerry Sandahl. All three competitors have established new Lincoln high school records in their respective events with Phelps running in the two mile, Dorn throwing the discus and Sandahl running in both the 120 yard high and 180 yard low hurdles.

The three Prowlers might not be eligible to take part in the meet, however, since it has not been sanctioned by the Minnesota state high school league.

The meet will include the top high school trackmen in North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota. The event will be run on the Grand Forks Red River all-weather track.

For two years now, the Thief River Falls trap club has been using the Northland community college computer for its weekly scheduling of 20 teams, with the schedule providing information indicating which teams will shoot against each other each week.

Orren Bendickson, an officer of the club and a faculty member of Northland, brings the weekly shooting results of team members to the Northland computer center for compiling the new schedule.

The computer service is provided as a community service by Northland and Jack Kramer, the computer science instructor at the college says, "Scheduling like this can be done for any club in this area."

Any club wishing further information about using the Northland computer for its league scheduling and scoring is urged to contact Kramer at Northland by calling 681-2181.

NCC Golfers Favored To Win State And Region Titles

Northland community college will be regarded as the team favorite Monday when the 1974 MJCAA state and NJCAA region XIII junior college golf tournaments begin on the Bunker Hills golf course in the metropolitan suburb of Anoka.

The state and region meets will be conducted simultaneously, with the Minnesota school's scores counting toward the state as well as the region standings.

The region XIII title draws the most attention of the competing teams, of course, since the region champion, along with the top three individual medalists advance to the prestigious national junior college golf tournament scheduled to be held this year at the Lehigh Acres county club golf course near Ft. Myers, Florida.

Approximately 20 teams will be taking part in Monday's competition, with the biggest majority of the schools hailing from Minnesota. Other region XIII teams will come from North and South Dakota, Wisconsin and parts of Michigan.

Northland coach Al Adams accepts the pre-tournament favorite's role without reservation. "All five of our boys are good golfers and all five can score well; that's what makes us a good team," pointed out Adams. "I would be disappointed if we didn't win it, but not nearly as much as the team. They are really psyched up about the tournament."

The five man Northland state and region tournament team will include sophomores Lee Sorensen, Mark Metusalem and Jay Moum, along with freshmen Jim Strandemo and Dick Penning.

The five player limit forced Adams to leave freshmen Dave Kjos and Kirk Whalley, a pair of strong golfers, off the Northland tournament squad.

The Northland tournament team was chosen on the basis of total individual strokes from all six Northland meets this spring. Sorensen, who was a second place medalist in last year's state and region meets to earn a spot in the national tournament field, led the Northmen this spring with 461 total strokes for an eye-catching 76.8 average per meet. Metusalem was second in the Northland stroke standings with 471 for a 78.5 average, with Moum finishing just one stroke behind at 472 for a 78.6 mark. Strandemo totaled 483 strokes for an 80.5 average and Penning finished at 486 for an even 81.0 figure. Kjos, in sixth place, totaled 507 strokes for an 84.5 average.

Although Adams is confident heading into Monday's competition, he's certain the competition will be strong, with Northland, Austin, Rochester and Willmar all expected to finish close together in the state and region events.

Northland's best team effort this spring was an enviable 296 score in a recent meet at Crookston. Austin and Rochester turned in strong performances in a recent meet at Willmar as Austin won the event with a 304 and Rochester finished right behind with a 305.

"We've never faced Austin, but they seem to be very strong, possibly almost as strong as us," offered Adams who expects Austin to present the stiffest challenge to Northland's title quest.

"I think we have a real good chance of winning it," said Adams. "All the guys seem to have their games down pretty well and they're ready. They're thinking of the team title, but everybody's thinking of medalist too, because that would qualify them for the nationals. I think all our golfers are capable of shooting par."

Northland has performed on the Bunker Hills course once this spring when the Northmen shot a 309 to win a 13 team Anoka Ramsey community college invitational meet back on April 23. Rochester was a distant second in that event with a 326. Moum took home medalist honors in the Anoka Ramsey meet with a 73 while Sorensen tied Mark Peterson of Virginia, last year's state and region medalist, for second place with a 77. Other Northland individual Anoka Ramsey scores included Penning with a 79, Metusalem 80 and Strandemo 82.

Northland's regular season competition found the Northmen finishing first in five of the six meets the Thief River Falls squad participated in. Northland won meet titles at Fergus Falls, Anoka, Moorhead, Thief River Falls and Crookston while finishing second to the Bemidji State College junior varsity in a triangular meet, despite a then Northland low team score of 309.

TRF 2nd In D. L. Golf Meet

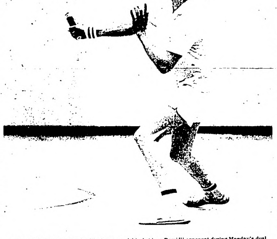
Thief River Falls and Grand Forks Red River finished in a tie for second place behind first place Fergus Falls Tuesday in a 16 team high school invitational golf meet at Detroit Lakes.

The strong Fergus Falls squad, winner of last week's Northwest Conference golf meet, finished the day's activity with a five man low score of 392, followed by Thief River Falls and Grand Forks Red River at 402, Wahpeton 403, Fargo North 408, Moorhead 409, Fargo South 410, Detroit Lakes 412, Grand Forks Central 419, Bemidji 432, Perham 437, Breckenridge 438, Crookston 440, Mahnomen 445, Pelican Rapids 454 and Hawley 461.

Mike Waller of Grand Forks Red River was the meet medalist with a 71, two strokes ahead of runner-up finisher Doug Bentley of Fergus Falls with a 73.

Mike Jury and Jim Olson led the Thief River Falls efforts with a pair of 78's, while Dick Skay shot an 80, Mike Onkka 82 and Steve Onkka 84. Bob Forberg's 85 did not count in the Prowler team total.

Thief River Falls will be back in action Friday when the Prowlers travel to Bemidji for a 9:30 a.m. invitational meet. The Prowlers will host their own Thief River Falls invitational Tues., May 21, beginning at 9:30 a.m. on the Thief River Falls golf course.



THIEF RIVER FALLS' Brian Waale returned this shot by a Bemidji opponent during Monday's dual tennis meet action in the Northland community college gymnasium. Waale and Prowler teammate Gary Laidley lost to Bemidji's Kirby Shofner and Terry Menge 2-6, 2-6 in the number two doubles event as the Lumberjacks blanked the Prowlers 5-0.

TRF Diving Club Meets Tuesday

Thief River Falls diving club will meet Tues., May 21, at the Franklin middle school pool from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Introduction to scuba and skin diving instructions will be presented.

Sportsmen Club

Monthly meeting of the Pennington county sportsmen club will be held on May 22.

Bemidji Blanks TRF Netmen By 5-0 Score

Region eight tennis power Bemidji matched an earlier win over Thief River Falls with an identical 5-0 blanking of the Prowlers Monday during dual meet tennis competition in Thief River Falls.

The matches were played inside the Northland community college gymnasium and the Thief River Falls sports arena because of a continuous day long rain.

Despite a second shut-out loss at the hands of the Lumberjacks, Prowler coach Whitey Olson was generally satisfied with his team's performance Monday. "Even though we lost to them (Bemidji) twice by 5-0, I thought that overall we played much better Monday than the first time we played them," noted Olson.

Monday's singles results found Bemidji's Scott Bjella beating Scott Engelstad 6-0, 6-2 in first singles while the Lumberjacks' Lyle Lortie bested Terry Sullivan 6-2, 6-4 in the second singles. Bemidji's Sam Deweese defeated Dale Miller 6-0, 6-1 in the third singles.

The doubles results found Bemidji's Dale Kullhem and Virgil Malbraaten outlasting Tim Engelstad and Keith Breiland 6-3, 7-6 in a closely matched first doubles encounter while the Lumberjacks' Kirby Shofner and Terry Menge downed Brian Waale and Gary Laidley 6-2, 6-2 in second doubles.

"I thought the first doubles was probably the most interesting and best played tennis I've seen for a long time," pointed out Olson who praised the play of Engelstad and Breiland.

Thief River Falls, currently carrying a 5-5 dual meet record, was scheduled to be back in action today (Wednesday) with the Prowlers traveling to Detroit Lakes to face the Lakers and Brainerd in a double dual meet. Thief River Falls will travel to Crookston for a dual meet Thursday and to East Grand Forks for a double dual encounter with the Green Wave and Breckenridge Friday.

The Prowlers will host Grand Forks Red River on the Thief River Falls courts Monday before taking part in the 1974 district 31 tennis meet Thursday and Friday, May 23 and 24, at East Grand Forks.

Weatherman Beats Prowler Baseball Team Again Tuesday

Coach Ralph Skay's Lincoln high school baseball team was weathered out of its fifth straight baseball game Tuesday with the forced postponement of the scheduled Thief River Falls-Crookston double-header on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond.

Monday's Thief River Falls-Roseau game was also rained out.

The Prowlers are scheduled to play a double-header at Fergus Falls Friday. If the games are played Friday as planned, Thief River Falls will host Crookston Saturday afternoon on the fairgrounds diamond—weather permitting. However, if Friday's games are postponed, they will be made up Saturday at Fergus Falls.

Thief River Falls is scheduled to host Warren Monday at 4:15 and then travel to Red Lake Falls for a regular season ending double-header Tuesday at 6 p.m.

The Prowlers have been rained out of eight games this spring. Thief River Falls carries a 1-4 season record.

Fergus Falls Ball Club Beats Northland By 10-6

Fergus Falls scored ten runs with two out in three different innings Tuesday to beat Northland 10-6 in a rain shortened six inning MJCAA baseball game on the Spartans' home field.

The frustrating Northland loss was halted in the bottom half of the sixth inning by a rain shower that forced cancellation of double-header's nightcap.

Fergus Falls pushed five runs across the plate in the first inning after Northland freshman righthander Burnie Stephens followed an inning opening walk with two strike-outs. A double scored the first run of the game for the Spartans. Stephens then recorded his third strike-out of the inning, but a dropped third strike, promptly followed by a throwing error, scored two Spartans runs. Two wild pitches, a walk, an error and a single scored two more Fergus Falls runs before Stephens struck out the final out of the inning—his fourth strike-out of the first inning.

Northland rallied to trim the margin to 5-4 in the top half of the fourth inning when Pete Sullivan walked and scored moments later on a one-out double by Jon Jensen who went to third on a play at the plate. Bruce Johnson singled Jensen home, Steve Taflin reached on an error and Rick Vatnsdal singled with two out to score Johnson. A single by Charlie Pribula scored Taflin, but Vatnsdal was cut down the plate on the same play.

Fergus Falls wasted little time before expanding their lead in the bottom of the fourth, though, as the Spartans scored four times to go in front 9-4. Three singles, a walk and a wild pitch scored two runs after two batters had been retired in the inning, prompting Northland coach Chet Engelman to replace Stephens with Johnson, a sophomore lefthander. Johnson came in with the bases loaded and proceded to walk in two runs before retiring the Spartans.

Northland came up with two runs in the fifth after two batters were retired. Sullivan walked, Jensen doubled and Johnson doubled both runners home for a 9-6 ball game.

An error, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and a run producing double finished the game's scoring in the Fergus Falls half of the fifth.

Rain stopped the game after Northland batted in the sixth.

Northland out-hit Fergus Falls 7-6 and even had the smaller number of errors by a 6-4 margin, but still lost the game. Mark Juberian was the winning pitcher. Stephens took the loss.

The Northmen were scheduled to put their 6-6 season record on the line today (Wednesday) in a Northern Division double-header at Crookston. Northland will close its 1974 season Friday by hosting Itasca of Grand Rapids in a 1 p.m. non-conference double-header on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds baseball diamond.

Division Golf Meet Postponed Because Of Snow

Heavy snowfall at Grand Rapids forced postponement of Tuesday's scheduled MJCAA Northern Division golf meet.

Northland coach Al Adams reported that his team's car was stopped by the Minnesota state patrol near Bemidji, with the officer presenting Adams with a message saying meet officials at host Itasca community college had postponed the event because of too much snow.

Although the division meet, similiar to a high school conference meet, will be rescheduled later this week, Adams said the Northland team members voted not to take part in the tournament, instead staying home and continuing preparations for Monday's state and region competition.

Oklee Wins 1974 North Tri County Track Meet Title

Oklee won 11 of 16 events Wednesday to capture the 1974 North Tri County Conference track meet held at Bagley.

The Bobcats totaled 112½ points, followed by Clearbrook 79½, Gonvick 45½ and Erskine 9½.

Bob Carriere and Mark Nelson each won two events for the winning Oklee squad. Carriere won the 80 yard dash in 8.7 and claimed a first in the long jump with a jump of 17-1½. Nelson won the 440 in a new meet record 56.1 and added a winning 17.0 effort in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Other individual Oklee wins included Rick Radniecki, 37-1½ shot put; Jon Gunderson, 114-11 discus; Jim Bronken, 24.3 in the 220; and Mark Lee, 2:13.0 in the 880.

Oklee also set three new meet records while winning all three relay events. Carriere, Gunderson, Haugen and Paradis clocked a 4:06.6 in the medley relay; Carriere, Gunderson, Kruchowski and Bronken turned in a 1:30.3 in the 880; and Gunderson, LaCoursiere, Nelson and Bronken were timed in 3:54.6 in the mile relay.

Clearbrook entries won four of the five events unclaimed by Oklee runners, including Becker, 5-3 high jump; Haugen, 22.2 in the 180 yard low hurdles; Charles, 6-6 pole vault; and Culp, 11:37.9 in the two mile.

Dick Watne of Gonvick claimed the only other first place finish with a 5:05 mile.

Seasons Begin On Saturday For Most Game Fish

Most Minnesota lakes should be ice free by the time the fishing season opens Saturday, the department of natural resources reported today.

All inland waters will be open to the taking of walleye, northern and muskellunge Saturday. Bass may also be taken on that date north and east of U.S. highway 53 (northeastern Minnesota) and in Ash and Pelican lakes in St. Louis county.

Elsewhere, the bass season will not be open until June 1.

The limits include three northern pike; six walleye; and one muskellunge. The limit on bass is six.

The Lincoln girls will also be in action Monday when Thief River Falls enters the district 31 girls track meet at Crookston starting at 1 p.m. The district meet is scheduled to be held outdoors, but a last minute change to inside the Crookston winter show building might be made if it rains.

Legion Auxiliary Poppy Sale Is Set This Week

Thursday and Friday will be poppy days in Thief River Falls when members of the American Legion auxiliary will offer replicas of the bright red wildflowers which were prevalent on the fields of France during World Wars I and II.

Mrs. Eileen Horejsh, poppy chairman for the local auxiliary unit, emphasized that all funds donated for the poppies are directed toward rehabilitation of veterans. Mayor Robert Carlson has proclaimed Thursday and Friday as poppy days in this community.

The poppy was chosen by the American Legion auxiliary in 1921 as the memorial flower of the sacrifice made by men and women for America. Each year more than 12,000 auxiliary units across the nation make poppies available to the public. Each poppy is a double benefit to the veteran since veterans are reimbursed for their production and their families are aided through donations on poppy day.

Rehabilitation services range from drug abuse clinics to physical therapy. The local auxiliary unit aids rehabilitation not only through poppy sale funds but through donated volunteer service to the veteran and his family.

Remember the men who can't forget. Wear a Buddy Poppy on Memorial day.

Local And State DFL Organizers Met In TRF Sat.

Local and state DFL organizers from a five-county area met in Thief River Falls Saturday for a conference on the upcoming Democratic national telethon III and the DFL's dollars for Democrats drive.

Over twenty local DFLers met with deputy state DFL finance director Bob Morrison and three additonal members of the DFL staff from Minneapolis.

Counties represented at the Telethon meeting included: Kittson, Marshall, Polk, Red Lake and Pennington. Some of the DFLers at the meeting were Vern and Viola Wickstrom, Noval Torkelson, Grant and Marianne Satre and Diane Melbye from Marshall county and John Steidl, Al Nichols and Fran Stromberg from Pennington county.

This year's Telethon is scheduled to run June 29 and 30 over CBS TV. A dollars for Democrats drive will preceed the Telethon. Local arty organizations will recive a share of the money they raise and will split the additional funds with the state DFL and the Democratic National committee.

Governor Wendell Anderson and attorney general Warren Spannaus, co-chairmen of the Minnesota Telethon committee, have set a goal of collecting over $200,000 in pledges from 25,000 Minnesotans. In 1973, 15,000 of the state's citizens contributed $150,000.

Man can build skyscrapers and miles of highways—even go to the moon. But he can't create a tree.

A tree withstands the summer heat and the cold of winter. How many windstorms have buffeted it? How many times has it lost its leaves in autumn, only to be reborn the following spring?

A tree like this has much in common with the Church. It too has endured countless storms and has stood the test of time. And like a giant tree, the roots of the Church go deep. Stability—you can depend on it.

Minnesota voters will vote Nov. 5, 1974, on ratification of three constitutional amendments submitted for approval by the 1974 legislature. A majority of all persons who go to the polls must vote "yes" for an amendment to be adopted.

The three amendments proposed are:

Number 1, Revise Organization and Language of Constitution;

Number 2, Ease Vote Requirement for Amending Constitution; and Number 3, allow Legislature to Determine Railroad Taxes

All three amendments were recommended to the legislature by the Constitutional study commission of 1971-73.

Amendment number 1 is a very long amendment improving the language and organization of the constitution. In the legislature and the Constitutional Study Commission it was called the "Form and Structure Amendment", according to Sen. Jack Davies, chairman of the senate judiciary committee.

To improve the organization of the constituion the form and structure amendment moves amendments adopted in past years from the end of the constitution into appropriate places in the body of constitution. It also places all the tax provisions into one article and all the spending and borrowing limitations into another.

Obsolete provisions of the constitution are repealed. For example: Four sections on banking cancelled in 1913 by the federal reserve law are remoed; a requirement that every item of state income and expenditure be published annually in a St. Paul newspaper is removed since it has never once been done; a requirement that the territorial prison continue as the state prison is removed since the territorial prison is now a crumbled ruin on the edge of Stillwater and the state prision is in Bayport; a limitation on legislative size which would permit 1,700 state representatives is removed; and many transitional provisions are removed, having served their purpose.

One very long section dealing with an "internal Improvement Land fund" is eliminated. The modest assets of that fund are simply added to the school trust fund.

Unnecessary provisions authorizing the legislature to establish a state census, a corporation law, and a reforestation program are eliminated since these powers are inherent to every legislature anyway.

Several provisions are modified to meet actual practice. For example, the requirement that bills be "read" in the legislature is changed to "reported." Printing of bills long ago made oral reading of bills pointless and they are, in fact, never "read" aloud.

If the form annd structure amendment is ratified, the constitution will be better organized and more understandable—and nearly one-third shorter. Yet no consequential changes will be made in the legal impact of the constitution by this amendment.

Minnesota has an excellent constitution. Its various provisions work well. The form and structure amendment by improving the language and organization, will make it read as well and as sensible as it works.

Amendment number 2, called the Gateway amendment, provides an alternative method for voters to ratify proposed amendments. Now a majority of all voters at an election must vote "yes" for an amendment to be approved. This necessitates active campaigns to alert voters to vote on each amendment. Worthy amendments can be defeated by organized but narrow-based opposition groups or by voter disinterest.

The Gateway amendment attempts to deal with this problem. It will permit ratification of an amendment when many voters fail to vote on it, but when those who do vote cast a high proportion—55 per cent—of "yes" votes. Ratificatio the present "majority of all those voting at the election" is also permitted.

The Gateway amendment will encourage the legislature to submit some worthwile amendments which would not be proposed under the present rules for ratification either because they are not significant enough to justify the effort of mounting a publicity campaign for ratification or because of organized opposition. Its ratification will help keep the constitution up-to-date through future years.

Amendment number 3 removes from the constitution a provision which prohibits legislative changes in the gross earnings taxes paid by railroads. If the amendment is approved the legislature will have the power to decrease or increase railroad tax rates or change the method of taxing railroads. This would give the legislature the same power to impose taxes on railroads as it has to tax other businesses.

Arctic Plans Consolidation Of Two Distributors

Arctic Enterprises, Inc., Thief River Falls, has announced that its two largest snowmobile distributors, Arctic Distributors, Inc. of Neenah, Wisc., and Arctco Distributors, Lansing, Mich., will be consolidated into one organization serving Wisconsin and Michigan.

Arctic Enterprises president John C. Penn said that, effective July 1, 1974, the two operations will be combined with headquarters at Neenah, Wisc. The expanded ADI organization will serve a total of over 400 Arctic Cat snowmobile dealers in the two states.

Arctco's Lansing facility will remain as a warehouse and shipment point for snowmobiles and other whole good products. All parts, garments and accessories will be distributed from Neenah. All administrative, financial service and warranty, advertising and control functions will also be at Neenah.

Penn said that all Arctco Lansing management and sales personnel will be retained. Doug Hart, who has been president of ADI since its acquisition by Arctic in March of 1973, continues as president of the expanded ADI organization. Bert Swanson, general manager of Arctco Lansing, will become a vice president of ADI.

"This step is in the best interest of our dealers and customers because we're combining our two major distributor operations into an even stronger regional distributor-dealer organization that is more efficient and offers more services and expertise," Penn said. "This consolidation will also eliminate duplication of effort in numerous areas and produce a considerable cost saving to Arctic."

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

A recent poll has shown that many Americans have lost faith in their leaders. Although Watergate and Mr. Nixon get the most credit for this, others continue to contribute to this erosion of public confidence. While it is true we tend to set higher standards for our leaders than we do for ourselves, we do expect them to at least abide by the same rule book we do. In a culture that has deteriorated into a maze of double standards and relative values, there still is a need for idealism and ordinary common sense. In an economy that jumps from a 3 per cent inflation rate to 9 per cent or 10 per cent, there must be somewhere we can look for hope.

At a time when Congress must face the possibility of run-away inflation, Senators Mondale and Kennedy, along with support from Senator Humphrey, came out last week with quite a solution. They proposed an immediate anti-recession tax cut! Even such a liberal economist as Mr. John Kenneth Galbraith denounced the plan. There being no provision for an equal reduction in spending, this would not be the way we would turn. There are some signs of hope in Congress, however, and Senator Curtis and his counterpart in the house,- Rep. Floyd Spence (R.-S.C.) introduced an amendment that just might work. It provides that if the federal budget shows a deficit at the end of the year, an automatic surtax must be imposed to cover it. Just think what that would do to the problem of a politician and his popularity! A big healthy surtax would hit everybody and the reaction would demand an almost automatic balanced budget.

Although the bill has no likley chance of becoming law with the present domination by liberals, there are signs that the influence of necessity and common sense may produce some changes. Not too long ago, the Senate approved by a vote of 80-0 a budget reform bill. Although this is a subject in itself, it is a badly needed change in attitude toward deficit spending. It will give Congress the means to regulate how a new bill will be financed and it is a healthy step in the right direction.

At a time when the threat of a one-party government is a real possibility, hope for a change might seem remote. This is not necessary if enough people realize what deficit spending has done to other countries throughout history. Rome did it by melting down the gold and introducing inferior metals. Modern countries such as France, Germany and England have done it with printing cheap money and now we are doing it. The disasters of histrory are before us to help us learn and change. There are signs tha the popularity of a collective society is fading, but will we act fast enough? The problem was best stated by the preamble to the amendment by Sen. Curtis and is as follows: "Deficit spending by the federal government has been a plague to this nation for over a third of a century and both the legislative and executive branches have repeatedly demonstrated unwillingness to stand against political pressures to spend beyond their means."

The problem is whether the selfish pressaure grups can continue to benefit at the expense of all of us or do we have the will to change direction?

Eight of the ten entries from the Strandquist high school received star ratings at the state area music festival held at Bemidji state college last Friday. Lori Lindstrom, Karie Frankfurth, Eunice Rokke, Martha Haugen, and Dawn Thun, members of the woodwind quintet, gained the first star. New Minimum Wage Law Now In Effect Bringing immediate pay raises to more than four million of the country's lowest-paid, workers, the nation's new minimum wage law went into effect May 1.

The new fair labor standards act (FLSA) amendments, signed into law by President Nixon on April 8, add $1.9 billion a year to the pay of low-income workers and raised to nearly 56 million the total number of workers covered under the act.

Secretary of labor Peter J. Brennan said passage of the new amendments "marks a great day for American working men and women. This law is important not only because it boosts the federal minimum, but also because it extends coverage to nearly seven and a half million additional workers".

"A minimum wage," Brennan said, "is a basic measure of a nation's progress and the value it places on citizens at the lower end of the economic ladder. The new minimum wage law maintains this measure of progress while protecting the economy, with wages raised by annual stages to guard against inflation."

Under the new amendments, nearly 1.4 million nonfarmworkers who were covered by federal minimum wage laws prior to Feb. 1, 1967, will receive the following wage increases: To $2 an hour, beginning May 1, 1974; to $2.10 an hour, beginning Jan. 1, 1975; and to $2.30 an hour, beginning Jan. 1, 1976.

Employment categories to which this rate schedule applies include:

Employees individually engaged in or producing goods for interstate commerce;

Retail or service enterprises with annual gross sales of at least $1 million and a $250,000 annual inflow of interstate goods;

Local transit enterprises with annual gross sales of at least $1 million;

Construction enterprises with a gross annual business of at least $350,000;

Gasoline service stations with annual gross sales of at least $250,000;

Other establishments with individually covered employees, in enterprises with gross sales of at least $1 million.

About 2,848,000 nonfarmworkers who were brought under the act in 1967 or later will be increased to the following minimum wages: $1.90 an hour beginning May 1, 1974; $2 an hour, beginning Jan. 1, 1975; $2.20 an hour, beginning Jan. 1, 1976; and $2.30 an hour, beginning Jan. 1, 1977.

Employment categories subject to these rates include:

Laundry and dry cleaning establishments;

Construction enterprises with gross annual business of less than $350,000.

Hospitals, nursing homes, preschools, schools and colleges (both public and private), and federal, state, local and interstate governments and agencies.

Other enterprises with annual gross sales or business of at least $250,000 (e.g., hotels, motels and restaurants); and Domestic service workers.

Approximately 88,000 farmworkers covered by the $1.30 minimum wage must now be paid at least $1.60 an hour, beginning May 1, 1974; $1.80, beginning Jan. 1, 1975; $2.00 beginning Jan. 1, 1976; $2.20, beginning Jan. 1, 1977; and $2.30, beginning Jan. 1, 1978. Overtime provisions do not apply to this group.

Other provisions of the new amendments include:

Overtime pay provisions for 6.4 million workers not previously covered;

First-time minimum wage coverage for more than 1.5 million domestic service workers;

First-time minimum wage coverage for more than 1.7 million federal employees and nearly 3.4 million state and local government workers;

Expansion of the equal pay and age discrimination in employment act to include all federal, state and local government employees;

Broadening of existing provisions allowing employment of students at a subminimum rate, to include employment by institutions of higher education;

Strengthening and tightening of child labor restrictions, with fines of up to $1,000 for each violation of child labor provisions.

Special overtime pay provisions for policemen and firemen, to permit flexible scheduling of duty hours. Beginning Jan. 1, 1975, overtime pay will be required for hours worked beyond 240 in a period of 28 consecutive days.

Thought For The Day

Can I be a Christian, without going to church?

This is a question that I have heard, quite frequently. I believe it to be a sincere question which demands a sincere answer. This question appeared in a New Zealand publicaton, called the "Elim News", and this is hhe answer which was offered: "Yes, it is possible. It is something like being a student who will not go to school-a soldier who will not join the army-a citizen who will not pay taxes-a salesman with no customers- a businessman on a dessert island-a seaman on a ship without a crew."

The point is that, when a person becomes a born again christian they will want to attend the House of God because God creates within their heart a capacity and a desire for fellowship with Him and with His people and a hunger for the spiritual food which is partaken of at God's table, in God's House. In Hebrews 10:25, God admonishes His people "Not (to) forsake the assembling of themselves together (in His House) as the manner of some is . . . .and so much the more as we see the day (of Christs Coming) approaching".

Get to Know Us . . .

Open house is being held Thursday evening at the convalescent and nursing care unit and the day-night psychiatric unit of Northwestern hospital services in Thief River Falls as part of the National Hospital week observance here. "Get To Know Us Before You Need Us" is the theme for the week.

Comment on hospital week as follows is from the Grafton Record:

This is an annual event sponsored by the American Hospital Association on behalf of its member institutions to create public interest in and support of the accomplishments and goals of our health care institutions.

With the theme of this year's observance, "Get to know us before you need us," hospitals are asking the public to become better informed about the growing responsibilities health care institutions are assuming both inside and outside their walls, and the challenges they face in meeting increasing demands for their services in a time of rapid social and economic change.

In the days of Florence Nightingale, hospitals were little more than resting places for the sick poor. Since then they have evolved into complex health care institutions.

We now go into a hospital expecting not just to be tended to, but to be healed and to have our lives saved, and with lots of "tender, loving care." And beyond caring for our physical ills, hospitals are concerned more and more about the social, psychological and economic problems created by our illnesses.

We look to our hospitals to be centers of effective research into the cause and cure of disease and to their key role in educating the health care professionals of the future.

We have come to take for granted that hospitals serve not only those in bed, but also those whose health care needs can be met in outpatient clinics and with other ambulatory services.

We expect hospitals to stay well, or to help us detect problems before they become serious enough to warrant hospitalization, through community health education programs and screening clinics. We look to our hospitals to help care for us when we are well enough to go home, through home care services, to meet all our medical emergencies, day and night, and to serve as a center for preparedness in times of widespread disasters.

We ask our hospitals to assume leadership in development of neighborhood health centers and seek better methods of distribution of health care services to more people.

This is an era when people regard it as the right of every citizen to have quality health care, and when we are more critical of rising costs of modern health care services and the way they are provided and paid for.

We encourage every citizen of this community to answer the call of National Hospital Week "to get to know" his or her hospital. With knowledge comes understanding and the support, interest and involvement of the community on which our hospital depends, if it is to continue to fulfill our increasing expectations of them with maximum efficiency and economy.

Impossible Machine

Writing in "Energy, Economic Growth and The Environment", published by the Johns Hopkins university press, Glenn T. Seaborg writes about a hypothetical machine which in the aggregate is our United States itself. Here is what he has to say:

"Operating on natural, self-renewing sources of energy, it generates power with an efficiency approaching 100 per cent and still makes beneficial use of its minute amount of waste heat. Anticipating changing public life styles, it provides durable goods and efficient services exactly matching fluctuating demands and distributes these goods and services equitably to all people. It recalls all waste, reduces the waste to its elemental form, then recombines it as basic materials with needed new resources that the machine extracts from nature with a negligible environmental impact.

The Erehwon Machine is selfadjusting to a changing labor market; it provides retaining to workers as it upgrades itself and administers welfare to all it cannot employ. To the unemployed and unemployable, it offers satisfying leisure activities and psychological reorientation to a nonwork ethic. And in doing all this for man and nature, it still hows a profit to its stockholders and a favorable effect on the international balance of payments.

"Seriously, I think much if not all of the task I have assigned to the Erehwon Machine is what most of us would like to see take place. Ideally, we want the beneficial social effects of economic growth with none of the detrimental environmental consequences. We want to just society with well fed, well housed people who are educated and enlightened enough to move easily between productivity and leisure. We want a modern civilization—a highly human one—that approaches a physical equilibrium but is creatively dynamic. In short, this is our new version of Utopia."

Election Predictions

One of the most interesting school board elections in recent years is shaping up for Tuesday in School District 564. Seven candidates have filed for the three positions available with all three incumbents seeking reelection and facing strong competition.

Because of the seven-way split in the vote and the absence of so-called heat-to-head competition (the top three vote-getters will be declared elected), results will be difficult to predict. Add to this the uncertainty of voter turn-out due to the late spring and adverse farming conditions, and the relatively short voting time of 4 to 8 p.m., and the chance of successful predictions is even more remote.

In making the following predictions, we again want to emphasize that they in no way indicate our endorsement of a particular candidate nor attempt to influence anyone's vote. Candidates have done a particularly good job of campaigning for the coming election and we compliment them for it. Our predictions are made merely to allow others to compare their assessments with ours and to create additional interest in the election.

We would expect at least one new member on the board following the election. Larry McDowell has conducted a strong campaign and we would expect him to become a new board member, and quite possibly could receive the largest number of votes cast.

Our guess is that a close four-way race will develop for the other two positions among incumbents Curtis Charlson, Rev. Paul Biegner and Maynard Wedul and challenger Bob Sorvig.

When Charlson ran for office three years ago he was second high in the voting to Edgar Naplin with 1,161 votes—the second high vote total in the history of the district. Assuming that he has maintained that standing, he should also be reelected. That leaves a three-way race for the third position.

Rev. Biegner was first elected three years ago as third man in a seven-man race with 957 votes. Wedul and Sorvig were separated by only seven votes in seeking a one-year term a year ago, although the voter turn-out was only a third of the record vote in 1971. Wedul received only nine of 88 votes cast in St. Hilaire—Sorvig's home area—but they were enough to give him the victory margin.

Our guess is that the tendency to stay with an incumbent when things are going well will make Rev. Biegner the favorite of the three, based on his previous vote total. We would predict his reelection, but we wouldn't cover any bets.

We predict about 1,200 ballots to be cast.

And it should be noted that this election marks the first time a local election candidate has declared in advance his financial interests. Merle Kruschke has issued such a declaration.

Borrowed Nonsense

"My husband didn't leave a bit of insurance."

"Then where did you get that gorgeous diamond ring?"

"Well, he left $1,000 for a casket and $5,000 for a stone. This is the stone."

A woman on a bus told her companion that with Watergate, the idea of gasoline rationing, the price of food and clothing and political problems, it made things difficult for the average person.

"Yes, it was so much more peaceful when we were at war," replied her friend.

The onset of spring can be predicted in a number of ways. One of the most reliable indicators is the appearance of the door-to-door salesman.

In the past a great many complaints have been received by this office regarding the activties of several companies selling magazine subscriptions by door-to-door sales.

In a number of instances, consumers have never received the magazines they ordered, or have received a bill for an additional payment after they believed that they had had paid the full subscription price to the salesman. Other persons have reported that they were told that they could help the salesman to obtain a new job or a prize. Only after agreeing to help the salesman did the consumers learn that they had to buy magazines so that the salesman could earn points.

There are a number of steps that the consumer can take to protect himself from fraudulent sales operations of this type. These steps include:

(1) Deal only with firms that you know and trust.

(2) Check out the company involved with your local police department or sheriff's office and with your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.

(3) Beware of any sales pitch that appears misleading, or in which the intention to sell magazine subscriptions is concealed.

(4) Read all contracts and order forms carefully before agreeing to purchase.

(5) Do not sign an order form containing any blanks which are not filled in.

(6) Check the regular subscription rates of the magazine to ensure that the deal you are getting is as good as it is represented to be.

Remember that the legitimate salesman, who represents the vast majority of door-to-door sales representatives, invites your investigation. If you have a consumer problem contact the Consumer Division, Office of the Attorney General, 102 State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

THE VOICE OF BUSINESS

by Arch N. Booth
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Many of our worst economic problems today can be traced to remnants of a favorite childhood myth: Just rub the magic lamp, or persuade your fairy godmother to wave her wand and the most intractable problems will vanish.

As adults, we're too sophisticated to believe in magic (or at least we were, until recently) so we substitute the word "government" for the friendly spirits invoked at a younger age.

Thus it became established adult folklore in some circles that the cure for any problem is to set up a federal agency to deal with it.

The practice didn't solve many problems, but myths die hard. We are now being told the cure for federal agencies that don't work is another federal agency to make them work.

Such is the reasoning behind the push for a "Consumer Protection Agency." The original federal regulatory agencies—established to protect the consumer—have turned into servants of the industries they regulate. Therefore, we need a new agency to intervene with the old agencies on behalf of the consumer.

That is, we need a new staff of federal lawyers, supported at taxpayer expense, to interfere with the existing staffs of federal lawyers, also supported at taxpayer expense. The new agency could do nothing to help directly a consumer who has been defrauded. It could only complicate the proceedings of other agencies.

Somehow, out of all this interaction, there are supposed to come timely decisions in the public interest. And yet, it already takes from months to years for the existing regulatory agencies to arrive at their decisions, without any official interference.

Are businessmen opposed to this new agency because of their own selfish interest in avoiding additional red tape? Hell, yes! Wouldn't you be?

But beyond the businessman's "selfish" interest is a general public interest too seldom perceived in current public debate: Anything that makes business less efficient ultimately raises prices to the consumer.

How, then, are we "protecting" the consumer by (a) adding directly to his tax burden and (b) adding to the cost of producing the goods and services he needs and wants?

Magic lamps evidently come with an endless supply of magic—no doubt certified beneficent by the consumer product safety commission, nonpolluting by the environmental protection agency, and everlasting by the federal trade commission.

A government's supply of magic, on the other hand, is limited to the economic resources it commands. These resources, in turn, are limited by what an economy can produce.

Government has the option of shifting resources from one group to another—and herein lies the stock-in-trade of the demagogue—but the process of shifting does not expand the total supply. That can be done only through productive activity; activity for which governments seem singularly unsuited.

Consequently, it is not enough to judge a proposed government activity by its stated objective alone. The net cost to society of accomplishing a very desirable objective may still be greater than that objective is worth.

We have reached the point, in my opinion, where our very survival as a society rests on our ability to learn to think about government policy in terms of net cost; to balance an attractive goal against all of the costs—primary and derivative—that will be encountered in achieving it.

The consumer protection agency is a good place to begin applying that rule of thumb.

Incidentally, there is one area that would be exempt from interference by this superbureaucracy. Labor disputes. And that, my friends, says more about the relative political power of "big business" and "big labor" than I could put into several columns.

Price Index Rises 1.1 Per Cent In March

Consumer price index rose 1.1 per cent in March to 143.1 (1967-100), the U.S. department of labor's bureau of labor statistics reported. Higher prices for gasoline and food each accounted for about one-fourth of the rise in the index.

The remainder of the increase was due to higher prices for many other consumer goods and services, notably apparel, gas, electricity, postal charges, and physicians' fees. The March CPI was 10.2 per cent higher than a year ago.

On a seasonally-adjusted basis, the CPI rose 1.1 per cent in March, folowing increases of 1.0 per cent in January and 1.3 per cent in February.

The increase in the food index of 0.8 per cent in March was considerably less than in the preceding two months. The increase in the index for non-food commodities was unusually large for the third consecutive month. The services index rose 0.8 per cent, following increases of 0.7 per cent in the preceding two months

In the calendar quarter ended in March, the CPI rose at a seasonally-adjusted annual rate of 14.5 per cent. This compares with a rate of 9.0 per cent in the last quarter of 1973.

The acceleration in the first quarter was due to large increases for a variety of consumer goods, including gasoline, food, apparel, and household durables. Prices of consumer services rose at about the same rate as in the fourth quarter.

Index for food purchased in grocery stores increased 1.0 per cent, substantially more than is usual for March, but less than the increases in February and in January. Fresh vegetable prices rose. Prices of processed fruits and vegetables, cereal and bakery products and dairy products continued to rise, although not so fast as in late 1973. Increases in prices of sugar and sugar-based items were larger than in recent months.

Beef prices, on the other hand, declined in March following a sharp rise in February. Prices also declined for pork, poultry, eggs and fresh fruits; prices of most of these items usually rise in March.

The index for food away from home—restaurant meals and snacks—rose 0.7 per cent, about the same as in recent months.

The index for nonfood commodities, usually unchanged in March, rose 1.5 per cent. The gasoline and motor oil index rose 7.0 per cent to a level 39.3 perr cent above March of last year. The index for fuel oil and coal declined slightly in March, but it was still 57.7 per cent above March of 1973.

Price increases for apparel commodities were larger than usual for March. Prices continued to increase for other nonfood commodities such as textile house furnishings, housekeeping supplies, toilet goods, newspapers, houses, household durables, and auto parts. New car prices increased instead of declining as they usually do in March. Used car prices continued to decline.

The services index increased 0.8 per cent. In the household services category, postal charges rose almost 20 per cent, and charges for gas, electricity, home maintenance and repair services, laundry work and washing machine repairs increased.

The rise in charges for medical care service was led by a 1.7 per cent advance in physicians' fees. Among transportation services there was a large increase in intercity bus fares. Charges for personal care services and apparel services continued to increase.

Farm Prices Dip Severely In Past 4 Months

A fourth straight month of severe cuts in farm prices, coupled with serious shortages and record production costs for food and fiber, are major threats both to agriculture and to consumers, commissioner Jon Wefald declared recently.

"The ability and even the initiative of our farming industry to meet demands for increased food and fiber production is being severely strained. Farmers can't produce more with a money shortage added to critical shortages of fertilizer, tractors, baling wire and chemical," he warned.

Commissioner Wefald said that the latest farm price averages issued by the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service for mid-April show that "after a few brief months of prosperity in late 1973, farmers are back in the unfavorable position of our economy's chief whipping boy."

Mid-April Minnesota average prices paid farmers were down eight per cent from mid-March. Nationally, prices farmers paid for production inputs in mid-April were two per cent higher than mid-March.

Poultry farmers were hardest hit by latest price cuts, averaging 13 per cent below the previous month. Turkey growers were hit the hardest by 30 per cent price cut from mid-March. The mid-April average of 21 cents a pound for live turkeys was the lowest in 18 months and 38 per cent below a yar earlier.

Minnesota hog producers also joined livestock and poultry producers among the most severely depressed segments of the state's farm economy. Hog prices dropped another 13 per cent in the lst month to the lowest level in 16 months. The mid-April price average on hogs was only 30.1 cents a pound—down 27 cents or 47 per cent below the peak last August. Cattle prices are eight per cent ot 11 per cent below last year.

Grain prices dropped heavily in the lat month, too. Corn fell 9.1 per cent, wheat 17.1 per cent, soybeans 12.2 per cent, oats 17.4 per cent, rye 36.3 per cent, barley 21.2 per cent, flaxseed 13.9 per cent.

Potatoes were the only bright spot for farmers on the mid-April price averages, gaining 7.6 per cent for the month. Commissioner Wefald pointed out to consumers who are concerned about "high" potato prices, that the Minnesota farmer receved an the Minnesota farmer received an average of only 6.35 cents per

Mondale Says Inflation Poses Major Threat

"During Congress recent Easter recess, I travelled to Europe where I met informally with representatives of several western governments. While our talks covered every issue of international concern, the worldwide problem of inflation permeated every meeting," states Sen. Walter F. Mondale.

"It was frequently brought to my attention that no nation has ever experienced inflation of greater than 20 per cent and survived as a democratic society. Today, we are all pushing toward that 20 per cent breaking point.

"The industrialized countries of the world today share not only inflation but weak governments: minority governments in Great Britain and Canada, realignments in Scandanavia, declining popularity for the governments in West Germany and Japan, uncertainty in France, and here at home the threat of impeachment. This combination skyrocketing inflation and uncertain governments--places the tradition of western democracy in a situation of serious jeopardy," he said.

"As inflation has risen over the last several years, the number of democratic governments has declined. I cannot prove a direct connection but I believe that inflation is the most reactionary force in the world today—one that eats at the heart of popular support for democracy.

"Inflation is an international problem which requires international solutions. In my opinion, we must begin to enlist the help of our European allies, of Japan and of the other industrialized countries of the world. We must involve the Third World of developing nations which are the source of many basic commodities. And we must provide a role for what has become known as the "Fourth World"—those countries that have neither adequate financial resources nor natural resources, and in which inflation threatens human life itself," the senator added.

"I have called on the administration to urgently seek a broad international conference on inflation. Just as the United Nations and the North Atlantic Alliance were based on the concept of international security, the purpose of this conference would be to hammer out the basis of a new collective economic security.

"The first task of the emergency international conference would be to understand the causes of the current world inflation. The second would be to develop the programs and institutions required to deal with it on an international scale.

"I believe that if the United States takes the leadership in raising this issue with other countries, they will not fail to respond. If we carefully consult others and seriously prepare its work, this conference can begin to come to grips with a problem that no longer respects national boundaries," he said.

"But for such an effort to succeed, it must develop a vision of a new relationship between the developed northern and developing southern halves of our world. Without such a vision and without such an effort, there can be no lasting economic stability. And without economic stability, we lose the foundation that has supported democratic governments for the last quarter century.

"The time for action is now. The problem will not wait. The point at which hyper-inflation takes hold, where inflation begins to feed on itself, may be only a few digits away. And once it strikes, the world may never be the same again."

DAV National Service Officer Helps Many Ways

Service to the disabled veteran and his family is what the DAV is all about, and the DAV's national service officers (NSO's) are the frontline troops in the organization's ongoing battle to help compensate the disabled veteran for his war-time, service-connected disability and to rehabilitate him to a fully contributory civilian life-style.

The concept of a "claims man" or "Service officer" was originated by the DAV or 50 years ago to help disabled veterans of the First World War process their claims.

Even today, the DAV maintains more nationally paid and centrally administered NSO's than any other veterans' organization.

DAV national service officer does more than counsel the disabled veteran as to available compensation, benefits and rehabilitation services.

He actually functions as he veteran's "attorney-in-fact," by obtaining the veteran's power of attorney, then assisting the veteran and-or his dependents in presenting claims for disability compensation, death or injury, insurance, pensions and other benefits for which they may be entitled under federal, state or local laws.

He is trained to be able to evaluate validity of claims by reviewing legislation, regulations and precedents, and by studying the veteran's medical report and service history.

In representing his client, the disabled veteran, the national service officer will prepare claim forms and briefs and assemble evidence pertinent to the claim. Where necessary, he will request a hearing before the proper governmental board and orally present his client's brief. He also reviews the board decision and decides whether an appeal is warranted or not in the event of a negative decision.

Working in coopeation with the Veterans administration, department of labor and similar government agencies, he will advise the veteran on programs and service for which he may be eligible.

While the NSO nominally works an eight-hour day and 40-hour week, it has been a DAV tradition that the NSO is on duty 24 hours a day. Today's NSO's take pride in sharing this 50-year-old tradition.

A great deal of the NSO's extra-hours activity is concerned with his educational, informational and public relations role. To acquaint DAV members, non-member disabled veterans and their families, and the public at large, with services rendered and rights and benefits due veterans and their dependents, the NSO will participate in—or even initiate—civil functions such as panel discussions, radio and television shows, etc.

In times of crisis, the DAVis on call to handle the crisis and see it through to resolution. In the event of natural disaster such as a flood or tornado, for instance, the NSO will immediately move into the area, search out disabled veterans and their families and offer on-the-spot assistance financed by tthe DAV's disaster fund.

MIRACLE WATER

Don Bjerke

The first coins struck in the North American Colonies were tinged with a little dishonesty after a few months. These first coins were struck at a mint in Boston. The mint dated the coins 1652—and kept dating them 1652 for 30 years—to conceal from British authorities in London the fact that the coins were being minted on a continual basis. It has always been up to individual designers of coins to decide which direction the bust of Presidents face on a coin. Most of them face the left, with the bust of Abraham Lincoln being among the few facing the right. Busts on the half dollar have made at least three changes of direction since 1794.

It is up to the individual home owner to take the initiative to change their style of living with Refined Water. It will change the direction of your whole household, as food and beverages begin to taste and look better, clothing will be brighter and softer, household cleaning will be easier. And you'll have nothing to conceal from anyone. In fact, you will be proud to show everyone how your home sparkles with Refined Water. Take the initiative, change household drudgery to household joy with Refined Water. For more information about a Miracle Water Refiner, call us

Traditionally, NSO's of the disabled American veterans have operated from office space in Veteran's administration central and regional offices in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Now the DAV has decided to reach out into suburban and rural areas of the country to find and assist disabled veteans who, for one reason or another, have not come in to the VA offices for assistance.

A fleet of six mobile field service vans driven and staffed by DAV NSO's is currently touring every state in the Union to bring the services of the DAV to those who would not otherwise be able to claim their just benefits as disabled veterans.

The DAV and its NSO's have come along way since those early days more than 50 years ago when the first claims officers began helping disabled veterans fight their way through the terrible tangles of red tape that encumbered their claims. But the purpose and the will and the resolve have remained the same: service to the disabled veteran and his family.

Mondale Says Inflation Poses Major Threat

"During Congress recent Easter recess, I travelled to Europe where I met informally with representatives of several western governments. While our talks covered every issue of international concern, the worldwide problem of inflation permeated every meeting," states Sen. Walter F. Mondale.

"It was frequently brought to my attention that no nation has ever experienced inflation of greater than 20 per cent and survived as a democratic society. Today, we are all pushing toward that 20 per cent breaking point.

"The industrialized countries of the world today share not only inflation but weak governments: minority governments in Great Britain and Canada, realignments in Scandanavia, declining popularity for the governments in West Germany and Japan, uncertainty in France, and here at home the threat of impeachment. This combination--skyrocketing inflation and uncertain governments--places the tradition of western democracy in a situation of serious jeopardy," he said.

"As inflation has risen over the last several years, the number of democratic governments has declined. I cannot prove a direct connection but I believe that inflation is the most reactionary force in the world today—one that eats at the heart of popular support for democracy.

"Inflation is an international problem which requires international solutions. In my opinion, we must begin to enlist the help of our European allies, of Japan and of the other industrialized countries of the world. We must involve the Third World of developing nations which are the source of many basic commodities. And we must provide a role for what has become known as the "Fourth World"—those countries that have neither adequate financial resources nor natural resources, and in which inflation threatens human life itself," the senator added.

"I have called on the administration to urgently seek a broad international conference on inflation. Just as the United Nations and the North Atlantic Alliance were based on the concept of international security, the purpose of this conference would be to hammer out the basis of a new collective economic security.

"The first task of the emergency international conference would be to understand the causes of the current world inflation. The second would be to develop the programs and institutions required to deal with it on an international scale.

"I believe that if the United States takes the leadership in raising this issue with other countries, they will not fail to respond. If we carefully consult others and seriously prepare its work, this conference can begin to come to grips with a problem that no longer respects national boundaries," he said.

"But for such an effort to succeed, it must develop a vision of a new relationship between the developed northern and developing southern halves of our world. Without such a vision and without such an effort, there can be no lasting economic stability. And without economic stability, we lose the foundation that has supported democratic governments for the last quarter century.

"The time for action is now. The problem will not wait. The point at which hyper-inflation takes hold, where inflation begins to feed on itself, may be only a few digits away. And once it strikes, the world may never be the same again."

DAV National Service Officer Helps Many Ways

Service to the disabled veteran and his family is what the DAV is all about, and the DAV's national service officers (NSO's) are the frontline troops in the organization's ongoing battle to help compensate the disabled veteran for his war-time, service-connected disability and to rehabilitate him to a fully contributory civilian life-style.

The concept of a "claims man" or "Service officer" was originated by the DAV or 50 years ago to help disabled veterans of the First World War process their claims.

Even today, the DAV maintains more nationally paid and centrally administered NSO's than any other veterans' organization.

DAV national service officer does more than counsel the disabled veteran as to available compensation, benefits and rehabilitation services.

He actually functions as he veteran's "attorney-in-fact," by obtaining the veteran's power of attorney, then assisting the veteran and-or his dependents in presenting claims for disability compensation, death or injury insurance, pensions and other benefits for which they may be entitled under federal, state or local laws.

He is trained to be able to evaluate validity of claims by reviewing legislation, regulations and precedents, and by studying the veteran's medical report and service history.

In representing his client, the disabled veteran, the national service officer will prepare claim forms and briefs and assemble evidence pertinent to the claim. Where necessary, he will request a hearing before the proper governmental board and orally present his client's brief. He also reviews the board decision and decides whether an appeal is warranted or not in the event of a negative decision.

Working in cooperation with the Veterans administration, department of labor and similar government agencies, he will advise the veteran on programs and service for which he may be eligible.

While the NSO nominally works an eight-hour day and 40-hour week, it has been a DAV tradition that the NSO is on duty 24 hours a day. Today's NSO's take pride in sharing this 50-year-old tradition.

A great deal of the NSO's extra-hours activity is concerned with his educational, informational and public relations role. To acquaint DAV members, non-member disabled veterans and their families, and the public at large, with services rendered and rights and benefits due veterans and their dependents, the NSO will participate in—or even initiate—civil functions such as panel discussions, radio and television shows, etc.

In times of crisis, the DAV is on call to handle the crisis and see it through to resolution. In the event of natural disaster such as a flood or tornado, for instance, the NSO will immediately move into the area, search out disabled veterans and their families and offer on-the-spot assistance financed by the DAV's disaster fund.

Traditionally, NSO's of the disabled American veterans have operated from office space in Veteran's administration central and regional offices in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Now the DAV has decided to reach out into suburban and rural areas of the country to find and assist disabled veteans who, for one reason or another, have not come in to the VA offices for assistance.

A fleet of six mobile field service vans driven and staffed by DAV NSO's is currently touring every state in the Union to bring the services of the DAV to those who would not otherwise be able to claim their just benefits as disabled veterans.

The DAV and its NSO's have come along way since those early days more than 50 years ago when the first claims officers began helping disabled veterans fight their way through the terrible tangles of red tape that encumbered their claims. But the purpose and the will and the resolve have remained the same: service to the disabled veteran and his family.

MIRACLE WATER

Don Bjerke

The first coins struck in the North American Colonies were tinged with a little dishonesty after a few months. These first coins were struck at a mint in Boston. The mint dated the coins 1652—and kept dating them 1652 for 30 years—to conceal from British authorities in London the fact that the coins were being minted on a continual basis. It has always been up to individual designers of coins to decide which direction the bust of Presidents face on a coin. Most of them face the left, with the bust of Abraham Lincoln being among the few facing the right. Busts on the half dollar have made at least three changes of direction since 1794.

It is up to the individual home owner to take the initiative to change their style of living with Refined Water. It will change the direction of your whole household, as food and beverages begin to taste and look better, clothing will be brighter and softer, household cleaning will be easier. And you'll have nothing to conceal from anyone, in fact, you will be proud to show everyone how your home sparkles with Refined Water. Take the initiative, change household drudgery to household joy with Refined Water. For more information about a Miracle Water Refiner, call us.

Ditch Project Is Eligible For Partial Payment

Minnesota ASC committee has advised local officials that it will be returning a request for special funding on improvment of ditches 13, 18 and 30 to be revised and resubmitted, according to Wallace Sparby, local ASCS office manager.

The state committee would approve payment of costs for seeding the berm and installation of field outlet structures but would not be involved in grading of slopes or field diking, the state committee's spokesman said. It is expected the state contribution would be about $46,000 of the project's $146,000 estimated total cost.

Eight Council Candidates Give Election Views

Lovanell Kraemer

I became a resident of Thief River Falls in the fall of 1968 when I accepted a position as an insturctor in the AVTI cosmetology department. I own my home at 320 Riverside. I'm married and have three grown daughters.

I believe I am a well-qualified candidate for alderman at large because of previous experience as Mayor of Winsted, Minnesota; policewoman in Hennepin county; Civil Defense director; secretary of the St. Mary hospital and home; secretary of the Winsted Civic and Commerce association; treasurer of the Winsted Community Chest; president of the State Board of Cosmetology; presently a member of the Governor's Regional Enviromental Education committee.

As a woman I can add something to the community. Thief River Falls in the next few years will be making many changes and will in time become the metropolitan city of the Northwest. I would like to have a part in its development.

I have always been active in community affairs and

Thank you for giving me this opportunity to present my background before the voters of Thief River Falls.

Thief River is my home town. I started school in the old Washington grade school and graduated from Lincoln high in 1946. I then enlisted in the U.S. Army and served in Korea. I attended college at Moorhead state teachers college under the G.I. bill and when my parents moved to Washington, D.C., I transferred to Wilsons Teachers college there.

My wife, Ardis, and I were married in Washington and then moved back to Thief River to make our home.

Since coming back in 1953 I have been active in many community programs, ever striving to help make our city a better place in which to live. I have believed that living in a community also requires involvement in its activities.

While serving with the Jaycees the members elected me to be their president. Being active in the Northrop P.T.A. I was elected president there also, following which I was elected president of

I have resided in the city of Thief River Falls for most of my life. My wife, Fran, and I have two children, Mrs. Wes (Cleo) Groslie and family of Minneapolis and Donald and family of this city. As a result of living and raising a family here, I feel that I have a full awareness of the needs and desires of the citizens of Thief River Falls.

My association and contacts with the public extend over a period of years. I have been a member of the Thief River Falls park and recreation board for years and it has been my desire that the city have and maintain a beautiful park system, one that we can be proud of. I always have supported and wanted a well organized and supervised recreation program for the youth of our city. I now think the time has come for the city to make available recreation programs for our senior citizens.

I have had the opportunity to serve in the capacity of secretary of the Elks Lodge for 28 years, a position that has been most rewarding because it has afforded me the privilege of many warm and joyous visits with

I am a candidate for alerman at large for the city of Thief River Falls because of an interest in the city and its people. Having been a resident for the past 17 years I have seen many changes and improvements take place. It is my hope and desire to have a hand in future improvements and changes that may occur.

I was born at Ada in 1930, attended rural school in that area and graduated from Audubon high school in 1948. After high school I worked as a partsman for an implement company and automotive business. I am a military veteran, having served in the U. S. Army during the Korean conflict,

Upon discharge from service in 1954, I enrolled at Moorhead State college, receiving a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in mathematics and a minor in business education. In 1957 I began teaching mathematics in Thief River Falls where I am still employed. In addition, I have been teaching driver education for the past 15 years. I have taken course work at Carleton college, Bemidji state college and received a Master's Degree in

As a lifelong resident, I am aware of our community problems. As a former educator, veteran and churchman, I feel I have a contribution to make to the decision-making process of our city.

We have made tremendous progress in recent decades. We are proud of our city. Developments for developments' sake is the thing. We have become so business-orientated that we have neglected human relations. Our priorities should be revalued. Let's catch up with ourselves. We have a need to become more socially conscious.

There are three areas of concern: (1) The rising bonded indebtedness of our city is a threat to future contingencies. It is so easy to spend the taxpayers' money; but it is unfair to mortgage the future generations. We need a ceiling on municipal indebtedness.

(2) The vexing problem of a teen-age center is nearer to solution. Recently I learned that Hibbing (twice as large as our city) has operated for years an excellent youth center in their Armory. This is a community-

My entire candidacy for alderman of ward four revolves around my belief that government at all levels must be open to the people.

My opening comment therefore is an invitation to discuss with me what you feel must be done in city government. My phone and my home are openly available for discussion. I will also attempt to meet someone in each household in my ward prior to election. If elected, my openness will not end with the election.

I believe my personal and community background will allow me to serve effectively the city council.

I am a graduate of Lincoln high school and Bemidji state college. I have been involved with assorted farm-related work during high school and college, have seven years of teaching experience, and have been manager-owner of Christy's Vending service for three years.

My family includes my wife Kay and two children—seven-year-old daughter Sara and three-year-old son Aaron.

I have served as scoutmaster of Troop 50 of Zion Lutheran church

I am 32, married and have two children. We have lived on South Crocker since 1968, having moved to Thief River Falls in 1967. I received my BA and MA from the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. My wife Suzanne and I taught one year in Alaska before settling here.

My work experience includes four years as an employee at the Valley City municipal swimming pool, one year as assistant manager and one year as manager there. For two years I worked as an orderly at Valley City Mercy hospital, and after college for a year as head teacher at Perryville, Alaska.

For the last seven years I have been employed by the State of Minnesota as an instructor at Northland here in Thief River Falls.

I believe I am a qualified candidate because of my political and civic involvement in Valley City, Perryville and here in Pennington county and Thief River Falls. In addition I am working with the Public Service program at Northland, have served as a special advisor to the Perryville village council, and I

I am seeking the office of alderman for 4th Ward because I would like to represent the people in city government.

I have been a home owner in the 4th Ward since 1956 and first moved to Thief River Falls in 1953. My work experience includes being county agent in Pennington county and Grant county at Elbow Lake. I owned an insurance agency in Thief River Falls in 1956 and 1957. I graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1951 after studying Agricultural Technology including economics and other sciences.

I was raised on a farm near Pipestone. I am 45 years old and my wife's name is Melba. She is from northern Minnesota (Baudette) and the mother of my six children. Our family includes three boys and three girls ranging in age from 10 to 20. My family and I have been active in our church and community. KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Recipes from the First Graders At the Goodridge Public school

What constitutes greatness? Residents of this area had the opportunity last week of attending several open house events. At Northwest Bell Telephone company, the results of man's scientific mind was witnessed. My ordinary mind couldn't comprehend how the repair men can tell which telephone line is out of order even though the wires are color coded. I left there thinking, "That is man's greatness."

The tour of the facilities at Northwestern hospital was equally rewarding. Although I have been a patient at the hospital a number of times, there were departments that were new to me. How fortunate we are to have a hospital such as Northwestern in this community. While looking at the simple beauty of the chapel, I thought, "Here is proof of man's greatness." "Proof that man, in his greatness and with all his knowledge and some of the best medical and surgical facilities at his disposal, still needs God.

That evening a young woman came to our door. She is a mother of two and a foster mother of three, all under five years old. During the day, she baby-sits two. I envied her stamina. When she left, I thought, "That is greatness."

The following day, I attended a funeral in my home church. The esteem in which the deceased was held was evidenced by the people that filled the church proper, the basement and church yard. Listed among the survivors was a great-grandchild that was not a blood relative. That child was loved as much as the others. As I looked at the flag draped casket I thought, "Here is greatness." After all, isn't that what greatness is all about, being superior in their own field?

Now, for the lighter side of life. Last Christmas, the first graders at Goodridge school, with Myrtle Thompson as teacher, compiled a cook book of original recipes. I hope you will enjoy them as much as I did. The name of the child follows each recipe.

FIRE DESTROYED the residence of the Lawrence Boutain family during the afternoon of May 13. The structure was located about nine miles north of Oklee in Pennington county. When the Oklee fire department arrived at the scene, smoke was coming through the walls of the dwelling. Members of the family were able to save some of their belongings including appliances and furnishings. Pat Barry, assistant state fire marshall, and Chuck Richards, Pennington county sheriff, were conducting an investigation at the scene when this photograph was taken Thursday afternoon.

FIREMEN were called to the Edwin Berggren residence at 122 North Kendall avenue about 3:45 p.m. Friday. They discovered a fire in the basement of the structure where heavy smoke forced them to work primarily through the basement windows. When department personnel were able to enter the structure they found that the basement stairs had burned out, hindering their access to the area. Pictured are (left to right) Dave Praska, David Bjorkman, Terry Wiszek and an unidentified member of the department. Fire damage in the basement was extensive with smoke damage throughout the building. Neither the value of the loss nor the cause of the fire was immediately determined. Two youngsters, Mark Forsberg and Kendall Kompelien, told the Times reporter that they were riding their bicycles on Kendall avenue when they saw smoke coming out of a window of the Berggren residence. They proceeded to a nearby house and reported their discovery. The fire department received their call from residents at 204 North Kendall.

To Meet Tuesday On Bicentennial Observance Here

To organize efforts for the bicentennial observance in Thief River Falls an organizational meeting will be held Tuesday at the meeting room of the city auditorium in Thief River Falls, according to Mayor Robert Carlson. Coffee will be served at 8:30 p.m. with the meeting to start at 9 p.m.

The city council has passed a resolution directing the mayor and city clerk to complete the necessary papers and make application for the city to become a bicentennial community. Such communities are encouraged to indicate possible projects which would tie in with the 1976 observation of the nation's 200th birthday.

Among suggestions for Thief River Falls are a law enforcement center, historical village, airport expansion, remodeling of city offices and city auditorium, updating of airport road and new fire department building. Some of these projects are already in progress and others are proposed.

Representatives of a number of community organizations have been invited to participate in the organizational meeting. Others which may have been missed or individuals interested in assisting with the projects are invited to attend the meeting Tuesday.

Spring Quarter Enrollment Up At 'U' of Minn.

There are 45,348 students enrolled at the University of Minnesota this spring, nearly 600 more students than were enrolled a year ago at this time.

All but one of the five campuses—Morris is the exception—show increases over last spring quarter. Figures are for regular daytime students who had registered by the end of the second week of the quarter.

When the current enrollment figures are compared with the previous quarter the usual pattern emerges: Each quarter after the fall quarter typically shows a decline from the quarter before.

Comparative enrollment figures are as follows with the spring enrollment of 1974 and 1973 and the changes listed respectively: Twin Cities, 37,629 and 37,003, up 626; Crookston, 598 and 541, up 57; Duluth, 4890 and 4,847, up 43; Morris, 1,475 and 1,591, down 116; Waseca, 353 and 301, up 52; and Mayo graduate school of medicine, 403 and 473, down 70.

Sheriff Reports Theft Of Cow, Reward Offered

Pennington county sheriff Charles Richards reports that his office is investigating a number of incidents reported during the past week, including the theft of a cow from a farmer in Hickory township. The animal was butchered in a nearby church yard.

Harry Hanson, a Hickory township farmer, reported on May 14 that someone had stolen a four year-old cow from his pasture and butchered the animal in the yard of Nazareth church. A reward of up to $1,000 is offered by the Northwestern Stockmen's association for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who stole this or any other livestock taken within the association's membership area.

The Nazareth church was the scene of another recent crime. It was entered during the previous week and property with an estimated value of $1,500 was stolen. Items taken include a Hammond organ with bench, an amplifying system, two bronze candelabra with a matching cross, two collection plates, a 100 cup coffee urn, two lawn mowers and several folding chairs.

Gasoline was stolen recently from the Mobile bulk plant located along Highway 32 north of Thief River Falls. A lock was forced to steal an undetermined amount of fuel.

Floyd Haugen reported on May 11 that someone had entered his residence in Star township and stole a General Electric portable television, a General Electric radio, a rifle rack, a fishing rod and reel, a bow, arrows, and ammunition.

James Berg of Cloverleaf township reported that someone had stolen a tractor radio valued at $70. Harry Paulson of Goodridge had a hydraulic ram valued at $55 stolen from his equipment.

Hospital Ass'n. Plans Workshop At NW Hospital

Teams of health care professionals from the Thief River Falls area will be meeting at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls on May 23 and 24 for a workshop on a monitoring process called patient care evaluation program (PCEP) which reviews the care given in hospitals.

The workshop is one of a series of 16 planned throughout the state by the Minnesota Hospital association, the Minnesota state medical association, and the Minneapolis-based foundation for health care evaluation.

Purpose of the workshop is to explain how to begin a review program which will be acceptable to the federal professional standards review organization (PSRO) law.

Law requires that all hospital care given to patients in such federal programs as medicare and medicaid must be reviewed to avoid unnecessary treatment, overlong hospital stays and even unnecessary hospitalization.

This mandated monitoring would be peer review which means practicing physicians in an area would monitor their colleagues through a system of checks of patient records.

Minnesota has been divided into three PSRO or peer review areas. This monitoring system could be implemented by organizations that are eventually named the PSRO for each area in two ways. First, the PSRO could actually do the reviewing itself. Second, the PSRO could approve the review system implemented and effectively run by each hospital.

The workshop on May 23 and 24 will show hospitals how they can begin an effective review system which should be acceptable to a PSRO. The review, called the patient care evaluation program (PCEP), has an effective monitoring process but still allows an individual hospital to customize it to its unique needs.

The three sponsoring organizations developed this PCEP review process because they recognized the need for flexibility in a review process rather than a blanket type review. This is because the health needs of communities vary just as the need of a 50-bed hospital vary from the needs of a 300-bed hospital.

Physicians will be the key figures in this review, but they will need the backup support of other personnel. So, the workshop is geared for a complete hospital team of a physician, trustee, administrator, and hospital personnel who would coordinate the monitoring process. During the two-day program, participants will learn how to begin a review program and how to customize it.

Hospitals from Thief River Falls, Ada, Roseau, Warroad, Crookston, Red Lake Falls and Warren will be sending participants to the Thief River Falls workshop.

City Candidates Give Views On Election Issues

organizations, such as the ladies auxiliary of the VFW, Legion auxiliary, Minnesota Association of Policewomen, Thief River Falls Education association, Business and Professional Women and Eastern Star. I served as treasurer of the First Presbyterian church, Winsted, and am affiliated with the United Methodist church of Thief River Falls.

The concerns of the community are my concerns. The citizens should be informed and should have the right to express their views through their council members. During my term of office as Mayor of Winsted, I was successful in decreasing their indebtness. I hope that I could be of some assistance in this respect for Thief River Falls.

I would, if elected, try to the best of my ability to be a responsible representative of the people.

Foster . . .

the Thief River Falls P.T.A. council.

I was asked to be Cubmaster of the Zion Lutheran church Cub scout pack 59, and with the help of many wonderful parents and youngsters we built Pack 59 into the largest Cub scout organization in our area. During those years we began the Canadian-Thief River exposition exchanges.

Being active in my church, I formed the first organized ushers committee and caused over 100 members to become an active part of their church. I have taught Sunday school and served on the board of trustees being elected chairman.

I have been elected exalted ruler of the local B.P.O. Elks, master of Northern Lodge 236, high priest of Royal Arch Masons and president of the Northwest Shrine club.

When we started to organize a program for the mentally retarded, I served as one of their first treasurers, and have watched that program grow into the present Day Activity center, that we can all be proud of.

I am now serving as treasurer of the Elks, and secretary of Northern Lodge 236.

As can be noted, I have worked with many of the adults and youngsters of Thief River over the past years, and I feel that my involvement in community affairs has given me an insight into the hopes and desires of most of our citizens.

Having matured, and raised three children, through the changing 1950s, and the upheaval of the 1960s, and now have teenagers in the almost unbelievable 1970s, I feel I have managed to keep abreast of the changing times. Our youngsters of today are well educated, active and well informed members of our society, and are looking to adult leadership and understanding. I believe our city government should be alert to these needs.

I would encourage industry in our area to help relieve the tax burden of the working people, and provide employment for our youth, so we could retain their valuable contributions to our community. I feel taxes are a necessary evil in our Democracy, but I would strive to see that the forms of taxation are fairly distributed to all, so all would pay only their fair share.

My employment with Electrolux corporation and North Star insurance permits me the opportunity and the time to attend all the meetings so necessary to arrive at proper decisions affecting our city affairs.

If you should select me to represent you as your alderman-at-large I will continue to devote as much time as necessary to fulfill your requests and represent you to the best of my ability.

I sincerely ask for your vote on May 28 for Ralph Foster, alderman-at-large. Thank you.

Engelstad . . .

members and non-members who have been confined to Northwestern hospital.

My wife, Fran, and I are members of St. Bernard's church.

I know the two most important categories that would qualify a candidate for the position of alderman-at-large are experience and time availability. I say now to the voters of Thief River Falls, that with my past six years experience on your city council, that I have both. I think that it is very important that you seriously consider these two qualifications when you vote on May 28.

Much has been accomplished in the past few years, such as: Completion of a new water tower; completion of the new sewage lagoon ponds; acquiring two new fire trucks, thus giving better fire protection for our citizens; negotiating adequate fire protection, with their excellent cooperation, for the five townships we now serve; and finalization of plans for water plant remodeling. I am proud to have been a part of these accomplishments. I would indeed be a privilege and honor for me to serve as your next alderman-at-large. I do have the experience.

My sincere thanks to the Thief River Falls Times for this opportunity to express myself.

Restad . . .

education from the University of North Dakota in 1968.

I am married and with my wife Barbara and children Bruce and Cindy have a home at 221 North Merriam Avenue. I am a member of Trinity Lutheran church, having served on the board of parish education and am currently on the youth board. I am a member of the American Legion, having served as a vice commander and adjutant of the local post. I was a volunteer for the United Way in 1973. I am currently on the scholarship and leadership committee for the local Elk's lodge, a member of the national, Minnesota and local education association and belong to the Minnesota driver and traffic safety education association.

Much is said about experience. How does one obtain experience? By serving. I encourage your vote and support in the election May 28 as I feel I can represent the public interest quite well on matters that come before the city's governing body.

Thank you.

wide project, well supervised and a credit to its citizens. If Hibbing uses its armory, why can't we follow the same success pattern? The costs would be minimal.

(3) A major church denomination is ready to launch a project known as LEE—simply, Life Enrichment for the Elderly. The time has come to accept our senior citizens as persons and not as things! Frequently, up in CNC, I hear a visitor's thoughtless remark, "Look at that poor thing", as if the patients were on display.

In the church program, I envision some wonderful concerns, namely a hot lunch at noon program together with a free movie, entertainment, act. This is not a meals on wheels program. We have an opportunity to become a pilot program under LEE. It would be community-wide with a Christian approach enlisting the services of many of our citizens and organizations.

The program should begin in January, 1975 to help minimize the grim isolation of the winter months for our elderly. Will you help? Many factors are involved: Census, costs, transporation, personnel and acceptance.

In conclusion, a good councilman communicates the needs and preferences of people, offers real help when needed, and is, among other things, honestly and constructively aggressive.

Wedul . . .

and have served Zion as a former deacon and current vice president.

I am presently a member of the Total Community Development committee of the Chamber of Commerce and am also serving as the public education chairman for the Pennington county unit of the American Cancer society.

I believe my background will allow me to serve effectively on the city council in providing a responsible evaluation of needs in our city.

Having spent 20 of my 32 years in Thief River Falls, I am aware of and enthusiastic about the potential of our area, county and city. I am now involved with various committees attempting to provide direction to community and area development. Any suggestions or comments concerning city government are welcomed; just call 681-1076.

Steidl . . .

am presently an honorary member of the Minnesota Juvenile Officers association.

In my advertisements I have indicated my concerns for specific problems in the Fourth Ward, especially traffic control. On a wider scale I believe that residents of the Fourth Ward and Thief River Falls as a whole are concerned about some special municipal services such as the need for a community center that could especially serve the youth and older citizens. I believe we will come close to meeting this need by removing city offices from the auditorium and converting the building to a community center.

President facilities for city offices are inadequate, and I endorse the plan to move the offices. In the case of the police department, I also would recommend the much needed law enforcement center. Presently, neither the police or sheriff's department have space for their own personnel, and the one lock-up facility in the county located in the city auditorium has been condemned.

I feel the new combined law enforcement center, even with matching federal funds, shouldn't cost city and county residents an arm and a leg, so I would support the least expensive site to keep the total cost down. The water plant side seems most advantageous in this respect. If the center must be downtown, rather than purchase and develop commercial property, I would endorse using the old arena site, which I believe would be cheaper to develop. If that is necessary, I feel the old arena, for better future development, should be relocated somewhere on the east side and replaced with a quonset type structure.

I would like to be elected Fourth Ward alderman because I believe I represent the needs and interests of the ordinary residents of our city. As a wage earner, homeowner and taxpayer, I understnad your concerns. Because my parents are retired and live on social security, I also know the concerns of the elderly.

I believe the downtown business area is adequately represented on the city council. If elected I will represent the "residents" of my ward, and because my work schedule is flexible I intend to be available for both my constituents and the business of the council.

I have been invited to teach farm management classes at the Midwest Banking institute each year since it began in 1967, including Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana.

My present job is to help county extension agents in Northwest Minnesota with their farm management programs. I know the importance of working with people and helping them gather information for decision making.

I believe I can meet the issues of city government with understanding and vote for the things that will be beneficial for the people of this neighborhood.

Red Lake County F. U. Asks New Federal Agency

Congress should consider actions to give producers a seat on the proposed new federal agency to regulate commodity trading and also on each board of trade regulating commodity trading.

These recommendations were made to Congressional leaders in a resolution adopted at a countywide meeting of officers and leaders of Farmers Union in Red Lake county, according to Mrs. Oscar Lunke, secretary-treasurer.

The resolution pertained to the Poage bill, H.R. 11955, which has been approved by the House agriculture committee and is expected to get consideration on the House floor in May or June.

Senate Agriculture committee has several bills before it, including a comprehensive reform bill introduced by Minnesota Senator Hubert H. Humphrey.

Farmers Union statement endorsed the creation of a new agency to replace the existing commodity exchange authority, but urged that it be an independent agency, separate from the U.S. department of agriculture, because high USDA Officials have repeatedly taken the position that commodity boards of trade ought to be left to police themselves.

Farmers Union resolution called for tighter regulation of commodity trading on futures trading and urged that all commodities be brought under supervision and control automatically when futures trading begins on them.

The new agency should have authority to cope with the situation when unduly heavy buying by foreign interests takes place. It should also have injunctive powers to prevent violations or abuses before they cause severe market disruption, the statement urged.

LuAnn Lillevold Awarded Two Scholarships

LuAnn Lillevold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Torrance Lillevold of Grygla, was recently awarded the John C. Sulerud fine arts scholarship at Concordia college in Moorhead.

Miss Lillevold will be a senior at Concordia. She is majoring in music and minoring in chemistry.

John C. Sulerud fine arts scholarship is awarded annually to a member of the junior class who has demonstrated outstanding ability or potential in music or art.

Miss Lillevold also received the Alliss Education foundation scholarship. This scholarship is made possible by a grant from that foundation to Concordia, and is primarily available to students in the upper 40 per cent of any class.

Mehrkens Farm Has Top Dairy Herd For March

Jerry Hamre, supervisor of the Pennington county Dairy Herd Improvement association, puts the following herds as the top in the association of the month of March with average pounds of milk and butterfat listed respectively:

Mehrkens Farm, Inc., 59.2 and 2.2; Albert Chruszch, 50.4 and 1.71; Darrow Lundeen & Sons, 48.6 and 1.7; Knute Nesland, 48.2 and 1.8; Duane Krohn, 47.3 and 1.7; Orlan Stolaas, 47.2 and 1.7; Hamrick Bros., 46.4 and 1.80; Gene Nelson, 46.3 and 1.9; Myron Erickson, 43.6 and 1.6; and Duane Vatsaas, 43.4 and 1.6.

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd since amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month.

If many dry cows are included in the herd, average for the month may be low, although the cows which are milking are high producers.

There were 39 herds on test in March with a total of 1,513 cows in the Pennington association.

Five cows finished with over 600 pounds of butter fat during the testing year in a 305-day or less lactation. They were from the following herds:

Orlan Stolaas, 631; Clarence Swanson, 618; Gene Nelson, 619; Marvin Koop, 618; and Mylo Carlson, 621.

Grygla Teacher Settlement Said 17.87 Per Cent

Settlement of teacher salaries at the Grygla school district represents an increase of only 17.87 per cent, according to Al Sollom, Uniserv director for the Kramer-Brown district of the Minnesota Education association.

"The increase in the value of teachers' salaries plus a $240 insurance program for each faculty member has resulted in a total economic package value increase of 17.97 per cent for the 13 faculty members of the Grygla school system," Sollom said.

In evaluating the 1974-75 school year settlement, Sollom pointed out that the percentage was computed only on the 13 teachers presently in the system and did not take into account the additional faculty to be hired for next year when high school classes are to be offered for the first time.

According to Sollom, if the new faculty was figured into the package the percentage figure would increase dramatically. It is not proper to include new faculty positions in computing percentage of increase, he said, because comparisons thus reached are not valid.

If the value of the extra-curricular package was added to the salary increment the value of the negotiated package would increase to over 24 per cent.

"The Grygla settlement was close to the MEA goal of a 20 per cent increase," Sollom said, "and is the highest per cent of settlement reported in the state to date."

Thought For The Day

Peggy Pond Church wrote a poem entitled "Ultimatum" which discloses both the dilemma and the great opportunity which confronts modern humanity.

"Now the frontiers are all closed.
There is no other country we can run away to.
There is no ocean we can cross over.
At last we must turn and live with one another.

"We cannot escape this day any longer.
We cannot continue to choose between good and evil
(the good for ourselves, the evil for our neighbors);
We must all bear the equal burden.

"At last we who have been running away must turn and face it.
There is no room for hate left in the world we must live in.
Now we must learn love. We can no longer escape it.
We can no longer escape from one another.

"Love is no longer a theme for eloquence, or a way of life for a few to choose whose hearts can decide it.
It is the sternest necessity; the unequivocal ultimatum.
There is no other way out; there is no country we can flee to.
There is no man on earth who must not face this task now."

Forced Censorship

Since being named as one of 25 Minnesota newspapers in an action by the Minnesota department of human rights, alleging discrimination in our classified advertising columns, we have been making a more concentrated effort to avoid use of words which may be considered discriminatory. Main problem in this area where there is little race or ethnic complications is the possibility of sex preference in employment.

The suit against this newspaper and 24 others was initiated by the National Organization of Women. In our efforts to avoid discriminatory use of advertising, we now find we must discriminate against our advertisers. We must tell a person looking for a mature woman to care for young children that we can not specify a mature woman in the ad, for example.

Our advertisers become indignant with our refusal to accept their preferences at times, and we can hardly blame them. When a college girl wants to advertise for another girl to share an apartment, it seems an affront to tell her she must advertise for a "person" to share her abode.

Somewhat indicative of our plight in serving as censor for the government agencies is a listing of words with which we have been provided by the wage and hour and public contracts division of the U.S. department of labor (which division we never before even knew existed). The division tells us that the list of terms "are considered discriminatory and in violation of the age discrimination and employment act of 1967."

What are these forbidden terms? Such descriptive words as young, boy, girl, age 25-35 (or similar age ranges), college drop-out, college student, draft exempt (even if there is no draft), maximum 2-5 years experience, junior accountant, age over 65, retired representative and more than a couple dozen others.

Not in violation are such things as boy or man (when used together), girl or woman (when used together), college grad—no experience, girl Friday, mature couple, middle age or elderly man, over 16 years, 1-3 years experience and a couple dozen more.

But then comes the hooker. "Title VII of the civil rights act of 1964 prohibits publishing of advertisements by employers, labor unions and employment agencies when such advertisements discriminate on the basis of sex," says a statement at the end of the list. "Many of the terms listed above express an arbitrary preference for members of one sex. It should be pointed out ahat the use of such terms may violate Title VII and that its enforcement is entrusted to the equal employment opportunity commission."

In other words, the list of non-violation words and terms may be in violation of another act. That drops the ball squarely back in our lap.

We would agree with the Brainerd Daily Dispatch, another of the 25 papers cited, when it notes the following:

One of the disturbing aspects of all this is that the newspapers are being put into a position where they can use only words approved by the government in their advertising columns. This, it seems, violates the provisions of the First Amendment to the Constitution.

One worries where the government will stop in this matter of forbidden words and phrases. It could go on and on because there is nothing to prevent the government from adding to this list, ad infinitum.

There is also nothing to assure that other pressure groups won't decide to join the action and come up with their own list of forbidden words which, if approved by the government could not be used by newspapers.

The word usage issue may not involve just newspapers, of course. If the discrimination thing is carried to the ultimate, one can visualize the day when rest rooms won't be labeled "men" or "women" any longer, but just simply persons.

The government, on the other hand, is not very consistent. First, one branch tells us that we cannot differentiate between the sexes. Then, another branch, through the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) proceeds to set forth a set of specific rules and regulations concerning working conditions for women employed by a firm and another set for men.

Again, we don't belive in discrimination, but feel sometimes that the wrong definitions are applied to this word. Somehow, it just doesn't seem to be discriminatory if the president of acompany wants his telephone answerer to be a woman. What about his 'rights'. Why shouldn't he be allowed to have a woman's voice answer his telephone if he wants it so?

By telling this man that he can't advertise for a woman to fill that position, the newspaper is forced into a censorship role and at the same time is encroaching on this man's right of expression.

The main danger in all this is that the government is putting itself in the position of telling us just exactly what we can say and what we can't say.

Word Games

Although it may seem at times that Washington is the only place where word games are taking place—especially at this point in time—but columnist Ron Lindquist of the Morris Tribune suggests a new word game which sounds like fun. Here is what he writes:

If you're the kind who gets easily hung up on word games, don't read a word further.

Okay, but don't say we didn't warn you, because the little game we're going to lay on you next can be embarrassingly habit forming, if not out and out addictive.

It all started (at least to our knowledge) when George Kimball, sports writer for the Boston Phoenix began musing in his columns about the far-out names being attached to athletic teams these days—particularly those in the World Football League (such as the Chicago Fires). Kimball challenged his readers to invent team names of their own and was immediately inundated with 432 suggested titles ranging from the midly zany (would you believe the Mobile Homes, The Derry Queens or the Peiping Toms) on up to some truly inspired insanities such as the Accra Bats, the Bayonne Nets, the Perth Snatchers and our all-time favorite, the London Derrieres.

The problem with Kimball's contest is that it's infectious. The chuckles that the names induce seem to subtly slip the gears in a certain kind of mind. The victim tries a tentative pairing or two himself, becomes increasingly delighted with his own wit (no matter how feeble) and before he knows it is combining atlases and road maps in search of more and zanier place names for his insatiable habit.

We know a few acquaintances who got addicted to the Kimball syndrome and the result was a lost weekend of "creative" thought which resulted in some 250 new team names of wildly varying merit.

Stocking strictly to the U.S., how about: the Lansing Boils, the Spokane Words, the Rockford V-8's, the Davenport Cushions, the Casper Milquetoasts, the Helena Handbaskets, the Seattle Sores, or (for the history fans) the Cheyenne Boleyns.

They don't get any better friends, so brace yourself for ideas like: Duluth Teeth, the Woonsocket To Me, the Hammond Eggs, the Eau Claire Voyants and the St. Paul Bearers (a streaky team if ever there was one.)

But why shouldn't the pain have an international flavor: Therefore: the Bombay Doors, the Melbourne Yesterday, the Cairo Practors, the Buda Pests, The Amsterdam Foos, the Basel Rathbones, the Zambezi Signals, the Ankara Ways (a great team on the road) and last but hardly least, the Dieppe Purples.

Borrowed Nonsense

A lecturer, talking on the population explosion to a woman's club, stated: "Do you realize somewhere in the world a woman is giving birth to a baby every second?"

The audience gasped.

The lecturer asked:

"What should we do about it?"

A woman declared: "Find her and make her stop!"

About 400 Minnesota high school seniors were considered before the 72 player north and south teams were announced Friday for the first annual Minnesota Shrine high school all-star football game that will be played July 27 in the University of Minnesota's Memorial stadium in Minneapolis.

Lincoln high school athletic standout Tony Dorn was among the select 72 player roster for the game that will match the state's finest high school seniors against each other on a north-south basis.

A committee of coaches from each of the state's eight athletic regions screened all applicants for the game, a process that took nearly a full year, reported Thief River Falls head football coach Jim Sims, a member of the region eight committee.

The roster selection process began with each of the state's football coaches receiving a letter asking if he felt anyone on his team was deserving or capable of playing in the game. Nearly 400 1974 graduating seniors then applied for the 72 player roster.

"Recommendations from opposing coaches was probably the biggest factor in the team's selection," said Sims who pointed out the criteria for the roster selection. "The player's credentials, such as size, speed and individual accomplishments were also factors figuring in the selections," noted Sims.

Lincoln high school junior Wayne Peterson, the 6-8 Prowler center who helped lead Thief River Falls to the Minnesota state high school basketball tournament in 1974, will be attending a summer basketball camp conducted by University of Minnesota basketball coach Bill Musselman June 16 to 22 at Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter.

Prowler basketball coach Lee Swanson pointed out that Peterson will be attending the same session that three recent Gopher recruits will attend, including Mark Olberding from Melrose; Chad Nelson from South Dakota; and Mark Landsberger from Mounds View.

A number of Thief River Falls youngsters will be attending coach Dave Gunther's summer basketball camp at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks.

Anyone interested in acquiring basketball camp information can contact Swanson at Lincoln high school.

Dallmann Pitches No-Hitter

Prowlers, Otters Split Friday Double-header

Senior righthander Randy Dallmann pitched a no-hitter to lead Thief River Falls past Fergus Falls 4-0 in the first game of Friday's high school baseball double-header played at Fergus Falls, but the Otters bounced back to win the nightcap 5-2.

TRF 4
Fergus Falls 0

Playing for the first time in two weeks because of the continuous wet spring weather, the Prowlers surprised even themselves by playing a near perfect game to blank the Otters 4-0 in the first game of Friday's twin-bill.

Dallmann permitted just three Fergus Falls players to reach base during the six inning game as he struck out eight while walking just two batters and hitting another. Fergus Falls never advanced a runner past first base as the Prowler defense backed up Dallmann's stand-out effort by playing errorless ball.

Neither team picked up a base hit in the game until the Prowlers scored a single run in the fourth inning off the Otters' Dave Grewe. Sophomore first baseman Chris Biegner singled to start the inning. Grewe struck out the next batter, but Prowler second baseman Duane Dicken doubled home the game's first run. Thief River Falls added a second runner when Tim Erickson walked with two outs, but Grewe got out of the jam by recording his third strike out of the inning.

Thief River Falls finally salted away the well played game in the fifth inning when Biegner followed consecutive one-out walks to Jeff Lindquist and Cliff Shumway with a two-run double for a 3-0 lead. Dicken added an insurance run by singling home Biegner with two outs for the final 4-0 margin.

Joel Folger, another Prowler senior righthanded pitcher, became a victim of circumstances in the second game as Fergus Falls scored five unearned runs, all with two outs, to win 5-2.

The Prowlers managed to post a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Dallmann started the inning by walking. He stole second and later scored on an error.

Fergus Falls scored its first runs of the afternoon in the third inning after the first two batters had been retired. An error, three straight base hits and a wild pitch pushed three Otters across the plate in the frame to give Fergus Falls a 3-1 edge.

Thief River Falls sliced the difference to 3-2 in the top half of the fourth when Biegner led off with a double and later scored on an error.

Fergus Falls wrapped up the triumph in the Otter half of the fourth, though, again after two batters were out. Two base hits and another error allowed two unearned Fergus Falls runs to score to account for the 5-2 final in the six inning game.

Folger struck out eight and walked only one batter, but the Otters combined six timely base hits with four Prowler errors. Meanwhile, Biegner's double was the only base hit given up by Fergus Falls pitcher Terry Brown.

Prowlers & Pirates Split Double-header

District 31 rivals Thief River Falls and Crookston split an important high school baseball double-header played Saturday on the Crookston diamond.

The defending district champion Pirates won the first game 10-9 in ten innings, but the Prowlers bounced back to win the nightcap in impressive fashion 14-2.

Coach Ralph Skay's Prowlers will close out their 1974 regular season schedule Tuesday by traveling to Red Lake Falls for a 6 p.m. double-header. Thief River Falls owns a 3-6 season record.

Crookston scored three runs in the last of the tenth inning after Thief River Falls had pushed two runs across the plate in the Prowler half of the tenth to squeeze out a 10-9 extra inning win in the double-header opener.

The Pirates took advantage of three first inning walks issued by Prowler senior righthander Jeff Langlie to score three early runs.

Thief River Falls erupted for six runs in the fifth, highlighted by Randy Dallmann's two run home run. Base hits by Chris Biegner and Duane Dicken also produced Prowler fifth inning runs.

Crookston quickly tied the game 6-6 in the bottom of the fifth. Langlie loaded the bases and was relieved by Dallmann who promptly unloaded the sacks with three run producing wild pitches.

Prowler centerfielder Jeff Lindquist led off the ninth with a triple and scored moments later on a single by Cliff Shumway to give Thief River Falls a 7-6 edge.

Crookston came back to tie the game in the last of the ninth on a single, followed by outfield error.

Tenth inning walks issued to Jon Peterson and Murray Melander resulted in two Prowler runs on a Crookston error and wild pitch to give Thief River Falls a 9-7 lead.

Crookston won the game in the last of the tenth, though, on four base hits—the winning run scoring with two outs.

Rain Ends Short 1974 Northland Baseball Season

Northland community college's 1974 baseball season came to an abrupt end Wednesday with rain cancelling a scheduled Northland-Crookston Tech double-header at Crookston.

A decision was also made not to play a non-conference twin-bill against Itasca of Grand Rapids that was scheduled to be played on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond because of the field's muddy conditions.

The cancellations of the final Northland games left the Northmen with a 6-5 season record as the Northland squad played just 11 of 24 scheduled games.

Northland wins were posted over Crookston 3-0, Fergus Falls 16-4, Vermilion 4-1, Brainerd 10-2 and Hibbing 14-12 and 7-4. Northland losses were suffered at the hands of Crookston 15-2, Vermilion 12-0, Brainerd 11-5 and Fergus Falls 5-3 and 10-6.

A more detailed season ending Northland baseball team summary will appear in a later edition of the Times.

Crookston Edges Prowlers By 3-2 In Tennis Dual

Crookston swept all three singles matches to edge Thief River Falls 3-2 in high school tennis action on the Crookston courts Thursday.

A pair of Prowler doubles triumphs by Scott Engelstad and Brian Waale in number one doubles and by Gary Laidley and Terry Sullivan in number two doubles wasn't enough to off-set the Pirate singles wins, even though Crookston ace Brent Reichert was missing from the Pirate line-up.

Engelstad and Waale decisioned Crookston's Jay Johnson and Guy Martin 6-0, 6-3 while Laidley and Sullivan out-pointed Crookston's Tom Hurst and Paula Hurst 6-2, 6-2.

Crookston singles wins were recorded by Mike Wilkens with a 7-6, 3-6, 6-0 win over Tim Engelstad in number one singles; by Chuck Olson with a 2-6, 6-2, 7-6 win over Keith Breiland in number two singles; and by Pat Shanahan with a 6-1, 7-6 triumph over Bill LaValley in number three singles.

NORTHLAND COMMUNITY college golf team was scheduled to compete in the MJCAA state and NJCAA region XIII golf tournaments today (Monday) on the Bunker Hills golf course in Anoka. The Northmen were rated as pre-meet favorites for both tournaments, scheduled to be conducted simultaneously. Members of the Northland tournament squad included, left to right, Jim Strandemo, Dick Penning, Lee Sorensen, coach Al Adams, Jay Moum and Mark Metusalem.

Newfolden Ends Regular Season

Newfolden closed out its 1974 regular season baseball schedule Thursday by beating Badger 13-8 on the Marshall County Central diamond.

The two teams traded first inning runs before Badger scored three times in the top of the third for a 4-1 advantage. Newfolden trailed only briefly, though, as the Nordics erupted for six runs in their half of the third for a 7-4 lead. The teams matched single runs again in the fourth and then finished the scoring in the sixth as the Rockets tied the game 7-7, but fell behind again when the Nordics scored five runs in the bottom of the inning.

Newfolden out-hit Badger 11-6, with Badger holding an unwanted 5-4 edge in erros. Mike Fincher was credited with the pitching victory to push the Nordic season record to 6-5.

Dan Magner, Gary Kujanson, Steve Nelson and Keven Sethre all picked up two base hits for Newfolden.

TWELVE YEAR OLD Murray Anderson of Thief River Falls started the 1974 Minnesota fishing season off with a bang Saturday morning by landing this nine pound, ten ounce northern about 6 a.m. while fishing in the Red Lake river near the horseshoe bend. Murray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Anderson of Thief River Falls.

Nordics Sweep Twin-bill From M.R. 4-3 and 7-5

Marshall County Central evened its 1974 baseball record at 5-5 Wednesday with a double-header sweep over visiting Middle River on the Newfolden diamond.

Coach Jim Pederson's Nordics won the first game 4-3 and claimed the nightcap 7-5.

Senior righthander Gary Kujanson checked Middle River on just four base hits in Newfolden's 4-3 first game win. The Nordics banged out ten base hits while scoring single runs in first, second, fourth and fifth innings. Middle River pulled to within 2-1 in the third, but fell behind 4-1 before rallying for a pair of fifth inning runs.

Four different Newfolden batters picked up two base hits in the game as Dan Magner and Jeff Sorenson went two for two and Kujanson and Steve Nelson hit safely twice in three at-bats.

Newfolden recovered from a 4-0 first inning deficit to win the second game 7-5.

Middle River pushed across four runs in the first inning and went in front 5-0 in the top of the second before Newfolden scored twice in the Nordic half of the second. Newfolden scored three runs in the third inning to gain a 5-5 tie and then wrapped up the win on Sorenson's two run double in the last of the seventh.

Magner picked up the win, although the Skippers out-hit the Nordics 7-6. Middle River was hampered by four errors.

Eighth grader Bob Tunheim and Sorenson each picked up two base hits in three trips to the plate. Sorensen, a sophomore, added four RBI's on his game winning double and a two run homer.

Rain Changes LHS Sports Schedule

Early morning rain produced a pair of changes in today's (Monday) Lincoln high school athletic schedule.

The Prowler baseball team's scheduled afternoon home game against Warren was cancelled and will not be made up.

The scheduled running of the district 31 girl's track meet at Crookston was postponed until Wednesday at 1 p.m.

Memorial Day To Be Observed Next Monday

History of our nation is a history of courageous men who put personal liberty above all else—and who were willing, if need be, to lay down their lives for it, notes the American Legion.

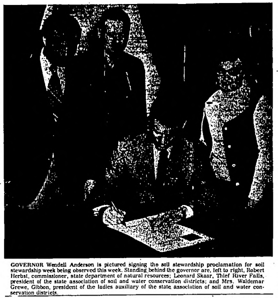
"From the War For Independence to, and including, the recent Vietnam war, whenever Americans have seen the dignity of the individual endangered by totalitarianism, they have not hesitated to take up arms to protect the precious freedoms on which our America was founded," the organization's news service states.

"This year, as we honor the memory of all Americans who, down through the years, have given their lives in the cause of human freedom, let us remind ourselves of our constant obligation to guard well the ideals and principles for which those Americans fought and died.

"Some Americans believe it is fashionable today to be 'right on' with the left liberal movement and political militant groups in ridiculing anything connected with patriotism, law and order, the military and patriotic holidays in general. Americans who ignore or even ridicule our war dead should be reminded that they have their free speech and their good life today only because of the sacrifices of those who were willing to fight and, if necessary, to die for those precious rights," the news service states.

"Those who are continuously nit-picking and finding fault with our nation today, should count their blessings and imagine what America and Europe would be like if Germany had won in World War I or II. If these dead had not given their lives in the winning of it, God knows how vile and brutalizing to mankind the past half-century could have been!

"One reads of battered babies and remember young Americans who were killed in war, before they could know the jobs of fatherhood, and wonder if they would have fought with the same determined spirit had they known that the freedom for which they were fighting would be so cruelly abused," the American Legion adds.



GOVERNOR Wendell Anderson is pictured signing the soil stewardship proclamation for soil stewardship week being observed this week. Standing behind the governor are, left to right, Robert Herbst, commissioner, state department of natural resources; Leonard Skaar, Thief River Falls, president of the state association of soil and water conservation districts; and Mrs. Waldemar Grewe, Gibbon, president of the ladies auxiliary of the state association of soil and water conservation districts.

"It would be a sad mockery indeed if, through indifference or plain neglect, we the living ever permitted the way of life for which Americans have given their life's blood to be destroyed by the very ideologies against which those Americans battled to the death.

"The sincerest tribute we can pay to America's war dead is to appreciate what our American system of individual freedom, opportunity and enterprise really means to each of us. The Americans who died for our nation believed in a better future. It is up to you to "Be Counted Again" and work for this future!"

Dr. Hess Heads Largest Meeting Of Scientists

Dr. Eugene Hess, former Lincoln high school graduate, directed the 58th annual session of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology (FASEB) recently in Atlantic City, N.J.

Dr. Hess, executive director of FASEB, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle S. Hess, formerly of Thief River Falls, and brother of Phil Hess of this city. The convention is reported to be the largest scientific convention in the world with attendance ranging from 12,000 to 16,000 during the five-day period.

Membership in the federation includes biologists in the United States and 56 other countries with 84 of the members having won Nobel prizes.

JOHN J. WOMACK, Thief River Falls, was recently elected as one of the board members of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. (MiSCCA). This is a statewide volunteer board.

Public Hearing At Crookston On Power Location

Five locatons for public hearings have been scheduled by the Minnesota environmental quality council to hear from all interested persons, representatives and organizations concerning the adoption of the proposed rules relating to the location of large electric power plants and high voltage transmission lines. Meeting for this area will be May 29 at the University of Minnesota technical college at Crookston, at 3 and 7 p.m.

Authority to provide for power plant site and transmission line route selection was given to the council by the 1973 legislature in the Minnesota power plant siting act. Prior to this act, Minnesota had only an indirect and limited authority over the location of power plants and transmission lines, through the permit process and local government zoning.

The proposed rules are intended to embody the legislative direction stated in the act, that "...the environmental quality council shall choose sites that minimize adverse human and environmental impact while insuring continuing electric power system reliability and integrity and insuring that electric energy needs are met and fulfilled in an orderly and timely fashion."

The council is also directed to adopt broad spectrum citizen participation as a principle of operation.

Emphasis on citizen and public partipation is important because the act preempts ". . . all zoning, building, or land use rules, regulations, or ordinances promulgated by regional, county, local and special purpose government." However, state permits required to construct or opeate such facilities must continue to be obtained from the appropriate state agency.

Chief requirements of the proposed rules include procedures for utility forecasts of electric demand and facilities to meet the demand, a statewide inventory of potential power plant site and transmission line corridors, designation of a site or corridor, the issuance of a transmission line construction permit and the public participation in each aspect.

Eriksson Earns All A's At UND

Mervin Eriksson of Thief River Falls was among students at the University of North Dakota recently honored for achieving "A" averages during the first semester of the 1973-74 academic year. Eriksson and other straight-A students living in UND's residence halls were recognized at a banquet.

Soil Stewardship Week Proclaimed By Gov. Anderson

"A Different Place" is the theme of the 1974 soil stewardship week and Governor Wendell Anderson, by proclamation, has declared May 19-26 for this observance. Leonard Skaar, Thief River Falls, president of the state association of soil and water conservation districts, was present for the signing.

Soil stewardship week is sponsored annually by over 3,000 soil and water conservation districts across the United States, with the cooperation of local churches of all denominations.

"The theme was inspired by recent changes that affect and condition the attitudes and actions of our people, making us feel like we are living in a different place," Skaar said.

"First, there is the emergence of shortage in such basic areas as food and fuel. Second, there is the rising cost of living, which is compounded of greater demand, short supplies and diminishing purchasing power of the dollar. Third is the decision to halt pollution and take steps to protect the quality of our environment," he added.

Minnesota's 92 soil and water conservation districts are involved directly with these changes. For example, recent food shortages have caused an estimated 42.5 million acres of "set aside" or "conservation" acres to be brought back into production. Much of this acreage was originally "set aside" because of its soil erosion hazards and wildlife values. The present concern is obvious!

Top priority in 1974 district programs has been placed on sediment and erosion control, especially on these new acreages.

Governor Anderson's proclamation notes that Minnesota is rich in natural resources, lakes and streams, fields and forests and that the high quality of Minnesota life is founded in our bountiful soil resources and an adequate and pure water supply; and that the physical and spiritual well being of every citizen depends on proper care and management of our soil and water resources.

"Minnesota's pioneering reputation for water and soil conservation belongs to all its people who support conservation programs founded on the wise use of our soil, water, woodland and wildlife resources," he said.

"This year marks the 37th anniversary of the Minnesota soil conservation district act enacted by the legislature in 1937; and the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts in cooperation with the national association of conservation districts is observing soil stewardship week May 19 to May 26.

"In recognition of, and full appreciation for, the accomplishments and bright outlook for the future of the conservation moevement in Minnesota and in cooperation with the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts, I do hereby proclaim the week of May 19-May 26, 1974, to be soil stewardship week."

The governor urged churches, schools, rural and urban civic clubs, organizations and agencies in cooperation with Minnesota's 91 soil and water conservation districts to observe this week with ceremonies and programs stressing the importance of wise and sustaining use of our natural resources for the present and future well-being of our people.

Jorgen Austad Is Noble Grand Of Odd Fellows

Young Pine Lodge 3221 of the Odd Fellows in Thief River Falls held its annual election of officers Thursday. Jorgen Austad was elected Noble Grand to head the lodge for the next term, and will succeed G.H. Anderson whose term will expire in September. Hilmer Lunke was elected Vice Grand.

Other officers were reelected and include Henry Thorson, financial secretary; Millard A. Nelson, recording secretary; Lawrence Aase, treasurer; and H.R. Lund, trustee. Other trustees whose terms carried over are R.A Werner and Alfred Longren.

Annual grand lodge session of the Minnesota Odd Fellows will be held June 20, 21 and 22 at the St. Paul hotel in St. Paul. Joe Vallet, regional director, was elected as the local delegate.

The Odd Fellows recently conducted their mortgage burning ceremonies covering their property at 204 LaBree avenue. The building houses Corner Drug and Carlson's Rainbow bakery with lodge quarters occupying the second floor. This mortgage covered an extensive remodeling project. The local Odd Fellows built the corner portion of the building in 1899 and have owned and occupied the building ever since.

Erdahl To Seek Reelection As Sec'y. Of State

Minnesota secretary of state Arlen Erdahl has announced he plans to seek re-election to that office. Erdahl, a former state legislator and Faribault county farmer, is currently serving his first term as Minnesota secretary of state.

Erdahl had been running for the 2nd District Republican endorsement of U.S. Congress. In a surprise upset, Rep. Tom Hagedorn won out over Erdahl on the 20th convention ballot at the April 27 meeting.

Secretary Erdahl is a graduate of St. Olaf college and Harvard university. He served with the U.S. army in the far East and then operated the family farm near Blue Earth. Erdahl has been active in promoting full disclosure of all campaign financial activities, rotation of names on the ballot, and other election law reforms.

Mr. and Mrs. Erdahl, the former Ellen Syrdal, are the parents of four sons and one daughter.

Secretary of state is one of six Minnesota constitutional offices. He serves on the executive council and investment board, and is the state's chief election officer and commissioner of registration. The office also contains the uniform commercial code and the corporation division.

Two New Members Elected To TRF Board Of Education

Larry McDowell

Robert Sorvig

Maynard Wedul

With a good turnout of 1,465 voters going to the polls Tuesday, two new members were elected and one incumbent returned to the Thief River Falls board of education for three-year terms. Maynard Wedul was reelected and Larry McDowel and Robert Sorvig topped the slate of candidates to gain election to the board.

Defeated in bids for reelection were Rev. Paul Biegner and Curtis L. Charlson, each of whom had served one three-year term. Charlson was presently serving as board chairman and Rev. Biegner as treasurer. New board members will take office at the first meeting in July.

McDowell received 990 votes in the election for the largest vote total, followed closely by Sorvig with 939. Wedul received 697 votes with Rev. Biegner in fourth place with 551 and Charlson fifth with 464. Irvin Schmitke polled 428 votes, Merle Kruschke received 11 and two write-in votes were cast for Lee Schultz and one for Fred Sorensen.

Defeat of incumbents was not unique in the area, however. At Red Lake Falls incumbent Rev. Roger Raebel finished third in the voting in a six-way race for two positions as two new members were elected. Public Meeting To Air County Seat Situation

To discuss recent developments in the attempted relocation of the Marshall county seat from Warren to Newfolden, a public meeting has been called by the Marshall County Improvement association for Friday at 8 p.m. at the Marshall county central school gymnasium in Newfolden.

Robert Fincher, chairman of the association, states in an advertisement in today's issue of the Times that he is inviting the county auditor, county attorney, county commissioners and members of the courthouse committee based in Warren to attend the meeting.

It's too important to miss. To quit would mean that democracy doesn't work. It must work. That's what this country is all about."

Other statements from Fincher are included in the advertisement which is directed to citizens of Marshall county, both east and west. He reviews the recent actions by which petitions presented by the improvement association were not officially filed. Council Catches Mistake In New Beer Ordinance

Thief River Falls city council passed a resolution last night (Tuesday) in an attempt to rectify an oversight which would allow Sunday on-sale of beer in this city.

After holding three readings of an ordinance to conform the city's on-sale beer regulations to state law allowing sales to 1 a.m. on week days, city attorney Robert Wurst noted that the new ordinance which was adopted last week also provided for on-sale of beer on Sunday. However, that was not the expressed intention earlier by the council and councilmen were unable to arrive at an immediate solution.

Rather than defer action until next week, Mayor Robert Carlson offered to veto the proposed ordinance without letting it become law. The council proceeded to pass a resolution asking the mayor to veto the ordinance which had been adopted at last Tuesday's meeting.

The council also concluded that local liquor establishments should not be open for business during Tuesday's municipal election.

An agreement was approved to extend the present contract with Minnkota Power Cooperative, Inc. until October 20, 1977. The present wheeling contract expires in 1975.

The council also authorized rental of the former Len's tire shop building to Hydra-Mac for $500 per month. The proceeds from the three or four months of the agreement would be placed in a special fund for future use for a proposed community or youth center.

Crash Cushions Being Installed On State Roads

Crash cushions are being installed this spring at 14 sites on Minnesota highways as protection for errant motorists at exit ramps, near bridge piers and other possible obstacles. Completion of the $157,449 contract will bring to 43 the number of impact attenuators placed on trunk highways since 1969.

The current project includes installation of a "water wall," an assembly of 84 cells containing a non-freezing solution, positioned adjacent to a bridge railing of eastbound Interstate Highway 94 in St. Paul. The crash cushions will be faced by a 74-foot-long fender on a curve of the freeway east of the John Ireland boulevard interchange.

The safety cushion systems being used on the state's major highways are of two types, the hydro-cell such as that for the "water wall," and the inertial barrier, which is formed from frangible plastic barrels containing various weights of sand. Both are generally arranged in clusters. Available space at potential hazard points determines the type of impact attenuator used.

The sand barrel barriers, distinctive by their orange color, will be installed at eight locations: on eastbound I-94 at each of the seventh st., ninth st. and tenth st. exits in St. Paul; on I-35W southbound at U.S. highway 10 eastbound in Mounds View; on I-94 eastbound at Lexington ave. in St. Paul (Midway); on I-35 at Mesaba ave. in Duluth; I-35 at 22nd Ave. W. and I-35 at I-535 in Duluth (West End), and on the U.S. Highway 10 underpass of a railroad crossing in Moorhead with the attenuators positioned before the bridge's center piers.

The first engineered crash cushions on state highways were installed on U.S. highway 12 and Wayzata boulevard where the two routes divide on the west edge of downtown Minneapolis.

Kibbey engineering and construction, inc., Eden Prairie, is the contractor for installation of the 14 energy-absorbing barrier systems.

American Legion District Band Forms Auxiliary

Mrs. Bob Davidson of Thief River Falls was elected vice president of the Ninth District American Legion band auxiliary at an organizational meeting held recently at Crookston.

Although the American Legion band has been in existence for 45 years, this year was the first attempt at forming an auxiliary unit. Mrs. Dick Ramsey of Grand Forks will head the organization with Mrs. Herschel Lysaker of Crookston as secretary-treasurer.

Dick Ramsey is president of the band itself with other officers including Roy Nolte, Moorhead, vice president; John Fluer, Grand Forks, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Eng of East Grand Forks and Herschel Lysaker of Crookston, business managers. Joe Silovich of Audubon was elected band director again and Dan Loibl of East Grand Forks was elected assistant director.

The band was organized at East Grand Forks in 1929 and appeared the same year—dressed in bib overalls—at the district convention in Thief River Falls. Three years ago the band received its fifth set of uniforms from the district. Band members represent 22 localities in the district and travel over 2,000 man-miles for each meeting. The group is the only district band left in existence.

Business manager Lysaker states the following about the band:

"Since 1930, the band has appeared at every state convention, many other district gatherings and also some North Dakota and Canadian conventions. The organization has been the offical band at Winnipeg four times during the International War Veterans alliance meetings and was honored as the official band at the Parliament building memorial services attended by thousands.

"The band has attended national conventions in St. Louis, Los Angeles, St. Paul, Miami Beach, New Orleans and last August, stole the show in the National American Legion parade held in Honolulu, Hawaii. The wives who accompanied their husband bandsmen to Honolulu said the sight of the Minnesota Legioneers with their hundreds of flags marching to the music of the 9th District band playing 'Americans We' and 'Salute to the Sultan' alternately was a thrilling sight and was worth the cost of the trip.

"It was the first band to use the combined drum corps and band on marches in the state convention parade in Rochester. The band began the memorial parade in Crookston in the thirties using the number 'The Vanished Army'. Most of the credit for the continued success of this band must go to the late T. W. Thorson, who served as its director of the first 40 years of its existence.

"Last fall the band appeared with its full membership leading the funeral procession for him. This impressive sight, with the heart warming music of the 'Vanished Army' will long be remembered by the Crookston community and was deeply appreciated by the Thorson family."

Bergland Joins Legal Action On Release Of Funds

Seventh District Congressman Bob Bergland recently joined 15 members of the U.S. House of Representatives in legal action to force the office of management and budget (OMB) to release $4.5 billion appropriated for nine domestic programs including grants for rural water and sewer projects.

The suit contends that OMB and its director, Roy Ash, have "unilaterally terminated" and "repeatedly and systematically frustrated" programs funded by Congress by refusing to release the funds. Several similar court actions to release funds appropriated for other federal programs have been successful with rulings that Ash's actions are illegal.

In addition to $120.3 million impounded from programs for rural water and waste disposal grants, the suit covers $401.7 million for basic water and sewer grants $11.6 million for Water Bank, and $3.4 billion in federal highway aids.

Bergland said the suit was brought "only after repeated efforts to correct OMB's actions and Ash's refusal to comply with federal laws."

Joining Bergland in the court action are 15 members of the Congressional rural caucus an organization of U.S. Representatives from farm districts.

Student Loan Program Changed To Give Savings

A change in the federal guaranteed student loan program modifying "need" requirements will mean significant savings for thousands of students who apply for loans under the new Minnesota state student loan program according to Richard C. Hawk executive director of the higher education coordinating commission.

Under a law signed recently by President Nixon, students may borrow up to $2,000 on an interest-subsidized guaranteed student loan without submitting proof of need, if their adjusted family income is $15,000 or less per year. A student with a subsidized loan is not required to pay interest while in school.

Present loan program regulatons require that students pay seven per cent simple interest on loans per year. Students must pay this interest every three months while in school unless they qualify for a federal interest subsidy. If a student can demonstrate sufficient financial need, the federal government pays the interest while the student is in school.

"Under the new regulations for the Minnesota program, we estimate that 40 per cent of applicants who previously would not qualify for subsidized loans, will now be able to get them and won't have to pay interest while in school," Hawk said. "The change will save thousands of dollars for thousands of students."

Under the old regulations, some 60 per cent of applicants qualified for subsidized loans. With the new regulations, to be effective June 2, approximately 95 per cent of the Minnesota student loans will be subsidized, Hawk said.

A student whose family has an adjusted annual income of $15,000 a year or less may still apply for an interest-subsidized loan larger than $2,000, the information on needs analysis will not be made a part of the student's application and that application may be treated as if the requested loan was for $2,000.

Minnesota state student loan program operates with the state being the lender under the federally insured student loan program; as a result, changes in the federal program affect Minnesota.

Minnesota loan program applicants will benefit from another savings recently announced by the Coordinating Commission, which administers the loan program.

The Commission will pay the insurance premiums for loans on behalf of student borrowers. The U. S. collects the insurance premiums, ¼ per cent, to pay for loans which are in default. Usually the student is obligated to pay the fee.

Operation of the loan program began in February with the sale of $29.4 million in revenue bonds. Because it is financed by revenue bonds, there is no cost to the taxpayer. The first loan was disbursed to Cynthia Hoffman of Maple Grove, a student at the Minnesota Institute of medical and dental assistance, in Minneapolis, during the april commission meeting. The Commission expects to disburse approximately $10 million in loans prior to the start of the 1974-75 academic year.

Application forms are available at offices of financial aid at post-secondary institutions, and a student should contact the financial aid officer at the institution he or she will attend.

Mrs. Roger Gave of Riverview trailer court was driving south in the court on Reserve avenue about 8:36 a.m. Friday and struck a parked car owned by Gary Clow. The Clow vehicle was pushed into another parked car owned by Wayne Stavenes. Damage to the Gave vehicle was estimated at $1,000 with about $200 in damages to each of the parked cars.

Mrs. Steven Hall of Northland village reported Friday that someone had stolen groceries valued at $20 from her car while it was parked behind 412 North Arnold avenue.

notes from the governor

In November of 1973, I announced my intention to ask the Minnesota Legislature to enact a comprehensive program in housing rehabilitation.

The primary purpose of this program was to provide financial assistance at favorable terms to homeowners who wished to repair and rehabilitate their homes. Secondly, the program was intended to provide additional tools to local governments to use in insuring that Minnesota continues to have high quality housing stock.

The 1974 Legislature, in one of its more significant actions, enacted this program. The result was $100 million in bonding authority for home rehabilitation loans, legislation for local governments to deal effectively with hazardous buildings and absentee landlords, and the first statewide bill permitting an urban homestead program.

The Legislature also increased the general bonding authority of the Housing Finance Agency from $150 to $500 million so that new programs for mortgages for new construction of both single family homes and multiple-unit dwellings will also be available.

Each of these bills is important. Each provides new tools for dealing with Minnesota's housing problems.

And each can provide assistance in the rural areas as well as in the urban areas of our state.

In order that local government officials, representatives of lending institutions, and interested citizens may learn as much as possible about each of these bills, a series of seminars is being held around the state beginning this week and extending through the middle of June.

The purpose of the seminars is to give all areas of the state an opportunity to understand the specific ways in which the legislation can be used.

Cooperating in this venture are the League of Minnesota Municipalities, the Metropolitan Council and the regional development commissions. This joint effort will go far to insure a successful implementation of the program.

With interest rates continuing to increase, with the availability of mortgage money more difficult to acquire now than before, and with federal housing programs virtually not operating, it is important that all Minnesotans know more about state programs in housing.

I am proud of the record of the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency and the assistance it has been able to provide in its short history. This record can be made even better with the new legislation passed by the 1974 Legislature.

Minnesota Ranks Second In Mink Pelt Production

A continuing decline in Minnesota production of mink pelts is confirmed in the 1973 annual report issued by the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service, but this state continues to rank second only to Wisconsin as the nation's leading supplier of the valuable furs.

Minnesota production last year totaled 417,000 pelts, 4,000 or one per cent less than 1972. The state also lost five mink ranching operations, and closed 1973 with only 157. U.S. pelt production was up 2.4 per cent, ranch numbers down 3.7 per cent.

A seven per cent cut in Minnesota pelt production is indicated for 1974 by the mink ranchers reporting that 121,000 female mink have been bred to produce kits this year, compared with 130,000 bred females a year ago. National production will be up slightly, with 905,000 female mink bred, 3,000 more than a year ago.

Minnesota continues to lead nine reporting states in production of platinum type mink, and ranks second in output of pastel, standard, pearl and violet type pelts.

The total number of restaurants in operation at the close of the two respective quarters rose from 67 to 116.

To The Citizens Of Marshall County

On May 10th, officers of the Marshall County Improvement Association went to the County Auditor of Marshall County, Charles Cheney, to file our Petitions to bring to a referendum vote, where the new courthouse should be located. The petitions which have been circulating for about a month contain 3,911 signatures. 3,838 would be required to force a vote; an amount equal to 60% of the voters in the last general election.

The County Auditor refused to accept the petitions for filing without being advised by the County Attorney, who was out of town that day. The County Auditor asked for copies of the petitions so that the County Attorney might study them on his return. We told the County Auditor under no circumstances would we leave copies of the petitions until they were filed by his office. We agreed to return on Monday, May 13, 1974, at 3:30 P.M. at his request, to file the petitions. When we arrived on Monday, the County Auditor informed us at that time, that the County Attorney had advised him to go ahead and accept the petitions and file.

So we turned over to the County Auditor the necessary affadavits and the petitions for filing. The County Auditor and his staff began counting signatures and running off on copy machines our copies of the petitions. When we left the Courthouse we were assured they were filed. On May 15th, 1974, at 3:15 P.M., the County Auditor stopped by my home and informed me that the County Attorney ruled the petitions illegal, because of notice of intent to petition was not given according to the law. Now we find out that the petitions were never filed. And they had, in my opinion, no intention of filing the petitions. I'm very disappointed that our elected county officials would try to deny the citizens of this county their right to vote. The Warren Sheaf had all of the details in that paper and on the street before the commissioners or the M.C.I.A. officials knew anything about it.

According to our information the Notice of Intention to Circulate the Petition is proper and that it was done in accordance with both the case law and statutes covering this area.

One of the requirements is that "two weeks posted notice shall be given at the county seat". Our notice was posted on the front door of the courthouse along with public notices which we feel was in conformance of the requirement. The County Auditor filed our petition and later apparently on the advice of the County Attorney, said they were illegal because we were not posted in three public places. We are not aware of any such requirement and we are of the opinion we have conformed to the law.

The purpose of the Notice of Intent to Circulate is to give notice to the people of the county that a petition is being circulated so that the people will be aware of it and have an opportunity to oppose it if they so desire. It seems to me very hard to claim that people of Marshall County were not aware of the petition being circulated when I announced to the County Commissioners at a board meeting attended by all the county commissioners, the auditor, and county attorney, and about 450 voters from all over the county that we intended to circulate the petition and they passed a resolution granting us twenty days to do so. The matter of circulating the petition appeared on the front pages with bold headlines in every newspaper in the county and in fact full page ads in opposition to the petition appeared in county newspapers.

A meeting for all of the citizens of this county will be held at the Marshall County Central High School gymnasium at Newfolden, Minn. on Friday, May 24, 1974, at 9:00 P.M. This meeting will be of importance to all the citizens of this county whether you live in the western end or eastern end. We urge you to attend. I can understand opposition for moving the courthouse. Moving the courthouse is not the issue now. YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE IS THE ISSUE and to try and stop the people of this county from voting, by every legal loop hole that can be found is unbelievable. This meeting is about your vote. It's too important to miss. To quit would mean that democracy doesn't work. It must work. That's what this country is all about. I'm also inviting the County Auditor, the County Attorney, the Commissioners, and the Courthouse Committee, to attend this meeting.

Marshall County Improvement Association

Congratulations are in order for the Northland community college golf team following its smashing success in the Minnesota state and region XIII junior college golf tournaments.

The Northmen rallied from a five stroke deficit after 27 holes to post a four stroke winning margin over second place Austin to capture Northland's first ever state and region championships.

"There was an awful lot of pressure on everybody that was in contention, and the guys said they were pretty nervous when they first went out there," commented Northland coach Al Adams.

"I guess they were still a little tight at the beginning of the second day, but they came around alright and played real good golf."

"I thought it was our good team balance that brought us through the tournament. Balance has been the thing that's made us a good team all year; everybody on the squad is capable of shooting par and winning a medal.

"Winning the championships were definately one of the highlights of my association with athletics," offered Adams.

Northland's golfing wins were a continuation of the school's sudden athletic success this season. The Northland basketball team cruised through a banner 20-5 season, narrowly missing a state championship and a possible region and national tournament berth, while the Northland hockey team advanced to the championship game of the MJCAA state tournament and earned a berth in the national tournament for the first time.

Thief River Falls slow pitch softball league voted Monday night to join the amateur softball association of American (ASA) and the Minnesota recreation and park assoication (MRPA).

"Joining the two associations will give our league and town more exposure," pointed out Mike Anderson, Thief River Falls slow pitch softball league publicist. "By joining the ASA and MPRA both of our league champions will be eligible to play in the state slow pitch tournament in Coon Rapids August 10 and 11."

"The ASA and MPRA membership will also give our league teams an opportunity to play in ASA sanctioned tournaments this summer," Anderson added. Area ASA tournaments have been scheduled at Grand Forks, Crookston, Fergus Falls, Detroit Lakes and Fosston.

Northland Golf Team Wins State And Region Titles

Northland community college golf team returned to Thief River Falls as a double winner Tuesday as the talented Northland golfers won the prestigious MJCAA state and NJCAA region XIII golf tournaments conducted simultaneously Monday and Tuesday on the Bunker Hills golf course in Anoka.

Coach Al Adams' Northmen established a new MJCAA low score record to win the state championship, but more importantly Northland fought off a serious challenge by Austin to win the prized region crown that secured a coveted berth in the upcoming national junior college golf tournament scheduled to be held June 2-8 on the Lehigh Acres country club course near Ft. Myers, Florida.

Northalnd won the two tournament titles by posting a four-man 36-hold 629 stroke total. Austin, the tournament's early leader, finished second with a 633.

Rochester and Madison Tech of Wisconsin tied for third in the regional competition with identical 650 team scores, but Rochester edged Madison in a play-off encounter for third. Itasca placed fifth in the region meet with a 653, followed by Masabi 667, Brainerd and Willmar 684, Western Wisconsin Tech 687, Vermillion 693, Hibbing 698, North Hennepin 700, Anoka Ramsey 707, Fergus Falls 720, Worthington 738 and Metropolitan 781.

Northland individuals also captured the tournament's top two places. Northland's Jim Strandemo and Jay Moum, along with Ron Snatter of Austin, finished the regulation rounds tied for the sought-after first place medalist honor at 156. Strandemo, a freshman from Mahnomen, won the top prize on the first hole of the three-way play-off with a par effort while Moum, a sophomore from Thief River Falls, finished second with a bogie on the play-off hole. Snatter suffered through a double-bogie in the play-off to settle for third place.

Other Northland two-day individual totals found Lee Sorensen, a runner-up medalist in last year's tournament, finishing with a 158 to go along with a pair of 162's recorded by Mark Metusalem and Dick Penning.

Austin, a pre-meet favorife along with Northland and Rochester, owned a one stroke lead, 317 to 318, after Monday's first 18 holes. The Yellowjacks enjoyed a five stroke lead after 27 holes on Tuesday, but strong golfing by the Northmen on the final, nine holes reversed' the stroke-spread at the end of 36 holes of the rain hamperd meet.

Northland's 318 score Monday found Moum shooting rounds of 39-38 for a 77, Strandemo 37-42 for a 79, Metusalem 41-39 for an 80 and Sorensen 41-41 fo an 82. Penning's 83 wasn't included in Northland first day total. After firing an opening round 37 on the back nine, Penning struggled through a 46 on the next nine holes.

Northland carded a 311 Tuesday as Sorensen posted rounds of 38-38 for a 76, Strandemo 40-37 for a 77, Moum 39-40 for a 79 and Penning 41-38 for a 79. Metusalem's second day 82 on rounds of 40-42 didn't count in Northland's Tuesday effort.

PROWLER SENIOR Tim Engelstad stretched to return this shot by Grand Forks Red River's Dave Geatz during Monday's tennis meet in Thief River Falls. Geatz stretched his season long winning streak to 18 straight matches by beating Engelstad 6-2, 6-1 in the number one singles encounter to help lead the Roughriders to a 3-2 win.

Prowlers Win TRF Golf Meet

Coach Jack Boyer's Lincoln high school golf team carded an eye-catching five man 386 team stroke total Tuesday to easily win its own Thief River Falls invitational golf meet on the Thief River Falls country club golf course.

The Prowler's best effort of the season found the Thief River Falls squad finishing a comfortable 14 strokes ahead of second place Bemidji with an even 400. Roseau finished third with a 404, followed by Crookston 428, Grand Forks Central 429, Bagley 443, East Grand Forks 456 and Fosston 470.

Bill Israelson of Bemidji took home first place medalist honors with a 73. Six different golfers tied for the runner-up medalist spot with 77's. Among the golfers finishing at 77 were four Prowlers, including Mike Jury, Mike Froehle, Bruce Rested and Steve Onkka. Also posting 77's were Jack Schwartz of Bemidji, Miles Prestemoen of Bagley and Don Hedlund of Roseau.

Two other individual Prowler results found Dick Skay carding a 78 and Mike Onkka 81.

Thief River Falls will host the district 31 golf tournament Friday, beginning at 10 a.m. on the country club course.

Moorhead won the class AA portion of the meet with 99 points, followed by Alexandria 46, Willmar, 43½, Bemidji 35½ and Brainerd 5.

Crookston caputred the meet's class A crown with 64 points, followed by Glenwood 34, Fargo Shanley 28, Detroit Lakes 27, Breckenridge 21½, Thief River Falls 21, West Fargo 15, Wapheton 13, East Grand Forks 11, Aitkin 10, Perham 8, Frazee 5, Ada 4½ and Pelican Rapids 0.

Verndale edged Barnesville 40-34 to win the 18 team class B Otter title.

The Prowlers netted five second place finishes during the meet, including Tony Dorn with a 148-0 toss in the discus; Jerry Sandahl 20.3 in the 180 yard low hurdles; Brian Phelps 4:41.3 in the mile run; the 880 relay team of Greg McEwen, Tom Barry, Jeff Houfek and Jim Carlson in 1:34.4; and the mile medley relay team of Sandahl, Carlson, Houfek and Jeff Johnson in 3:49.1.

All three relay teams turned in their best times of the season.

Thief River Falls will be back in action Saturday when the Prowlers host Bemidji in a dual meet starting at 10 a.m. The meet will feature competition from grades six through twelve.

The annual Thief River Falls junior high school invitational meet will be held tomorrow (Thursday). A total of 14 junior high schools teams of sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth graders will compete in the meet scheduled to start at 4:30 p.m.

LHS Netmen End Dual Meet Play With 7-8 Record

Thief River Falls' Keith Breiland decisioned Dan Smith 6-2, 6-4 in the second singles, but Red River's Mark Waller topped Bill LaValley 6-4, 7-5 in the third singles.

Prowler teammates Scott Engelstad and Brian Waale surprised Red River's talented first doubles team of Dan Dalan and Kevin Wennersten 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, but the Roughriders won the decisive second doubles encounter as Joe Wholfeil and Kirby Schock stopped Terry Sullivan and Gary Laidley 1-6, 7-6, 6-3.

Prowlers Lose 7-6; Win 19-4 Vs. Eagles

Lincoln high school baseball team completed its 1974 regular season schedule Tuesday by splitting an important district 31 double-header against Red Lake Falls on the Eagles' home field.

Red Lake Falls pulled out a successful seventh inning rally to win the first game in dramatic fashion 7-6, but the Prowlers rolled to an easy 19-4 second game win, supplying Thief River Falls with a final 4-7 regular season record.

District 31 baseball play-off pairings will be determined tonight (Wednesday) at a coaches' meeting in Warren.

A looping two out, two strike single by Jeff Hofius drove in the tying and winning runs in the last of seventh inning to give Red Lake Falls a comeback 7-6 first game win.

Trailing 6-3 entering the final half inning, the Eagles jumped on Thief River Falls righthander Randy Dallmann for four runs on three base hits, two walks, an error and a hit batsman to pull out the unlikely victory.

An error permitted the first Red Lake Falls batter to reach base in the seventh. After a pop-out to second, Dallmann hit a batter, a mistake that was quickly followed by a run producing double by Dennis Torfinson. A second runner was cut down at the plate on the play, though, to leave the Prowlers with a still seemingly comfortable 6-4 edge with two outs and only one runner on base.

The scrappy Eagles persisted, however, as Dallmann, who was effective throughout the first six innings, issued a walk and then gave up a full-count single to Tim Schmitz for a 6-6 ball game. Another walk loaded the bases before Hofius lofted a long fly ball to the gap in right-centerfield that just eluded a diving catch attempt by Prowler centerfielder Jeff Lindquist.

Thief River Falls out-hit Red Lake Falls 10-6, but the Prowlers also owned an unwanted 6-5 edge in errors.

The two teams had traded second inning runs for an early 2-2 stand-off. Duane Gonsorowski smacked a hard double to deep center to start the Prowler half of the second. A single up the middle by Tim Erickson drove in the first run of the game, with Erickson later scoring on a long single to right by Cliff Shumway. Red Lake Falls tied the game in the last of the second on an infield base hit to short, an error, a bloop single behind first for one run and another error for a second run.

Thief River Falls squandered away numberous scoring opportunities until the Prowlers scored four runs in the sixth to take a 6-2 lead. Shumway followed a Red Lake Falls error with a run scoring single over second to start the Prowler sixth inning scoring. A single by Lindquist, a sacrifice fly by Chris Biegner and a hard bouncing single past third by Dallmann pushed two more runs across the plate. Duane Dicken stroked a sharp single up the middle for another run and a 6-2 cushion.

Red Lake Falls scored once in the bottom of the sixth on a bases loaded infield base hit to deep short.

Thief River Falls snapped the frustration of the demoralizing first game loss by scoring five quick runs in the first inning of the second game won by the Prowlers 19-4 in five innings.

Red Lake Falls scored twice in the bottom of the first, but the Thief River Falls runs continued to cross the plate with regularity as the Prowlers led 8-3 after two innings, 11-4 in the third, 16-4 in the fourth and finally 19-4.

Biegner led a 10 hit Thief River Falls offense with a three for four performance at the plate, but the Prowler offense was supplemented by an unreal 17 walks; an offense helper exemplified by Dicken who was credited with three RBI's on three bases loaded walks.

Prowler righthander Joel Folger benefited from the Prowler offense while pitching a nifty three hitter.

The 1974 district 31 high school baseball play-off pairings will be drawn up tonight during a district coaches' meeting at Warren.

Thief River Falls winner of the Northern Prairie indoor conference meet earlier this spring, ranks as a slight favorite to win the girl's track meet title, although the host Crookston squad is expected to offer a serious challenge for the district crown.

Crookston, the defending champion, is a heavy favorite to win Thursday's district 31 team title by out-dueling challengers Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks.

"We recognize that Crookston is the favorite, but we're sure going to try to win it," commented Prowler tennis coach Whitey Olson. Crookston posted a pair of close 3-2 decisions over Thief River Falls during the 1974 dual meet season schedule.

Friday's individual district tennis competition shapes up to be a wide open affair, pointed out Olson, with Crookston ace Brent Reichert figured to be the only shoo-in for the number one singles title. "The only person that can't be beaten is Reichert," said Olson, "everyone else in the district can be beaten."

Six teams are scheduled to compete in Friday's district 31 golf tournament, including host Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Warren, Red Lake Falls and Oslo.

The defending champion Prowlers are favored to win the golf title again this spring. "We should win it," stated Thief River Falls golf coach Jack Boyer, who did offer a bit of caution though, by adding, "But you never know for sure."

Boyer pointed to Arnie Kelfenheim of Red Lake Falls and Len Gumila of Crookston as the top medalist prospects, but quickly adding, "anyone of my kids are capable of playing strong golf, they all shoot well."

Applications for membership to the Minnesota state high school league by 34 non-public high schools were approved by the League board of directors at their regular meeting on Thurs. May 16. Membership of these new schools will become effective with the opening of the 1974-75 school year.

Lindbergh To Participate In Gov. Conference

Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., world-renowned aviator turned conservationist, will make a rare public appearance as a participant in an "Issues of Man" seminar at the Midwestern Governor's conference in Minneapolis July 28-31, Bruce G. Schwartz, chairman of the conference host committee, announced recently.

Schwartz said others who have accepted invitations to take part in the seminar include agricultural scientist Norman E. Borlaug, winner of the 1970 Nobel Peace Prize, and journalist Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times.

Lindbergh, 72, a native of Little Falls, now living in Darien, Conn., won international fame 47 years ago when he landed his single-engine monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," near Paris after flying the Atlantic Ocean alone. He was the first man to accomplish that feat.

His last appearance in Minnesota was last fall at the dedication of the Lindbergh House and Interpretive Center in Little Falls. In recent years Lindbergh has devoted himself to conservation causes, particularly the preservation of wildlife. His infrequent public appearances are always in connection with these concerns on which he also has written extensively.

Schwartz said conference business sessions will focus on food and fiber shortages and the energy crisis. The IDS Center in downtown Minneapolis will serve as the conference headquarters. Nebraska Gov. J. James Exon will be conference chairman.

The four-day conference will open with a reception and dinner Sunday night, July 28. Several field trips in the Twin Cities area are planned for the visiting governors and members of their parties.

Stock Farmers Show Only Small Gain On Sales

One thin dime per pound is all that Minnesota livestock farmers gained on the average for total 1973 marketings of red meat animals—cattle, calves, hogs, pigs, sheep and lambs, says agricultural commissioner Jon Wefald.

Some consumers looking at high retail meat prices during the past year may find that hard to believe. But agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald said the figure is official, documented by state-federal crop and livestock reporting service statistics on 1972 and 1973 farm production, disposition and income from meat animals.

Minnesota farmers marketed a grand total of 3,231,385,000 pounds of these animals on the hoof last year, and gained estimated cash receipts of $1,247,186,000. Comparable figures for 1972 are 3,212,302,000 pounds marketed live weight, and $919,120,000 cash receipts. Poundage was up .6 per cent and gross receipts up 37.7 per cent for 1973.

Commissioner Wefald said that applying simple mathematics, the results show that Minnesota farmers averaged 38.6 cents per pound for their animals sold in 1973, just a dime above the 1972 average of 28.6 cents.

Hogs and pigs actually averaged better prices than cattle and calves in 1973. Minnesota marketings of hogs and pigs last year totaled 1,280,705,000 pounds, grossing $496,914,000 in cash receipts, or an average of 38.8 cents per pound live weight. The 1972 average per pound was 25.1 cents.

Minnesota cattle and calf marketings last year grossed 1,914,425,000 pounds and brought cash receipts of $738,924,000 or 38.6 cents per pound. The 1972 price average was 30.9 cents.

Sheep and lamb marketings in 1973 totaled 36,255,000 pounds and gross receipts were $11,348,000, or an average of 31.3 cents per pound, compared to 26.7 cents in 1972.

Farm families are consumers, too, and in Minnesota last year their meat bill—the value of farm raised animals kept for home consumption—was a record $26,663,000, an increase of 34 per cent over the value of farm meat consumption in 1972. That represented an average of $226 meat cost for each of Minnesota's 118,000 farm families, $57 more than the 1972 average.

Applications For Summer Youth Jobs Accepted

Applications are now being accepted from residents in Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties for summer youth employment, according to the Thief River Falls employment service office.

College students who have not reached their 22nd birthday are invited to make application. Blanks are available at all schools, county social service offices, OEO offices at Badger and Oklee and the employment service office in Thief River Falls.

In addition to college students, other youths between the ages of 16 and 21 who had not applied during the April recruitment should also make application at this time. Individuals employed will receive $2 per hour and work 30 hours a week for about a 10-week period. Jobs are expected to start on June 3. Priority will be given to youth from low income families.

How DOES your garden grow?

The mystery of life and growth was one our daughter took for granted . . . until last summer when she "adopted" a flower bed all her own. Then she began to ask what makes her garden grow.

I once had a course in botany; I thought I knew all the answers. But none of them seemed to register with Mary.

So my wife took over the answering department. God makes things grow! That made much more sense to Mary.

Is it, after all, a contradiction of science to admit that we live in a world full of mysteries . . . mysteries that happen before our very eyes . . . mysteries that reveal the wondrous mind of the creator?

At graduation time, we fully realize that our sons and daughters need a spiritual foundation for all other knowledge. They will find it in the Church.

Adolescent Respect Cited By 'U' Prof

by Elizabeth Petrangelo
U of M news services

Adolescents are ready for responsibility earlier now than ever before and should be respected by adults, according to University of Minnesota social work professor Gisela Konopka.

Konopka, director of the University's center for youth development and research, stressed the importance of respect for young people to a group of social workers at a recent conference on child welfare.

"As adults, we get rewards," she said. "People listen to us when we talk, we're allowed to participate when we want to, we are usually paid enough for our labor. Adolescence is a period where these rewards are simply not available."

Young people are often viewed in a number of ways, she said: as being cute, annoying, in transition or the "hope of the future." None of these views are realistic, she said.

"Not all adolescents are the same," she said. "They are individuals. Adolescents are people and should be taken seriously."

A common problem when dealing with a particular group is the tendency to stereotype, Konopka said. "I favor the idea that all people are in some respects like all other people, that all people are in some respects like some other people, and that all other people are in some respects like no other people."

A well-known social work researcher, Konopka said she has noticed a worldwide trend among young people in the past eight years. "There is a new sense of self-assertion," she said. "That they are important people and no longer see themselves as the property of others.

"I don't think it's by accident that we have the drive for the 18-year-old vote in this country now," she said. "They're ready earlier now than ever before. But not only do they say they want to be heard, many say they want to accept responsibility too."

Konopka expressed her concern that the current feeling in the United States toward youth is a negative one. "This society is becoming anti-youth," she said. "We can't see the beauty anymore, we only see the threat."

The negative view of youth is apparent in the conflict between discipline and control, she said. "we have too long looked at the whole bit between young and old as a struggle for power.

"Always I get the question 'How do we control them' not 'How do we work with them,'" she said. "Naturally adults are there to provide continuity. But it shouldn't come from one side alone."

Konopka described discipline as the "business of allowing potential, of instilling in young people the capacity to say 'I can.' Control you get by whipping them down."

Parents should not be afriad to let their children see that they have feelings, she said. Young people can respect honest feeling. "In my thinking, too many adults present to children the image that they are never hurt, that they are immovable," she said.
